

PALMER VICTOR OVER PLIMMER. This Time Pedlar Knocks His Man Out in the Seventeenth Round.

FAST BOUT FOR AWHILE. Palmer Favorite in the Betting and Landed the Heavier Blows Throughout.

Special Cable to the Journal. (Copyright, 1893, by W. R. Hearst.)

London, Dec. 12.—Excitement was fever pitch at the National Sporting Club to-night when the famous bantam celebrator, Pedlar Palmer and Billy Plimmer, engaged in a contest of twenty rounds at 115 pounds. There was a purse of $500 and an equal sum as a side stake.

It will be remembered that these men met three years ago, on Plimmer's arrival from America, where he had demonstrated his superiority over all pugilists of his weight on that side of the Atlantic. Palmer had, during his absence, however, made wonderful strides, and was thought to be a good match for Plimmer, who was a strong favorite. Palmer succeeded in winning twelve of fourteen rounds.

Since then Plimmer had defeated George Corfield, of Sheffield. Palmer's most notable engagements have been with Dave Sullivan, of America, whom he defeated, and Johnny Murphy, another American, his last contest being fourteen months ago.

In to-night's contest Palmer was made a pronounced favorite. He was just able to make the weight, while Plimmer weighed 115 pounds.

When the men faced each other Plimmer looked a complete veteran. He succeeded in displaying all his renowned cleverness, and the first half dozen rounds were very keenly contested, though Palmer's blows were much the heavier. As the bout progressed each, at times, became wild and the referee frequently cautioned Plimmer for holding in the clinches.

Palmer repeatedly tried to terminate matters, but Plimmer's cleverness enabled him to elude many of his adversary's blows. By the seventh round Palmer got home on the jaw. Plimmer went down, and, being unable to rise, was counted out.

"FAKE" FIGHT ABROAD. Dick Burge Claims a Foul Over Bobby Dobbs, Which Is Not Allowed, and He Quits the Ring.

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Dec. 12.—Bobby Dobbs, the American, beat Dick Burge in a boxing contest here to-night for a purse of $1,250 and $1,500 a side.

In the eighth round Burge claimed a foul, which the referee refused to allow. Burge's backer thereupon declined to permit him to continue the fight.

The Burge party lodged a protest against the payment of the stakes and threatened to make sensational revelations. The sporting papers to-morrow, however, will say that, although the tactics of Dobbs at the beginning of the fight were suspicious, he deserved all praise for his subsequent style and undoubtedly proved himself by far the better man.

A prominent sporting man, who recently returned from England, and who is familiar with the doings of the English sports, remarked on the tactics of Burge, who refused to go into details, but said that the result would prove his assertion, which it seems to have done.

Flaherty Beats Burns.

Troy, Dec. 12.—Martin Flaherty, of Lowell, won the decision over Larry Burns in a twenty-round fight at the Manhattan Athletic Club to-night. Burns was the aggressor and had the best of the fight to the eighteenth round, when Flaherty won on his man and attempted to put him out. Burns was badly punished, but Flaherty could not knock him out. Charles White, of New York, was referee.

News of the Boxers.

Jack Rose, who refereed the recent contest between George Monroe and Austin Rice, which was decided at Bridgeport, Conn., by the referee's decision, has been accused for his unjust decision. The referee Rice did not have a chance and was not in the running after the fight. Rice was the aggressor and had the best of the fight. Monroe outpointed his opponent five to one, the referee's verdict was a draw.

Billy Roach, on behalf of Mysterious Billy Smith, cabled a challenge to London yesterday to meet the winner of the Burge-Dobbs fight for the welterweight championship of the world. Lou O'Rourke said he would offer a purse for the bout.

Al Wood, manager of the Palace Athletic Club, of Bridgeport, Conn., left for Philadelphia to get the signature of Peter Maher for a match with Bob Armstrong, to come off in January. Armstrong has accepted the terms.

