

BOY CARSWAN'S FATAL RACE.

Dies from Operation for Appendicitis Brought on by Over-Exertion.

COMPANIONS ALSO ILL.

Members of the Worcester High School Crew Suffer from Training.

ROWED IN THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Senior Eight-Oared Race at Philadelphia Last Week Was a Hard One, and the Schoolboys Were Defeated.

Worcester, Mass., July 28.—The Worcester High School crew, which was defeated in the senior eight-oared race at the National Regatta Philadelphia last week, arrived home Tuesday morning, several of its members suffering from training and over-exertion.

James Haradon, who rowed No. 5 in the crew, was hardly able to reach home, and an examination by surgeons showed he was suffering from appendicitis, an operation was performed Wednesday afternoon and he died early this morning.

Johnson, who rowed No. 7, has been confined to the house by illness since his arrival, and Daly, at No. 6, is suffering from a strained back. Perry, at No. 3, required the attention of a doctor on the way home, but is now better.

It is said that Haradon's appendicitis was caused by an injury caused by jumping over a railway gate after the race, but there is a general belief here that his excessive strain of the race. Haradon was sixteen years old, a member of the crew of 1900 of the High School. He was the only child of his father, who is an engineer in the Worcester Fire Department.

MICHAEL DIDN'T RACE TITUS.

Thought the Rain Would Postpone the Contest at Baltimore and Left for New York.

Baltimore, July 28.—The superiority of Jimmie Michael or Fred Titus as a rapid bicyclist may not be determined until the third week in August. The men were matched to meet at the Colosseum in this city in a 15-mile paced race last Tuesday night, but rain intervened and the event was postponed until this evening.

During the day there were several heavy showers, and the skies cleared by 4 o'clock and the track was in perfect condition to-night.

Both men have intervening dates at other places and will not be able to meet for three weeks more.

St. Cloud H. Runs Third.

London, July 28.—At the third day's racing of the Goodwood 1898 meeting to-day, Lord Penryn's three-year-old bay colt King's Messenger won the Goodwood Cup of 800 sovs. for three miles and upward. Five horses ran over the course, two miles and a half, and Mr. James H. Keene's St. Cloud H. finished third.

Casey Is in the Ring Again.

Buty Casey, who has been out of the ring for five years, has decided to embark in pugilism again. He challenges Tommy West, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy or any man in the middle-weight or heavy-weight class for a finish fight, or for a limited round contest, for any fair and suitable purse that may be offered, subject to the usual conditions in two rounds or forfeit the purse.

Australian Swimmer Arrives.

San Francisco, July 28.—Sid Cavill, one of the famous swimming family of that name, has arrived from Australia. He is the professional champion of Australia at short distances.

Pillsbury Evens Things.

Vicenna, July 28.—To-day the second game of the chess match to decide the tie between Pillsbury and Tarrasch was played at the local chess club, and Pillsbury won. Each player has now won a game.

Corbett Took the Wind Out of Mr. Benjamin's Whiskers.

ONE large crop of white whiskers, of that style known as the lace curtain, and Jim Corbett, face breaker, are rival attractions at Asbury Park, N. J., these days. At present the whiskers are one up ahead, but Jim still enjoys his share of popular esteem, and is winning more by parting his hair in the middle.

For years those whiskers, swept by ocean breezes, have formed the leading attraction at Allenhurst and Asbury Park. They are genuine New Jersey whiskers, free from dye and curdle burs. People come miles to see Mr. Benjamin's lace curtain, and he always walked against the wind to make the bunch look bigger. Little children stopped burrowing in the sand to gaze upon the hirsute wonder, and old ladies sighed and said, "Oh, what lovely whiskers!"

Jim and his friends were at first puzzled by the conduct of Mr. Benjamin. With the aid of detectives they claim to have discovered that Benjamin's whiskers are to blame for the humiliation of Corbett. He had won the admiration heretofore bestowed upon the whiskers, which was more than Benjamin could endure.

Then came Corbett, and immediately the tickle populace rallied to the new idol, "Gentleman Jim" was "it." The whiskers no longer thrilled, and Mr. Benjamin grew sad and lonely. Ladies, young and old, admired the nice looking, muscular young man in the plaid cap, and said that pugilists were not such horrid creatures after all. The children, too, grew fond of Jim, and the whiskers were left to pine alone.

St. Louis, July 28.—Joyce had counted on four straight, but Louisville kept its good work, having won eight successive games and nine of the last ten. Rusie was relied upon to do the work, but he fell down. He was hit hard in two innings, and his bases on balls, or at least two of them, were costly.

Quantigham pitched steady ball, though a hit followed Ritchey's error in the first.

St. Louis, July 28.—The Boston team to-day's game by bunching their hits in the fourth and ninth innings, Hughes' witness gave them two runs in the first inning. Score: BOSTON, 2; ST. LOUIS, 0.

