

Statesmen Shaping Affairs in Revolutionary
Germany

DR. W. S. SOLF
succeeded von Hintze as Imperial Foreign Secretary and co-operated with Ebert after the Emperor's abdication.

KURT EISNER,
former newspaper editor, became first President of the Bavarian Provisional Republic,
November, 1918.

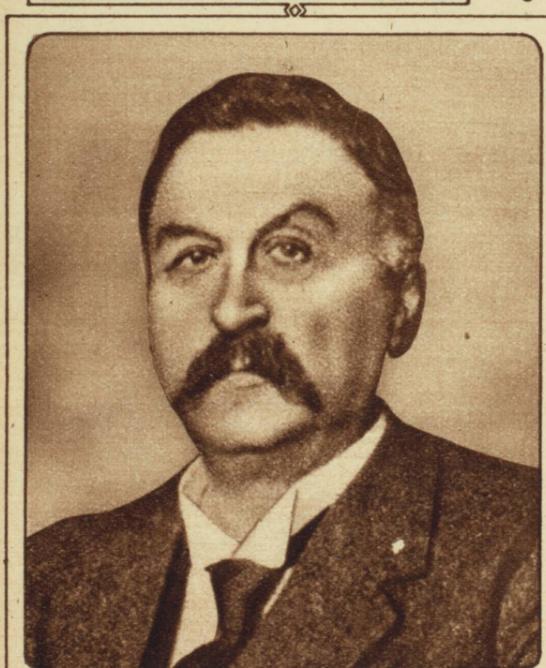

FRIEDRICH W. EBERT,
former Socialist leader in the Reichstag, became first Chancellor of the Revolutionary Government.

MATHIAS ERZBERGER,
leader of the Centrist Party, and one of the envoys to the armistice conference.

VICE CHANCELLOR
VON PAYER,
former assistant of von Hert-ling, tendered his resignation Sept. 29, 1918.

CONSTANTINE FEHRENBACH, member of the Centrist group and President of the Reichstag under the monarchy.

ADOLF GROEBER,
member of the Socialist Party in the Reichstag and Secretary of State without portfolio.

PHILIP SCHEIDEMANN,
the most prominent of the Majority Socialists, who announced the abdication of the Emperor.