

LITTLE BENNY SOLOMON DROWNED

His Body Under a Pier Where the Searchers Never Looked.

HE MUST HAVE FALLEN IN. Haverstein Boys, Who Had Been Suspected, Are Not at All to Blame.

FROM A PUMP RUNS THE TIDE

And Upon the Scaffolding Over the Pump Little Benny Played. Just Because It Was Dangerous.

Little Benny Salomon, dead, was found in the water at the foot of West Ninety-first street yesterday. He disappeared a fortnight ago, and his parents had searched for him madly every instant since then. He was six years of age, and he had played with the little Haverstein boys, who are, for various reasons, the explanatory victims, the scape kids, of the district.

They were accused by Benny's older brother of having led him to Astoria on the ferryboat that lands at East Ninety-second street. They dealt with all the strength of their little hearts. They said that they had not seen him on October 18, when he disappeared.

Still they were questioned extremely, and the child's relatives hunted for him with a dog in the woods of Astoria.

He was found drowned yesterday near the boat that is used in the Summer as a bath house and in the cold days as a boat house. A soldier saw his leg above the water and jumped after it.

Those who know the tides there say that the child could not have fallen into the river at Astoria. If he was thrown into it there are no marks on his body to show that. The current comes from the ferry slip.

Little Benny played often with other boys on the pier. The ferry slip is old above the pier, and the old above the pier is old above the pier.

His older brother remembered yesterday that little Benny had played in the water often. The experts of the district say that he must have fallen there.

The ferry boat which makes a whirlpool, in which he was encircled, if he screamed could not be heard. The current led him under the pier at East Ninety-first street for forty years said, "I shall teach me not to listen to what others say."

But they were disturbed. They were asked yesterday at the school of the district came to the boat house as a punishment and stayed there, exchanging ill-natured observations and themselves about little Benny for an hour. A policeman dispersed the crowd.

BACON'S MEN WERE HEROES.

The General Tells of the Gallantry Shown in the Battle at Leech Lake.

Washington, Nov. 1.—General Bacon, who commanded the troops in the fight with Indians at Leech Lake, in his report gives high praise to his officers. He says:

"I cannot too strongly express my admiration for the intrepidity, absolute coolness and good judgment displayed by Second Lieutenant Tenney Ross, Third Infantry, commanding the left half of the line, who exposed himself both in leading his platoon and in care for the wounded. He was commended only last July, but appeared in this fight to be a hero."

"I also take great pleasure in calling attention to the courageous conduct and efficient professional services rendered by Acting Assistant Surgeon Herbert J. Harris, United States Army."

"Upon the death of Captain Wilkinson, Surgeon Thomas Kelly, Company E, Third Infantry, was assigned to command the skirmishers on the right of the line. He performed this duty so gallantly by his example in leading his platoon that I most earnestly recommend that he be awarded a medal of honor."

"General Bacon also makes that a medal be given Private Oscar Burkhardt, Hospital Corps, U. S. A., for his work in caring for the wounded."

Washington, Nov. 1.—The Treasury statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business, October 31, 1898, the debt, less net cash in the Treasury, amounted to $1,110,000,000, an increase for the month of $25,000,000. The increase is accounted for by the issue during the month of about $25,000,000 of new 4 per cent bonds and a decrease of about $7,500,000 in the cash on hand. The total amount of the new loan so far taken up in the monthly statement is $178,500,150.

HER SOLDIER HUSBAND FREED.

Hospital Corporal Meadows Discharged Through Efforts of His Bride.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1.—Notwithstanding the opposition of the War Department, Hospital Corporal Meadows, who married a nurse at Fort McPherson, and whose wife was discharged for marrying him, received his discharge to-day.

It was secured through the influence of Congressman Hunter, of Illinois, and Eynon, of Kentucky. The couple left this afternoon to spend their honeymoon with the parents of the groom in Paris, Ill.

Meadows was a favorite among the men at Fort McPherson, and takes with him the best wishes of all of his associates. He fell in love with Miss Della, who was a nurse in his ward, and married her, being against the rules of the army hospitals to have married nurses. Major Taylor was opposed to the dispensation with the services of Mrs. Meadows.

She made a trip to her home in Louisville, Ky., and while there called the services of Congressman Eynon, of Kentucky, to her aid. He secured her release, and she returned to her husband's side. The third was the lucky one, and woman's perseverance won.

ORDINATION IS REFUSED YALE MEN.

Council is Not Satisfied with the Doctrinal Beliefs of a Cousin of Fighting Bob Evans.

There is a mild sensation in the little village of Redding, Conn., over the refusal of a council of ministers and laymen to ordain to the ministry a young Yale divinity student—Edward Russell Evans, whom the Congregational Church of that village had called to be its pastor. The reason for this action was that Pastor Evans's doctrinal beliefs are widely at variance with those commonly accepted by the Congregational churches.

