Open Season Began Yesterday, and Found Thousands of Gunners at Work.

FINE SPORT REPORTED.

Results of Protection Afforded by the Game Laws Delight the Sportsmen.

The New Jersey open season for hunting began yesterday, and from almost every city, town and hamlet the gunners set forth at dawn with their dogs, and the woods that have been so long silent, save for the song of bird and chatter of squirrel, resounded with the report of guns.

In the Passaic Valley. The opening of the game season in the wooded land on the Watchung Mountains and in the Passaic Valley, which has heretofore been counted as one of the best hunting preserves in New Jersey, was not unpropitious.

Protection's Good Results. During the past summer the officers of the Union, Somerset and Middlesex Counties Game Propagating and Protective Society worked continually among the farmers within a radius of fifteen miles and secured the best of results.

Capital sport was enjoyed in the country about Atlantic City. Men and boys descended upon the village near the beach and scoured the woods, where they found the right enforcement of the game laws.

Hundreds of sportsmen were at work near Egg Harbor City. They came from Philadelphia and elsewhere by nearly every train. Over 1000 rabbits and a double that number of quail were bagged.

Sport at Egg Harbor. In Monmouth County a general carnage of rabbits and quail was in order. Butcher, hunter and collector were everywhere.

Home-made pies in court. Joseph Anderson wants William Wagner restrained from using a certain name. Before Vice-Chancellor Stevens, in Newark, N. J., today, arguments will be heard on an application made by Joseph Anderson, of Jersey City, for an injunction restraining Wagner & Robinson from using a certain title for pies, which he declares he bought from William Wagner six years ago for $10,000.

Oritanis' Annual Dinner. Two Hundred Members Enjoy a Sumptuous Repast and Clever Speeches. The Oratani Club, of Hackensack, N. J., last evening celebrated its tenth anniversary. About two hundred of its members sat down to a sumptuous dinner in Oratani Hall, which is a beautiful building.

Water Plans Will Be Amended. Mayor Hoos, of Jersey City, in commenting upon the water specifications, which are now before him for approval, said yesterday he believed they will be amended before they become operative. He favors several changes, the most important of which are: to increase the water supply from the Passaic River to the Hudson River; to increase the water supply from the Passaic River to the Hudson River; to increase the water supply from the Passaic River to the Hudson River.

SEWELL WOULD PRESIDE OVER THE SENATE.

Union County Leader May Not Preside Over the Senate.

HAS MAJORITY PLEDGED.

Hobart and Griggs May Help Him Against the Angry Camden Warrior

It has developed during the past few days that a fierce fight is likely to occur over the organization of the new New Jersey Senate. Senator Foster M. Voorhees, of Union County, who was the Republican leader on the floor of the Senate last year, and who is in line for the Presidency by virtue of seniority, as well as party service, is going to be opposed by the Sewell wing of the party, and that means a bitter and interesting contest.

As soon as the smoke of the late political fight had cleared, the friends of the young Senator from Union County began advancing his claims for the highest office in the State. As a matter of fact, it has been known for some time that the majority of the Republican Senators are under pledge since last year to make him president. The existence of this compact was unknown to Senator Sewell until within the past week.

The Republican Senators who have pledged themselves to Voorhees will now have to vote for the Senate. As a matter of fact, it remains an open question whether they will be able to withstand the pressure he will be able to bring upon them. Voorhees has the support of the majority of the party, and he has the support of the majority of the party.

Several times Voorhees has attempted to get up a coalition with Sewell. Last year he succeeded in defeating the Sewell scheme for biennial sessions of the Legislature. Sewell paid him back for that by forcing the adjournment of the Legislature in order to shut off the Union Statesmen.

It now remains to be seen whether Sewell has the power to administer another rebuff to Voorhees by forcing the party to withdraw the pledges they have made. It is just possible that the elements of the party will fight in favor of Voorhees, and that is the influence of the Hobart-Griggs forces allied in the fight against John Keen's candidacy for United States Senator. Voorhees, being an anti-Keen man, will naturally command the support of the Vice-President and the majority of the party.

"MUSTANG DICK'S" MISTAKE. Hackensack Thief Falls into a Trap Set by His Unsuccessful Prosecutor. Edward Levenson, alias "Mustang Dick," burglar, horse and sneak thief, who has spent the greater part of the past four years in the Hackensack jail, was tried at Hackensack, Tuesday, for stealing $10 from James Starkey, hostler at the Hackensack House. The evidence was circumstantial and Levenson was acquitted.

ROUTERS COLLEGE IS 191 YEARS OLD.

Anniversary Celebrated Yesterday in Kirkpatrick Chapel.

The one hundred and thirty-first anniversary of Rutgers College, of New Brunswick, N. J., was celebrated yesterday with fitting ceremonies in Kirkpatrick Chapel, which was crowded with trustees, alumni, undergraduates and members of the college faculty. The orators were all sons of Rutgers. Pictures of former graduates of the college adorned the walls.

The Rev. Dr. P. T. Poekman, pastor of the First Reformed Church of New Brunswick, delivered the invocation. The opening address was delivered by Dr. Austin Scott, president of the college, who spoke of the sadness that always accompanies a birthday celebration because of the care and sorrow of the future.

