

Crumbling of Belgian Forts Before Huge Artillery

RUINS OF ONE OF THE CONCEALED BELGIAN FORTS NEAR BRUSSELS BEING EXAMINED BY GERMAN OFFICERS AFTER THEY HAD WRECKED IT, TO SEE IF IT WAS STILL CAPABLE OF REPAIR.

STARBROUCK FORT WAS ONE OF THE RING THAT SURROUNDED ANTWERP. WHEN THE BELGIANS WERE FORCED TO EVACUATE THE CITY, THEY BLEW IT UP SO THAT IT WOULD BE OF NO MILITARY ADVANTAGE TO THE ENEMY.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)