The council recommended the church to retain Mr. Evans as pastor, and the refusal to ordain, which was arrived at only after two sessions in examination, was put in the form of a recommendation to postpone the ordination until the end of his divinity course next June. Mr. Evans is a cousin of "Fighting Bob" Evans.

BOARDED TENTS FOR SOLDIERS IN CUBA.

Bids Will Be Called for To-day for Lumber, Nails, Piping, Etc.

The data on which the advertisement will be based has been furnished by the committee, of which Colonel Hecker and Colonel Lee are members.

A large part of the lumber to be purchased will be used in building tents for the soldiers and in building barracks. General Ludington said to-night that possibly thirty days would expire before the bids could be received and raised upon, and the building material for the army of occupation will be transported to Cuba.

LARGE SALTS FOR THE TROLLEY CARS.

Many Little Deep-Sea Recruits Flock Aboard the Training Ship.

SCORES MORE TO COME. One Hundred Boy Sailors to Be Quartered on the Vessel by Christmas.

RECITATIONS BEGIN TO-DAY.

Commander Reeder Tells Why New Yorkers Who Support the Training Ship Proud of It.

Thirty-eight young men who hope some day to be masters of ocean liners or to stand on the bridges of men-of-war, answered the roll call of Commander William H. Reeder, of New York's school ship St. Mary's bright and early yesterday morning. This is but a small portion of the expected attendance. There will be a hundred before Christmas. Ninety went on the Summer cruise last year.

There were lively scenes aboard the old ship all day yesterday, as the lay at the foot of East Twenty-eighth street, just astern of the Naval Reserve training ship New Hampshire. The day was given over to unpecking of effects and a general cleaning up preparatory to the beginning of the Winter term, which started yesterday.

Early in the afternoon the young tars put on their white clothes, and each looked every inch a sailor.

The boys of the junior class have been on leave, and in reading school performance as a reward, since October 11, on which date the annual commencement took place. Last Summer's cruise, contrary to the usual custom, embraced only Long Island Sound. It has been customary to take the sailing ship across the ocean, but last Summer necessary repairs prevented an ocean voyage.

Commander Reeder's assistants in the education and training of the young men are Lieutenant Knapp, United States Navy; Lieutenant A. T. Long, United States Navy; Lieutenant H. A. Wiley, United States Navy; and Robert Smart, of the New York Naval Militia.

A special photographer was fortunate enough to get the commander's permission for a few snapshots while the boys were going over the main deck, including the physical exercises attendant upon going aloft and standing by to lay aloft. The evening formation was another interesting subject of the camera.

Commander Reeder, who served during the war on the Board for the Inspection of Vessels for Auxiliary Cruisers, speaking of the training school, said:

"I think the people would have greater pride in the ship if they knew that thirty out of thirty-four boys graduated last year could be entrusted with the navigation of the best ship afloat, and that in the twenty-three years of our existence we have furnished masters of some great ocean steamships."

Recitations will begin on the ship to-day.

POLICE WILL STOP SUNDAY DANCING.

No More Permits Will Be Granted for Masquerade Balls Scheduled for Saturday Nights.

Seven applications to hold masquerade balls on next Saturday night were denied by the Police Board on Monday, and one application was refused yesterday.

The police are to be notified that there must be no more Sunday dancing. No permits are to be granted, was said for masquerade balls on Saturday nights.

President York said yesterday: "The fact that the Police Board has refused to issue permits for masquerade balls on Saturday nights is prompted by the fact that these balls are held in violation of the Penal Code. All dancing in public places is prohibited by law, and, of course, this does not affect private homes or private dancing schools."

President York also said that the much advertised "St. Nicholas" ball will not be permitted, and added that "rag time" dancing in public halls is to be stopped.

SUN IN HYPNOTIC RULE OF THREE.

Read This and Tell How Many Policemen This Doctor Can Subdue.

A 180-pound sailor of the United States cruiser Brooklyn had a fit at Sixteenth street and Third avenue early yesterday. Ambulance Surgeon Wheeler came to find him in post-epileptic mania. Five policemen tackled him, but he was too much for them.

The doctor took a hand. He caught the patient's eye. The strong man stepped in the middle of the street. His eye told his hand and he stood still. Dr. Wheeler raised his arm and hands about the policeman stared. He was hypnotizing the sailor. As the doctor's movements became slower, and he was about to get the subject under control, the sailor fell against a post. His eyes were moved from those of Dr. Wheeler, and the doctor's work had gone for naught. But he suddenly jumped upon the sailor and bore him to the ground.

The man had not lost the effects of the doctor's power, and he was held down. The policeman put him into the ambulance. He was tractable after that.

