BIRTHDAY PRESENT FOR COLONEL

Depew Presented It with a Speech in Which He Complimented the Nominee and His Politics.

Syracuse, Oct. 27.—After a day's hard campaigning on the road, Colonel Roosevelt and his spellbinders arrived here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Not more than 200 people were on hand to greet him, and to-night you cannot find a local Democrat who does not think that Syracuse will go Democratic on November 8.

The first good opportunity of comparing the drawing strength of the two men occurred to-night, when Colonel Roosevelt stepped on the stage of the Albion and faced an audience of 3,000 people.

Mr. Van Wyck drew fully as great a crowd last night, but it is safe to say that there were 25 per cent. more voters in the crowd that greeted the Democratic candidate than in Colonel Roosevelt's audience, which was composed largely of hero-worshipping women, boys below the age of registration and gifts of the pistol and cheering gun as well as the press.

Outside the city, however, and on the run over from Rochester the Republican candidate had one of his most successful days. Ontario county and Canajoharie were particularly enthusiastic.

Roosevelt's Birthday.
It was Colonel Roosevelt's birthday, and to him it was a peculiarly gratifying fact that all nature as well as a great many Republicans smiled.

In Rochester Mr. Depew and others of the party clubbed in and purchased a gold-headed cane as a birthday present for the night stick, and when the train was under way presented it to Colonel Roosevelt, with appropriate ceremonies, in the dining car.

Depew, in making the presentation, said: "The cane is not expensive, but with limited means which we have, and the drain which has been made upon our resources during this trip, we have, from the surplus of our McKinley prosperity, bought this cane for you, and I am sure that you will be glad to have the pleasure, on behalf of all of us, both speakers and representatives of the press, to give the Colonel a birthday gift with genuine wishes for his prosperity, long life and happiness."

Colonel Roosevelt responded in fitting terms, and in his address (as was talking to the taxpayers of Canajoharie, the home of John Haines, whose early saloon keeper he is) he said: "I am glad to see that the Canajoharites Colonel Roosevelt did not say that he disapproved the Rules law. It was too silly for that. Among other things he said:

"Our opponents are avowedly fighting for the repeal of the Rules law, the repeal of the law which has been passed by the State. If the law is repealed the nine millions of dollars it will do away with the means that every farmer, every tradesman, every mechanic will have to pay his share."

Here Was Enthusiasm.
There was a great crowd at Geneva, but the Rough Rider said nothing but what he had said many times before. There was no cheering, however, than at any point, and Colonel Roosevelt had stopped during his present tour.

On his return to Rochester he was met by a cheering throng, and he was loudly cheered, and all the spellbinders came away from the platform with beaming faces.

During this entire tour Colonel Roosevelt had not once uttered San Juan Hill or declared upon the deadly Mauser bullet or the Spanish machetes.

At Albany, however, the Rough Rider actor, has been turned loose and is now touring the State on his own account.

Dr. Chauncey Depew's private boom for the United States Senatorship, launched at Albany yesterday, has been described in space, and it is day pruned and whittled by the second Democratic State platform.

The recall of the State of New York is a matter of great importance, and it is a matter of great importance that they will influence many zealous Democrats to take such action when they desire.

These recallers are of two great classes: one that they will influence many zealous Democrats to take such action when they desire.

It is our duty to promote the principles of the Democracy. It is claimed by many individuals that the principles of Democracy have been set at naught by the party machine, and that such action as is most effective opposition that can be given, namely, a vote direct for the Republican ticket.

The Evening Meeting.
From the armory he went to the Albion, where the principal meeting of the evening was held. There was a great deal of red fire and music outside and of oratory inside the building.

The big building was packed to the doors, and the speaker, who was in the chair, rebelled against Timothy L. Woodruff's defense of the canal rig, the gathering was an orderly one.

Roosevelt's speech was mainly an attack on Mr. Van Wyck for not talking as Mr. Roosevelt would have him talk.