WRETCHED HORSES RACE IN THE MUD.

Twenty-six Starters in the Six Contests at Brighton Beach.

By Francis Trevelyan.

"Water, water everywhere and only race track whiskey to drink" is about the best description of affairs at Brighton Beach yesterday. There was water on the track, in the infield, and lots more of it in the air and in the neighboring ocean.

Six races and twenty-six starters in them; two winning favorites, two winning second choices and two winning outsiders constituted the bill of fare. There was a bigger crowd than the occasion demanded, and goodness knows that is not saying much. Such "sport" save the mark—is a weariness of the body and mind. Four was the regulation number of mudlarks in each race, but the water, with its multitudinous money of $750 added, tempted out two more.

The stake was the Splasher, for two-year-olds, and afforded the only really interesting race of the day. On paper it looked like a walkover, but that oft-quoted "glorious uncertainty" which is the rule of the game, was its kaleidoscopic and exciting finish as was ever seen on a race course.

Mr. J. W. Colt seemed to have a mortgage on the event with both a program and Whiplash eligible. The former he scratched, leaving his colors to be carried by Whiplash, and the latter he scratched, leaving his colors to be carried by Splasher.

It was not till the last sixteenth that the favorite was beaten, and Fast Black won only by a neck. Florence Breckenridge going fastest on the end. The first is a dream of gallant old Firenze, by Goldnick, which looks as if this great mare, if mated with some other horse than her old partner, would produce a grandly good winner. Oddly enough, the winner, Fast Black, is by the imported horse Watercress, who also sired P. J. Dwyer's Marchelead, the winner of yesterday's Congress Hall Stakes at Saratoga. Whiplash presumably does not like six furlongs, though there was a lot of excuse to be made for that before his victory. He carried and the bad day was his.

As for the rest of the racing, there is not much that need be said. Sensational won over again for Bill Daly in the handicap, which had been made before his victory on Wednesday, but he was lucky not to be disqualified. There was a jostle on the first turn that resulted in Hanwell being thrown down. He knew that the stakes were his, but he was not to be so lucky. He rode Continental, up over the matter, but dismissed Garrigan's claim. They were on the wrong track apparently. O'Connor got up on the inside, and Bill Daly's other jockey, Hothersall, closing in with Lady Marian on the outside, drove Continental against Hanwell, with the result already mentioned. Sheephead was suspended one day for reckless riding.

Maher and O'Connor almost divided the card between them. Tatal managed to secure crackles on King T. in the last race, in which neither of these lightweights has a mount. O'Connor won with Her Own and Sensational, while St. Clair, Taboret and Golden Reel, but her hind leg in a hole on the backstretch at Sheephead's victory, falling, broke it. She had to be shot at once.

Her Own, after winning the first race, was bid up $205 over her entered price of $500 by J. L. Holland. Mr. Holland believed that Bill Daly was back of Garrison's recent bid on Continental.

There is no chance of a match between Orman and Hamburg at Saratoga. Mr. Marcus Daly has no idea of sending any of his horses to the Spa, and if a meeting between these horses should take place it would be at Brighton Beach.

STORM BREAKS UP SPORT.

James Butler, the New Yorker, Wins a Pot of Money on Directum Kelly.

By G. A. McGully.

Cleveland, July 28.—This was society day at the Grand Circuit meeting and the swag set made the scene quite the most brilliant of the week. The smothering heat seemed to have little effect on the attendance, but about 4 o'clock the clouds blew over from Lake Erie and a tremendous thunder storm played havoc with the sport that was going along so smoothly.

Searchlight's great run on Monday made the champion of the four-year-olds a draw. He had done up Lena N., another Californian, when the fun began here, and had his neighbor, Chehalis, as the dangerous factor in his second engagement. Before the first heat it was 5 to 3 on the peerless colt, but Chehalis gave him so good an argument that the field tickets were more valuable.

In this mile Sally Toler out on the pace, going to the quarter in 31 3/4 seconds, the field only managed to keep in the race. The humble cracks from the Pacific slope increased the clip as they brushed home, and the Iowa mare was overhauled half way down the stretch.

As they passed Sally, and as Chehalis stuck like wax, it required some vigorous whipping to keep Searchlight in front. He responded gamely to the punishment and had half a length leeway at the wire. Taking Monday's task into consideration, the field buyers decided that the colt could not last now, and paid $70 cheerfully as long as anyone would give $100 for the favorite before the second heat.

On his splendid form across the lake last week, when he won the $10,000 purse, the 2:23 trot to-day. It was 10 to 4 on the speedy brown colt before the start, and he was particularly anxious to keep in the race with him. First Joe Thayer tried with Belle M., and a mile in 2:13 3/4 disposed of the Kentucky mare. Then George moved up in the second heat with True Chimes, and the only result was more speed from the

THEY'LL FIGHT AT SHEEKTOWAGA.