When the man recovered partly at Bellevue Hospital he said he was Bernard Morris.

CATS WHISKED AWAY BY ANTI-CAT LEAGUE.

Dr. Wilcox Accused an Alleged Member of Making Away with His Pets.

Dr. H. W. Mitchell, of No. 747 Madison avenue, was summoned to the Yorkville Police Court yesterday, to tell what he knew about an Anti-Cat League, of which he was said to be an active member. The complainant was Dr. Wilcox, who lives at No. 100 West 100th street.

One by one they met dead and disappeared cats. Then Dr. Wilcox recalled the names of the cats, and he said that he had jumped at the conclusion that Dr. Mitchell had been making away with the cats. Dr. Mitchell denied the charge, and said that he had killed the cats, or even belonged to the Anti-Cat League, and that he was a member of the same.

The case came up before the Classification Board yesterday. It being down the decision of the board said: "Letting down the cat as a 'bovine ruminant.' The board said that the goods are hides of cattle and affirms the assessment of duty."

Only Two Days More.

CHICKERING HALL.

Dr. Greene's Great Private Lecture to Men.

His Powerful, Thrilling Words to An Immense Audience.

Glory of Man Lies in His Strength and Vigor.

Men Need Not Be Nervous or Physically Exhausted.

His Hearers Will Not Forget His Hopeful Words.

MEDICINES OF WONDROUS POWER.

The Skilled Physician Speaks With Absolute Knowledge.

FOR HIS SUCCESS IN CURING THIS CLASS OF ILLS

Is Greater Than That of Any Other Physician.

An immense audience of men greeted that most successful of physicians, Dr. Greene, in Chickering Hall last night and listened with rapt and absorbed attention to one of the most powerful lectures ever delivered to men—a lecture filled with profound knowledge of the science of life, replete with grand truths and teeming with vivid portrayals of nature's mighty facts, necessarily of a private nature, but nevertheless which constitute the very groundwork of life's knowledge, the underlying principle of the scheme of existence itself, and concerning which men are often grossly ignorant, generally thoughtless and always careless, until a crisis arises in their lives—the loss of that vitality which distinguishes the weak from the strong, brings home to each the individual knowledge that only strength is power and that weakness means despair.

Dr. Greene's stirring lecture last night meted facts never brought out as only the skilled physician, thoroughly conversant with every phase of the subject, can portray the happiness which always accompanies strength and vigor, and also depict the abject misery and despair which follow weakness and debility.

No man has a right to trifle with his health. The glory of man is his strength, and strength of character, strength of mind, strength of body are dependent upon the maintenance of sound physical health—health of each and every organ, function and attribute of the human system; and true and complete happiness comes only to him who maintains the soundness of his nerve and physical strength, or restores and regains such strength, if by any means it is lost or impaired.

Ignorance of consequences, indiscretion and thoughtlessness are the great causes of physical decay, vital weakness and nervous debility among men. This condition of nerve weakness, exhausted powers and drains upon the system, which slowly but surely, if allowed to continue, sap the very vitality, wreck nerve, brain and body and tinge life and existence itself with the dark gloom of despair, is the most common of diseases among men, not only among the young, but in middle life and mature years, and its cure is the great problem which faces mankind at the present day.

Subsequent to the lecture, the exhausted vitality, the weak and languid and tired feeling, with gradual falling of strength, where formerly they had feelings of strong and vigorous physical and nerve power, they now have only a sense of weakness, languor, dullness and exhaustion. There is a lack of ambition, with little inclination for physical or mental exertion. This is often mentally noticeable in the morning, when every movement seems an effort. The night's sleep, which should refresh the system and restore strength and vigor, often leaves them in the morning more tired and exhausted than on retiring.

After a time their nerve and mental strength will be impaired, and their endurance and power to work, read or study diminished. Where formerly they could endure many consecutive hours of close application of the mind, they now find that the thoughts wander, and there is inability to fix the mind for any length of time upon one subject. With this there is an extraordinary nervous condition, or dull, cloudy sensation of the head, accompanied by disagreeable feelings in the head and eyes. Lack of inclination for company and desire to be alone mark this stage of the disease.

As these symptoms increase there is usually derangement of the digestive organs. There is often a bad taste in the mouth in the morning. There will be at times a pain in the back, the vision becomes dim, the memory is impaired, and there is frequent dizziness. Persons thus afflicted are often despondent and suffer from gloom and depression of the mind. The nerve become so weakened after a time that the least excitement or shock will flush the face or bring on a tremor or tremble, or often attended by more or less palpitation of the heart.

Dr. Greene expresses no blame for the victims of this insidious disease, for he realizes that this sad condition results from thoughtless ignorance of the consequences, and therefore merits and should have the deepest sympathy of the physician, and should be treated in perfect confidence and cured with absolute secrecy.