Colonel Roosevelt's speechmaking to-day was in rather poor form, and added, "I demonstrated the absurdity and falsity of every statement Van Wyck made in his Buffalo and Rochester speeches in the speech I delivered in Rochester last night before a vast audience, who, despite Democratic newspaper attacks, were loyal to the cause of the dry statistics I used to refute Judge Van Wyck's statements without a single interruption."

The Republican candidate also made a speech at the City Hall before 1,200 people. Colonel Roosevelt's speechmaking to-day was in rather poor form, and added, "I demonstrated the absurdity and falsity of every statement Van Wyck made in his Buffalo and Rochester speeches in the speech I delivered in Rochester last night before a vast audience, who, despite Democratic newspaper attacks, were loyal to the cause of the dry statistics I used to refute Judge Van Wyck's statements without a single interruption."

Westchester's Choice for Senate.

Sentiment Is Greatly in Favor of the Democratic Candidate.

PRaises Journal Policy.

Applauds the Scheme for a Bigger Navy, National Universities and Nicaragua Canal.

HE PREDICTS A BIG MAJORITY.

Will Have 4,000 Votes to the Good When the Democratic Landslide Comes This Year.

"I expect to be elected Senator by four thousand majority. There is going to be a Democratic landslide this year, both in the State and in the county of Westchester, in which I am running. The Democratic nominees will win because they deserve to win."

The speaker was Assemblyman William J. Graney, the Democratic nominee for Senator in the Twenty-second Senatorial District, as he discussed the Journal's national platform and commended it to Democracy.

He declared he was with the Journal in its fight for a bigger navy, greater seats of learning at West Point and Annapolis, the digging of the Nicaragua Canal and the retaining of the Philippines.

The Twenty-second Senatorial District comprises Westchester County and the old town of Westchester and parts of Eastchester and Pelham annexed to New York City. The district is Democratic. The three Assemblymen for Westchester County running in the territory in which Mr. Graney now runs for Senator had over 1,500 majority last year, and this will be increased to nearly 4,000 by the Democratic Republican party in that district is divided into two factions, which cannot be harmonized.

Mr. Graney's opponent is George H. Mairs, whom he defeated for Assemblyman last year by nearly 1,200 majority. Even the friends of Mairs admit that he will be beaten worse this year.

Mr. Graney was born in Dobbs Ferry on May 1, 1855, and has lived here ever since. He has always been a Democrat. He was elected Register of Westchester County in 1882 by a large majority. He served in the army and was then renominated for the same office by acclamation. He was defeated in 1888 by the McKinley cyclone, but ran ahead of his ticket by nearly 1,200 votes. Last year Mr. Graney was elected to the Assembly.

"I am an admirer of the Journal, and accept its national policy as my own," said Assemblyman Graney last night. "It is doing a great deal for the American people. It is the only true American paper that stands up for Democracy and good government. The need of the greatest navy in the world is now the predominant issue."

The next important issue which the Journal has which is not national in character meets my hearty commendation. The establishment of great military schools at Annapolis and West Point, and in other places if necessary. The Nicaragua Canal policy which the Journal is advocating in a manner which is bound to result in the retention of the Canal should be null, and then placed under the control of the American people.

"The friends of Mairs admit that he will be beaten worse this year. It was simply perpetrated upon the voters. It was simply perpetrated upon the voters. It was simply perpetrated upon the voters."

DEPUTY SPIRITED AWAY

Batches of Warrants Secured at Visits to Police Courts—One Arrest Made.

Secrecy is at a premium in Election Superintendent McCullagh's headquarters, No. 355 Broadway.

McCullagh has refused to make public the list of deputies who were appointed solely by his selection, to serve only at his pleasure.

McCullagh refuses to make public any information concerning the doings of his deputies. Yesterday he declined to say whether he had suspended, dismissed or even reprimanded the deputy who tried to "clean out" Wenzel's saloon, at No. 172 Mercer street, on Tuesday night.

This man, William J. Healy, was arrested by Policeman Frederick Meade, of the Macdonald street station, after he had poked his pistol into the face of Wenzel's brother and generally acted like a drunken ruffian. The policeman was taking his prisoner to the station house when McCullagh met them on the street and induced the officer to surrender the prisoner to him.