Billy Wilson, who looks after the interests of Jack O'Brien, is out with a challenge to fight any man in the business at $100 and 125 pounds. He would like to fight the Buffalo boxer, preferred.

Red Mason, manager of Ed Kennedy, the Pittsburg welterweight, is in the market to get on a match with some good 140-pound boxer for his protegee. Mason has no desire to go after the high game, but is willing to accept an offer to fight a preliminary to introduce his new pugilistic star in this vicinity.

BIG MONEY IN FOOTBALL.

Harvard's Eleven Clears $26,750 on the Season, But Other Athletics Fall Behind.

Cambridge, Dec. 12.—Graduate Manager Norman W. Bingham, who had charge of Harvard athletic finances for last year, has submitted his report to the present manager, S. L. Fuller. The figures show that only the football game is the money maker, but that it is sufficiently meritorious to support the rest. The total receipts and expenses of the different athletic associations are as follows:

Football—Receipts, $37,100.58; expenses, $10,350.00; balance, profit, $26,750.58. Basketball—Receipts, $4,300.00; expenses, $1,200.00; balance, profit, $3,100.00. SCOUTING NEWS TOLD BY EXPERTS.

DR. WALTER B. PEET, COLUMBIA CREW.

Chosen by the Rowing Authorities at Last Night's Meeting.

VERY POPULAR CHOICE.

He Coached the Crew in '95 and Defeated Cornell and Penns.

The first meeting of the new Board of Governors of the Columbia University Boat Club was held last night at the University Athletic Club, in Thirty-fourth street. After a lengthy meeting of several hours it was announced that Dr. Walter B. Peet would be Columbia's rowing coach for the coming season, provided that certain private arrangements could be made with him. William H. Maxwell, Jr., of the class of 1900, was elected manager of the crew. Among the older men at the meeting interested in rowing matters were noticed Justin A. B. Coville, place captain, and William A. Melkieleh and Magistrate R. C. Cornell.

Dr. Walter B. Peet is one of the best-known and most popular college oarsmen in the country. In 1895 he assumed control of the rowing matters, and from a group of raw and inexperienced men—not one of whom had ever handled an oar—he developed a crew which defeated Cornell and the University of Pennsylvania by ten lengths.

Dr. Peet has been always noted for the immense amount of enthusiasm he infused in his men. All the men who were instructed by him came to form close attachments. Hamilton Fish, Jr., who was No. 1 in the crew, was especially warm admirer of Dr. Peet. His stroke was always adapted to the man, not the man to the stroke. For that reason when asked in 1895 to describe the crew he said: "Peet would reply that it was impossible to give a description which would suit all. The interest which he took in his men, Peet's crews would go out on the river apparently deploringly lacking in form, yet when it came to rowing not an ounce of strength was wasted, and his men finished strong."

Dr. Peet has also been known to the athletic world as a writer on amateur sport. He graduated with the class of '88 from Columbia University. After graduation he turned his attention to rowing in general. Then, in '95, he turned out the winning crew. Press of business has prevented his assistance since. The students have clamored each year for him, and this year with success. With the strong following he has at the university and the general interest which he has in rowing by the appearance of a new coach, Columbia bids fair to be among the leaders next year.

This year the rowing club is free from debt, with a surplus in the treasury. Only two of last year's crew have not returned to college. These things, together with the reappearance of Dr. Peet, are sure to mark a new epoch in Columbia's rowing history.

NEW RULES FOR YACHTS.

Long Island Sound Tars Discuss Racing Measurements at the Windsor Hotel.

The special meeting of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound was held at the Windsor Hotel last night, and the experts on the question of rules and racing measurement debated until a late hour. Charles T. Pierce, of the Riverside Y. C., presided.

The meeting was called principally for the discussion of the scheme of restricting the length of the keel and under the table of scantling proposed by W. E. Stephens, and also to evolve a wholesome restriction on construction to the end of establishing cruising or regular divisions in the various classes as distinct from racing craft rule and simple.

