KLONDIKERS HOME WITH A MILLION.

Twenty-eight Adventurers Fighting Dominion Return on the City of Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 28.—Three millions in dust received and stored and twenty millions more, the result of the Winter's work and to come out next Spring, are the Klondike discovery estimates of W. C. Gates, better known as "Swiftwater Bill," one of the Dawson City passengers on the steamer City of Seattle, which arrived from Alaska today.

MISSING CAMPS BETTER OFF.

There is greater distress in Dawson than in the mining camps proper. As a rule, the miners have enough to provide scant rations for the winter.

Thursday Will Probably See the Close of the Thorn Trial.

TWO DAYS FOR ARGUMENT.

Thorn Declares He Prefers Conviction Rather Than Have It a Mistrial.

THIS THE LAST "WOMAN'S DAY."

When the Addresses to the Jury Begin They Will Be Excluded from the Court Room at the Request of Mr. Youngs and Mr. Howe.

After a two days' recess the Thorn trial will go on this morning. The prisoner will probably take the stand in his own defense as soon as court is convened at 9:30 o'clock.

"There'll be few witnesses but myself," Thorn said yesterday. "I can't tell how the trial will end, but I had rather be convicted than to have it end in a mistrial."

"I have no fear of the outcome," said Lawyer Howe. "If the prosecution fails to put Mrs. Neck on the witness stand the community will rise up against them."

"It is not now our intention to introduce Mrs. Neck as a witness," said District Attorney Youngs, "unless we find it necessary to use her in rebuttal. That may or may not be the case. This far there is nothing to indicate that it will be necessary."

It is safe to predict from these statements that all of the evidence will be in before the close of the afternoon session today.

To-day will be the last on which women will be allowed to enter the court-room. Before the arguments are begun both District Attorney Youngs and Mr. Howe will insist that all women be excluded from the trial room.

Both Mrs. Neck and Thorn spent an uneventful day in the Queens County Jail yesterday, receiving no visitors except Dr. Miles, and saying little that had any bearing upon their cases.

CONFESSION AFTER THE BABY'S STORY

Chicago's Police Find That His Mother Really Was Slain.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Little three-year-old Chris Merry spoke the truth when he said that his father had killed his mother.

The body was only partly clothed and was covered with bruises. Four hours from the time of Hickey's confession the corpse was in the morgue and had been identified by several of the woman's relatives.

Hickey, who was arrested on Friday, stoutly denied that he knew anything about the murder or the whereabouts of Merry until the police, who had been "sweating" Cotworthy Gough, Merry's uncle, led him weeping past Hickey and caused the latter to think Gough had confessed. Gough, however, is innocent of all complicity.

Hickey then broke down, and told where the body was. He accompanied four policemen in a patrol wagon to a desolate spot at Western avenue and Eighty-seventh street, and a few minutes' work with a shovel revealed the body buried in a ditch by the roadside.

Hickey's confession has not been made public by the police yet, but it is known that he told how Merry, who had just been fined $50 for wife beating, returned home to make good his threat of killing his wife which he made in the court room.

He told further how Merry, in his presence, choked and beat his wife to death, and how he and Merry tied the corpse in a sack and drove it into a wagon load of potatoes, throwing it to the spot on Western avenue in the gray dawn and their buried it.

Hickey is an ex-convict, with a bad record, and he probably would have remained in jail had he not been tricked by the police. The latter claim to have gained from him a clue to the whereabouts of the murderer, but at a late hour Merry was still in custody.

Hickey is a successful peddler, but has a bad record for wife beating and drunkenness.

LABOR TO AID IN FOUR TRACK FIGHT.

Prompt Action on the Appeal of the West Side Citizens' Association.

Dr. Marion S. Miller, of the West Side Citizens' Association, made a strong appeal to the Central Labor Union yesterday to co-operate with the association in its fight against the four-track system in Amsterdam avenue.

"This plan," said Dr. Miller, "if carried out, would not only cause great complications with regard to the underground water pipes, but would constitute a terrible menace to public safety. There are some of the largest public schools in the city in this neighborhood, besides homes for the aged and the blind. With four trolley tracks in operation the danger to the children and the inmates of these homes would be terrible, independent of the constant risk to all classes of citizens."

He strongly urged the Central Labor Union to send a committee to the hearing on the subject, which will be held on Wednesday before the Railroad Committee of the Board of Aldermen, and protest against the four-track system. If the two competing railroad companies could not come to an understanding as to the use of the tracks now in operation, he said, the lives and limbs of the public should not be endangered.

The Central Labor Union has divided as to whether the four-track system should be approved or not. Delegate Brown, of the Carriers' Union No. 144, said that if the four-track system were allowed it would mean more work for idle men.

"If the schools on the West Side are crowded," he added, "let them build more schools on the East Side. What we want is work for the idle men, and there is no use in exaggerating danger. Look at the crowded condition of the sections of the East Side, where the car tracks are thickest."

Delegate Armstrong, of the Electrical Workers' Union, was in favor of the Central Labor Union making as strong a protest as possible against the four-track plan.

A long discussion followed, the question being public safety versus more work for the unemployed. It ended in the matter being turned over to the Law and Legislation Committee of the Central Labor Union with no further instructions than to attend the hearing and be guided by its own ideas.