Now Policeman Meade is to be tried before the Commissioners on two charges: one of allowing a prisoner to be taken from him; the other of failure to report the arrest at the station house. McCullagh said the saloonman on his trial, he would be a witness for the saloonman.

Wenzel has been persuaded not to make any complaint against the deputy. The election superintendent paid two visits to the Essex Market Court yesterday and had one long conference with Magistrate Kuddeh. He left with a batch of warrants after each visit. He also secured batches of warrants in Jefferson Market Court and in the West Forty-fourth Street Court.

Congressman John Murray Mitchell, the Republican candidate for re-election in the Eighth District, spent half an hour in McCullagh's headquarters yesterday.

The attention of the Force deputies has been confined strictly to the lodging houses in the districts below Fourteenth street, and mainly to those included under the leadership of Senator Sullivan and former Police Justice Divver.

Two of the Grand Jury will consider the case of Brady, whom McCullagh's men say is an ex-convict, known as Peterson, and one or two other cases. The evidence is slight, and there is little probability of indictment.

As has been done every year, Chief Devery and the police force are making a careful examination of the registry lists and comparing and investigating every name and address. The first arrest was made yesterday.

George W. Watson, forty-three years old, was held by Magistrate Cornell in $1,000 bail in the Centre Street Police Court on the charge of illegal registration for examination to-day. Watson was arrested by Policeman Walsh, of the Mulberry street station. He is alleged to have registered at Nos. 269 and 302 Bowers on October 11, two days later than the law requires. Watson asked for an adjournment to secure counsel.

The Yorkville mass meeting will take place in Old Homestead Hall, Ninety-third street and Third avenue, to-night. Edward B. Amend will preside, and the speakers will be George Van Skael, Henry A. Dollinger, Dr. H. A. Anderson, Colonel Jacob Kupper and Dr. E. Vestnick.

W. B. Dye, Timothy E. Ellsworth's Opponent

Turns Financial Screws in an Effort to Overcome Dye's Lead.

TIDE TURNS AGAINST HIM.

Republicans in Niagara, Orleans and Genesee Will Vote for Democratic Candidate.

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 27.—"I trust I may count upon your support. My book holds your vote. I shall be glad to grant renewals to my friends, but, naturally enough, enemies cannot expect favors."

Thus speaks Timothy E. Ellsworth, in effect, to voters whom he suspects of hostility toward his Senatorial aspirations. The press-gang hero and Platt tool is busily engaged in this system of campaigning in the flourishing counties of Niagara, Orleans and Genesee, which constitute the Forty-fifth Senatorial District. Mr. Ellsworth never before faced such a situation. It threatens to overwhelm him.

His opponent, W. B. Dye, of Albion, is a merchant of influence and enjoys a high reputation for integrity. He is owned by no one, and offers a sharp contrast to the ex-leader of Platt's Senate.

For two weeks the tide has been running toward Dye. It began in Albion, Dye's home, and a hotbed of Republicanism. Citizens, irrespective of party, congratulated Mr. Dye on his nomination. The candidate thanked them all, and turning to a Republican, asked: "Your kind words are cheering; are you going to vote for me?"

The Republican Albionite hesitated, looked embarrassed, and then said heartily: "Why not! I'm a Republican, but you are a good man. You'll be a credit to the district. Yes, I'll vote for you."

The convert thus made has converted others, and the ripple started in Albion has reached the limits of the Senatorial district. Not only have independent Republicans pledged themselves to vote for Dye, but the practical politicians of the anti-Platt stripe have allied themselves with him. Here, as elsewhere, the Platt machine is a close corporation.

Outsiders Barred Out.
The manipulators have kept all the privileges incident to Republican victory to themselves. The outsiders couldn't even look through the doorway. Ellsworth's little flag got everything. Ellsworth's lawyer friends got any legal work the State departments care only. Ellsworth's contractor friends secured the State contracts that may have been in the district. Ellsworth's personal friends were given any State jobs worth having, and laborers could get no work on State contracts unless Ellsworth put his mark of approval on their applications.