During the discussion it was found that the girls rule as recommended by the Yacht Racing Association of North America was not acceptable for smaller yachts and members of the association, and a measurement of existing yachts, and was rejected. The majority which voted to retain the present rule of water line length and sail area was a large one.

That the cruising division be considered the legitimate yachts in their respective classes and that they should conform to the scantling restrictions of regular divisions, but the recommendation was not carried. For the reason that the delegates decided to consult their clubmates before deciding finally on the matter, and a meeting will be held in the near future to discuss the matter more fully.

IS SIX-DAY RACE OFF?

At Any Rate the Proposed Pedestrian Contest Has Been Postponed to an Indefinite Date.

There is a reasonable doubt as to whether the proposed six-day or-as-you-please walking match will take place. One month ago the promoters announced that the pedestrian contest would take place at Madison Square Garden during the week beginning December 26. Contests and other events which have been circulating around the city and many of the old-time "beds" have been preparing for the race.

But yesterday at the Madison Square Garden managers admitted that the match would not take place at the time scheduled. It is asserted that it has now been declared off, but postponed to some time in the early part of next year.

Nevertheless, few sporting men believe that it will ever take place. Those who have competed in both say the torture a day and night walk is far greater than that of a continuous five-day race. If this is so, it is thought that public opinion will be too strongly opposed to the match to allow the promoters to conduct it.

A. A. U.'s Individual Membership. Applications for individual membership are being received daily by Secretary J. E. Sullivan, of the A. A. U. All those interested in either any way see anxious to have their names enrolled on the A. A. U. membership list. This scheme of the A. A. U. is very similar to the U. S. W. R. C. which each member a card is issued, which entitles the holder to all the privileges of membership, such as A. A. U. such as boxing and wrestling, track and field, fencing and gymnastics.

Basketball Team Disqualified. The Registration Committee of the A. A. U. yesterday disqualified the players of the Morris High School basketball team for playing an unregistered game with unregistered players.

Barrios' Widow in San Francisco. San Francisco, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Helena de Rayne Barrios, widow of the late President of Guatemala, arrived to-day with two children from Central America on the Panama. She will probably reside here.

WILL THE MAGNATES HELP BASEBALL?

Three of the Leading Baseball Magnates.

To-day They Begin Their Annual Freedman to Make John B. Day Session, and Important Matters Manager, and Get Rid of Rusie, Meekin and Gleason.

THE annual meeting of the National League of Baseball Clubs begins to-day, and all matters concerning the future of the various organizations will be fully discussed.

The affairs of the New York team have been placed in the hands of Conant and Soden, the Boston magnates. President Andrew Freedman will not be on hand to look out for the welfare of his club. Messrs. Conant and Soden have shown in the past that they are fully capable of looking after their own. Whether they will do so well for the metropolitan organization remains to be seen. At any rate the affairs of the New York club are in good hands. There are no more competent men in the baseball world than Conant and Soden.

Freedman has announced that John B. Day will next season be the manager of the Giants.

Amos Rusie and Joutett Meekin and Kid Gleason will be released. There will be no cliques in the New York club hereafter, says Freedman.

The future of professional baseball in America depends upon the result of the meeting. President Brush, of the Cincinnati club, who did so much last year to abolish muckerrism on the diamond, will be on hand to advocate further reforms. Professional baseball, the national game of America, which only a few years ago attracted thousands of enthusiasts to the fields in the different cities, can again be made alike profitable to its promoters and interesting to the lovers of the game. It all depends upon the action of the magnates. If stringent rules against rowdism and "kicking" are adopted, if weak teams are strengthened; if the powers of the umpires who are in charge of the details of the play are clearly defined, the base ball season of 1900 cannot help but be one of the most successful in the history of the game.