Battle Ground for the Corbett-McCoy "Go" is Selected.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 28.—The directors of the Hawthorne Athletic Club have accomplished something. Manager Charles Whelton has leased ten acres of land at Sheektowaga, just over the city line of Buffalo.

On this site the arena for the match between Jim Corbett and Kid McCoy is to be erected. It is a desirable location, easily reached from the city, handy to most of the transportation lines, and remote enough not to cause opposition from hostile neighbors.

The building proper will cover a plot of ground 220 feet square. The ring will be pitched in the center, and a special arrangement will be made to provide for the taking of vertigoe plates. It will not be a particularly ornate structure, but it will be in gingerbread adornments will be built to give every spectator a good view of the pugilists.

The remainder of the ground area will be devoted to picnic and amusements as usual to accompany the big circus. Sports with an alcoholic thirst will have to put their hands on the ground. One who has decided not to allow the sale of intoxicating liquor anywhere on the premises. For the Corbett-McCoy scrap the roof will be left off the structure. Later on it will be covered with some idea of holding other matches within.

The sides of the immense pen will be of corrugated iron, and will extend about twelve feet from the ground. Under the roof spruce over the structure, it will be built on the cantilever plan. The arena will resemble largely a huge circus tent.

Two thousand seats will be provided, with a possibility of five hundred more if some of the corners can be utilized to advantage. Around the ring there will be five rows of boxes for those who sport eighteen carat diamonds in their shirt fronts, smoke ten-cent cigars, wear large gold watch chains and speak broad base dialect. Two thousand persons can be accommodated in the boxes.

Behind and above them there will be five rows of reserved chairs for the less expert, and such as steal slyly away from home and do not want to be recognized. No extra charge will be demanded when they sit themselves seated by their friends and employers.

Still further behind are 5,000 bleacher seats, to retain as strictly as when the bleachers were erected, at the risk of going without a square meal in ten days, will cheer, chew tobacco and make all the general remarks that are common to the bleachers will be twenty inches wide. Gentlemen weigh 200 pounds can be comfortably accommodated.

By the way, the ground from the city the arena can be reached in nine minutes. Two railroads pass near the clubhouse.

In order to comply strictly with the Horton law, it has been suggested that each ticket be issued to one and members only. The membership fee would be 50 cents, but if this course is decided upon, notice will be given, and those who desire to see the fight will do well to file their application at once.

Corbett will be asked to finish his training here, beginning about September 5, and McCoy has agreed to be here on September 2. The contest will take place on September 10.

ODDS ARE ON YOUNG CORBETT.

The twenty-five round contest to a "W" at the Lenox Athletic Club between George Green ("Young Corbett"), of California, and "Mysterious Billy" Smith gives every promise of being the very best of the boxers so far served up to the patrons of the sport since the days of the late Tommy Ryan for the water-weight championship. Green, the Californian, is quoted a favorite over Smith at 100 to 80. This is accounted for by his having defeated Smith in Carson City last March a year ago, immediately after the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight. He is said to have improved wonderfully since that time, now being much stronger, faster and cleverer. The Californian has been preparing himself at Asbury Park in company with Jim Corbett, who will second and advise him to-night. The latter has tipped his friends to bet on Green, and states that his protégé is the greatest man of his weight that he ever saw. Corbett admits that he has been a bad hand at picking winners, but to-night he will make amends to-night.

nable metropolitan trotter. He repeated the record of 2:13 3/4 made at Detroit in June, and, opening a long gap in the heat, romped off with the money in 2:08. James Butler, owner of Directum Kelly won over $2,000 in the auction pool. He had a swell bet on every heat. The New Yorker is the stakeholder in the match for $2,500 a side between Emily at Margot. This was to have been tried at Glens Falls, N. Y., when the Grand Circuit reaches there next month, but Margaret cannot go a little bit and Nick H. Winger, her owner, has decided to forfeit the stake. He told Mr. Butler this afternoon to pay the $5,000 over to James A. Murphy, the Chicago turfman, who owns Emily.

Mrs. Allen to Ride from New York to Boston.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 28.—Mrs. A. M. C. Allen, of this city, whose record of 21,026 miles and 108 centuries on her wheel last year gave her the national medal for women for most miles and centuries, is to attempt to establish a record between New York and Boston, New York City, at midnight, Sunday, and hopes to register at the City Hall, Boston, before twelve o'clock Monday night.

She is to get through Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford, Springfield and Worcester, and is to be paced all the way by relays of riders. C. M. Henderson, secretary-treasurer of the C. B. C. of America, is to arrange for the start at the New York end; W. H. Andrews and Paul Thomas will pace her to Portchester and Norwalk, where the Alpha Club of Norwalk will take her in charge.