The political selfishness and bigotry of the Republican candidate are notorious throughout the district. Even his friends admit that he is a person of singularly narrow views on all subjects. His press-gang bill first opened the eyes of the voters. They found it difficult to reconcile Mr. Ellsworth's claims to superlative goodness with his political methods. He expounded his views and explained his questionable political conduct with a solemnity and assumption of high-minded righteousness that for a time deceived the eyes of the voters. His press-gang bill cost him many friends. Newspaper editors here were amazed. They perceived his desire to show work criticism of a corrupt political machine in which the killing of the bill by Governor Black convinced everybody that the bill must have reached the platform of machine efforts to induce Black to stamp upon it.

As a last resort Ellsworth is threatening donors to his bank with refusal to renew their notes and to foreclose on mortgages given in many instances to secure the notes. Worthy farmers, reputable business men, have had their mortgages foreclosed, and they resent them as the crowning impertinence of the arrogant Ellsworth rule.

Great Interest in the Fight.
The increased registration shows the interest taken in this contest. One of the Democratic candidates for Assembly, C. F. Foley, a young newspaper man, is making a splendid canvass, and has an excellent chance of winning on the strength of his personal popularity.

Henry S. Tompkins, another Democratic candidate, is certain to come out victorious. The struggle is in Genesee County. Both Niagara and Orleans counties give clear indications of a Democratic tilt. Genesee County has on occasions been a close republic, but Roosevelt cannot hope to carry it by more than 1,000. Ellsworth is sure to run far behind the State ticket.

Yet it is in Genesee County he hopes to secure the victory. He is in the hands of Representative Wadsworth lives in Orleans county, and he is working hard for himself and the press-gang. Third Assistant Postmaster General Merrill is also here putting in some desperate strokes.

On the other hand, the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, George W. Batten, lives in the district. He is popular and an energetic worker, and his efforts will offset Wadsworth's and Merrill's.

To summarize, it looks as though Dye would be elected because of his popularity, because of Ellsworth's unpopularity, because the Republicans are divided, and because the Democrats of all shades of opinion are working together.

TAMMANY PLANS FOR FINAL SPEECHES.

Maurice B. Blumenthal, chairman of the Tammany Committee on Meetings and Speakers, announced last night the arrangements for the closing of the campaign in this county on Sunday, November 6.

FOR VAN WYCK WITH NO "IFS."

Chicago Platform Democrats Issue a Public Letter at Albany.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The Chicago platform Democrats of Albany County, and his ally, the New Democracy, is out to-day with an open letter signed by the Executive Committees of the organizations and asking that all Silver men vote for Van Wyck for Governor. The letter is signed by E. J. Duggan, Thomas W. Cantwell, William Bender, Emanuel P. Wenger, William Hartman, Joseph T. McNally, of Albany; Louis Martin, Maurice J. Mehan, Cohoes, N. Y.

The letter says in part: "We will believe that a more serious error was committed when the desire of those who should constitute a clear majority of the voters of the party were ignored at that time, when the second Democratic State platform was written."

"These recallers are of two great classes: one that they will influence many zealous Democrats to take such action when they desire. It is our duty to promote the principles of the Democracy. It is claimed by many individuals that the principles of Democracy have been set at naught by the party machine, and that such action as is most effective opposition that can be given, namely, a vote direct for the Republican ticket."

"The Republican candidates represent all that is most prominent and unimpeachable in State affairs. The only scandal embracing as it does, the utmost indifference to the great benefit these citizens were admitted to be as an adjunct to trade and commerce; the fact that the meaning of the word 'recall' is a gross public exhibition—all these the Republican party stands for, plus the open, unshining admission to the public of contracting the supply of United States money, and the blighting policy of the single gold standard of finance."