In many respects this meeting will be one of the most important ever held. There are many weighty questions to be decided and no one at present can tell what radical steps will be taken. Moves in the right direction are looked for, and it would be hard indeed for lovers of baseball to understand why the reforms so loudly called for by the public went unheeded if such should prove to be the case.

The exit of the trio named above from the New York team will be received with regrets. Rusie and Meekin are two of the greatest pitchers in the League. Gleason is one of the greatest infielders. What the home team will receive for the three remains to be seen. Gleason's departure will bring forth few tears from New Yorkers. Ever since the "Kid" has been a member of Freedman's aggregation something has always seemed to go wrong. Perhaps it has not a walk and his success has been at any rate trouble existed.

How Rusie refused to sign with Freedman a year ago is well known, but when he again entered the New York ranks he worked hard and faithfully for the club's interests. Neither he nor Meekin took part in the factional disturbances which did much to keep the New Yorks from ranking well in the list during the past season.

"Why is Doyle retained?" and "Joyce?" many of the enthusiasts ask. Why are these men retained and Meekin and Rusie traded off? Perhaps the meeting of the League will shed some light on this matter.

LIBERAL DOGS AT NEW ORLEANS.

He Shows the Best Billiards in the Amateur Tournament.

By Frank J. Bryan.

New Orleans, Dec. 12.—Four of the five races decided to-day were at a mile. Ordinarily a sameness of this sort would prove tedious, but the fact that it brought the starts in front of the stand atoned for the lack of variety. The day's results were decidedly costly to the local talent, but the Northerners, with but few exceptions, managed to increase their bank rolls, as Judge Magee, at 3 to 1, and Sister Fox, at 10 to 1, earned winning brackets.

Hardly a day passes now but what the newcomers capture a purse or two, yet it is the old story of false prices. Poolroom keepers in the North are made to suffer by this liberality, for the patrons of the metropolitan track are pretty good judges of form and are not letting these opportunities slip by.

When Molo was beaten by Gun Metal on Saturday nearly every one agreed that the defeat was due to Sheppard being outplayed by O'Connor. To-day Molo was up, and the change of riders brought the desired result, for the colt was well up from the start, and drawing away at the homestretch he won cleverly. O'Connell cut himself just as the flag fell and came home bleeding badly.

INJURY TO A POLO PLAYER.

New York beat Stamford at polo last night at the Grand Central Palace, the final score being 9 to 0. The visitors were made to realize that a cold wave was present for them in this usually warm town. In justice to the visitors it must be stated that they were handicapped by a novice goalkeeper. But for the inexperience of this youth the score would not have been so large against them.

The opening rush for the gutta percha was won by Cunningham. For a time McDonald, the green goal keeper, was rattled. His defense against the cold wave was in quiet succession. Schofield succeeded in picking the first ball in two minutes, and immediately afterward Purcell was struck by the hard rubber in the face. It was a terrific drive, and knocked out one of the player's front teeth. The game was stopped for a few minutes when the plucky expert continued. With a broken thumb from a previous game and a very sore mouth, he played as fast as ever.

McCoy and Sharkey left town Saturday night to go on the road with their theatrical companies for one week. The Kid will show in the northern part of the State, while Sharkey will give exhibitions of the many art in Montreal. After this trip both dignities will go immediately to their training quarters and prepare for battle. McCoy will take up his quarters at New Dorp, S. I. He has ordered all the training materials to be sent from his old camp at Asbury Park, and everything will be in readiness when the Kid returns. Sharkey has decided to try city training for a change, and will do his work at the Lenox Athletic Club. He will use the Park for his outdoor exercises.

The star attraction at the Lenox Athletic Club to-night will be a twenty-round go-between Jack Bonner, of Philadelphia, and George Beyers, of Boston. The fact that the winner will be matched to fight Tommy Ryan, of Syracuse, for the middle weight championship makes to-night's contest of much interest to the sporting fraternity. Bonner and Beyers are clever boxers, and next in line to Ryan for the honors.

There will be but one preliminary bout.