ROENTGEN RAYS USED IN COURT.

A Plaintiff Subjected to an X-Ray Examination Before a Jury.

SUIT OVER A BROKEN ARM. Defendant, a Trolley Company, Claims the Arm is Not Broken at All.

Brilliant X-rays were flashed before the eyes of the jurors in Part I of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, and for the first time in the history of the law the fluoroscope was brought into court to furnish testimony in a lawsuit.

In fact, the Roentgen rays are playing a most important part all through the suit brought by the parents of nine-year-old Martin Hutchinson against the Atlantic Avenue Railroad Company for $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained through the negligence of an employe of that corporation.

To begin with, the plaintiffs based their suit upon the testimony of X-ray photographs, which they claim, prove fractures of the boy's arm and shoulder. Then the photographs of little Tommy Madden, taken for the Journal, were introduced to take the place of the ordinary sketches in showing the anatomy of a boy of about the same age as the plaintiff.

Lawyer Darmstadt Discharged. Justice Ash, of Richmond Hill, has discharged Anthony Darmstadt, the lawyer who was accused by his wife of assault. Mr. Darmstadt and his wife have both announced their intention of bringing counter-suits for divorce against each other and for the recovery of two children.

NO DEBT TO THE NEW CATHEDRAL.

Bishop Wigger Says Newark's Sacred Edifice Must Be Built with Cash.

"There will be no debt on the proposed new cathedral, at least so long as I live, for I am opposed to debt, and the older I get the more I fear it," said Right Rev. Bishop Wigger, of the diocese of Newark, N. J., at a meeting held in Institute Hall, that city, yesterday afternoon for the purpose of taking steps toward raising funds for the erection of the proposed $1,000,000 cathedral.

As an earnest of his remarks the Bishop said that he would contribute $1,000 a year of his salary for ten years, or $10,000 in all. As the Bishop's salary is only $2,500 a year, this noble offer brought forth loud applause.

Bishop Wigger presided at the meeting, and Rev. Father Wallace, Chancellor of the diocese, acted as secretary. The Bishop, in opening the meeting, said the parish priests throughout the diocese had agreed to give $100 a year each out of their incomes for ten years, or $1,000 each in all, and the curates $90 a year each for ten years. This would make a total of $1,000,000 for the cathedral.

When the laugh had subsided John Donahue, Bishop Wigger's secretary, said he would contribute the example of the sea captain by giving $1,000, in payments of $100 per year for ten years, or $1,000 in all. He followed with similar subscription and so did John C. Cone, of Jersey City. Others present subscribed amounts ranging from $50 to $200 per year for ten years and together about $7,000 was subscribed outside of the Bishop's contribution.

Sexton Sides with Pastor. Lets Rev. P. S. Gibson Into Mt. Olive Baptist Church, Plainfield. The efforts of the Board of Trustees of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, at Plainfield, N. J., to prevent Rev. P. S. Gibson using the edifice, were frustrated Tuesday night by the friendship of the sexton for the deposed pastor. The trustees had a demand for the keys, but the sexton refused to turn them over, and instead, opened up the church for the use of Rev. Mr. Gibson and his friend, Rev. William Hill, of Newark.

SUED FOR ALIENATING THE AFFECTIONS OF ANOTHER'S COMMON LAW WIFE.

Law Hits Him Either Way.

LAW HITS HIM EITHER WAY.

He Recently Won a Divorce Suit on the Ground That Common Law Marriage Holds.

Papers in a case without precedent, but which will serve to thoroughly explain one phase of the marriage laws of New Jersey, are being prepared by Lawyer E. K. Segue, of Jersey City, and the hearing has been set down for next week before Supreme Court Justice Lippincott.

The suit is that of Christian Kaiser, formerly a member of the Jersey City Police Department, who demands $5,000 damages from Policeman William Stevens, of the First Precinct, for alienating the affections of his common law wife, Catherine Couch. Kaiser insists his right to sue on a decision relative to common law marriages recently rendered by Vice-Chancellor Pitney in favor of the man whom Kaiser now intends to sue.

Stevens, five years ago, married Mary, the common-law wife of John Watts, an employe of the Jersey City Street and Water Board, the woman claiming to have been divorced from Watts before her marriage to Stevens. For a time the couple lived happily. Then Stevens was recalled to work at about six months ago Stevens brought suit in chancery to have the marriage annulled, that at the time he had married the woman she was the wife of Watts.

Stevens' defense was that while she had lived with Watts as his wife, no marriage ceremony had ever been performed, and she was, therefore, not legally his wife. Vice-Chancellor Pitney decided that common law marriages are as binding as any other marriages, and that Stevens is entitled to a decree annulling his marriage to the former Mrs. Watts.

Stevens had only been a free man about a week when he was called to court by Lawyer Segue, taking the Stevens-Watts case as a precedent, decided to proceed against Stevens, who was a pastor and a member of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association. Stevens is in a dilemma. If the woman's common law marriage holds good, Kaiser can prevent Stevens from marrying his wife; if the common law marriage is reversed, Mrs. Watts can again claim Stevens as her husband.