"The Republicans of the State of New York stand for the Republicans of any other State in the Union, stand for all that is opposed to the Chicago platform, and stand for every and all who advocate the Chicago platform and the blighting policy of the single gold standard of finance."

"Roosevelt and Republicanism mean less money and more misery, more starvation, more debt, more bonds, more restrictions, more suicides, more law, more force, more militia, more strikes, more disorder, more pauperism, more immorality."

We most earnestly appeal to our associates and followers to work for the election of the Democracy in the State of New York, and the ultimate triumph of the principles of the Democracy, on which depends the perpetuity of the American Republic.

CHANLER'S FIGHT WAXES HOTTER.

Democratic Candidate for Congress Speaks Eleven Times Nightly.

NEW ISSUES FOR QUIGG.

The Captain Proposes to Investigate the Matter of Army Contracts.

"I have got beyond hoping that I shall be elected to Congress," said William Astor Chanler, Democratic candidate in the Fourteenth District, yesterday.

"I am an confident now. Everything is going excellently. The people show that wherever I go, I feel sure of winning."

Mr. Chanler was booked to speak at eleven meetings in the West Side of Manhattan Island above Fifty-ninth street. That means that he had to start out from his headquarters in the Hotel Virginia at 7 o'clock sharp and keep on the go until midnight.

Captain Chanler presented a new issue to his opponent, Mr. Quigg, last night. He proposes to devote his time, if elected, to the work of Congress. Mr. Quigg's duties as president of the New York County Republican Committee and Senator Platt's political right-hand man have kept him out of his seat in the House of Representatives too much, Captain Chanler argues.

"I did not say that Abner McKinley, President's brother, had made a pot of money out of an army clothing contract," said Captain Chanler. He was reported as making the charge as if from his own knowledge.

"What I did say," said Captain Chanler, "was this: It is the duty of the members of the next Congress to investigate the army contracts, which, like many army contracts, were made by favor to Republicans."

"When I said that it was a matter of common report that Abner McKinley had been connected with the clothing contract, I was not saying that I do not know and I was not saying that I do not know and I was not saying that I do not know."

Here are two more points which Mr. Chanler is making nightly in his speeches. "If the Republicans of New York State cannot be trusted to manage the Erie Canal, can you trust the Republicans of the nation to dig and manage the Nicaragua Canal?"

"If the Republicans are mismanaging Alaska, how can you expect them to give good government to Porto Rico and the Philippines? The Alaska Fur Company practically monopolizes Alaska, as I know from observation. The Government gets practically no revenue from the Territory, while the company gets from $600,000 to $1,200,000 a year out of it."

The Fourteenth District is described as the most important in the United States in point of its residents and the magnitude and variety of interests which it represents.

65,000 WHEELMEN IN GOOD ROADS LEAGUE.

The officers of the Van Wyck New York State Good Roads League of Wheelmen held their annual meeting yesterday, and were not disturbed by the letter secured by the Republican campaign committee from President Potter, of the L. A. W., advising all members of this L. A. W. to remain neutral in this campaign.

"We have more than 65,000 members of this league," said an officer of the organization at headquarters yesterday, "and thousands of them are members of the League of American Wheelmen. No effort has been made to use the L. A. W. for political purposes. Our league is composed of wheelmen, irrespective of politics, the L. A. W. or any other distinct class. It is organized at headquarters yesterday, and is a disposition to help them to obtain good roads."

President Potter insults 65,000 wheelmen in this State who have joined this movement, besides the 500 leaders who have taken an active part in the campaign for better roads, and for their candidates and party which represent this principle when in ascribes weakness to their intelligence in joining a movement which is so strongly in favor of their rights."

DEMOCRATS THROG TO BROOKLYN RALLIES.

An audience, which filled every inch of room was present last night at No. 209 Bedford avenue, Williamsburg, where the Columbian Democratic Club of the Eastern District of Brooklyn had its first rally of the campaign. Lawyer George Meyer presided. Edward Rudolph, Jr., the candidate for Assembly, made an address. Addresses were also made by George J. O'Keefe, John J. McManis, Mitchell May and William S. Post.
