

WOMEN GOES BACK TO THE STORM

With Her Child in Her Arms Mrs. T. C. Winter Leaped from a Burning House.

FIVE FIREMEN OVERCOME Long Island City Sustains Heavy Loss by the Destruction of Ten Buildings—Blaze on Bowery.

"If this snow continues, God help us, for we can do nothing." In these words Hugh Bonner, Chief of the Fire Department of New York City, last night expressed the paralyzed condition of the department and his fear of the holocaust that may be meted out to this city.

The streets are well-nigh impassable. The firemen are long delayed in reaching their destination. Already their endurance is taxed almost to the limit. Even the horses can stand but little more. The unparalleled record of the past four days—more than one hundred and fifty alarms, where usually there would be less than one-third that number—and the severe weather, have put upon the firemen a strain that few can realize. The situation becomes hourly more perilous.

There were many alarms yesterday. Fortunately only one fire was serious. It was at the corner of Broome street and the Bowery, and after hours of fierce fighting, Chief Bonner and his men got it under control.

JUMPED WITH CHILD FOR THEIR LIVES.

The entirely destroyed the home of Mrs. Larchmont, early yesterday morning. Both are actresses. Five women in the house at the time escaped being burned to death by jumping in the snow from the second story of the doomed building.

Mrs. C. Winter, a daughter-in-law of W. W. Winter, the dramatic critic, leaped into a snow bank with her eight-month-old child in her arms. Neither mother nor child was injured by the fall, though both are suffering from the exposure.

The house was one of the pretty villas at Manhattan on the Strand. It was owned by Mrs. Winter. The child was the daughter of the late Mrs. Winter, who played in "The Moth and the Flame."

Visiting the actresses last night were Mrs. Winter, Miss Annie Worth, of Chicago, and Miss Lowell's aunts, Mrs. William Anderson and Mrs. Stewart. Also in the house was a small boy, who cared for it, Jerry Cunningham.

Miss Lowell's awakened shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning by the smell of smoke. As she descended the stairs she saw flames breaking from the ceiling. She immediately ran back, crying the alarm and waking the other occupants of her home.

Before all were awake the flames had crept up the stairway and were gaining the second floor. There was no time for Mrs. Winter to get to her feet. She was clad in night gowns, rushed to the windows. Below the snow had piled up in deep drifts against the house.

Mrs. Winter tried to jump. She had, at the first cry, grasped her baby and, covering it with a rug, she leaped into the snow below. The child was not hurt, but the waist in the drift, but, holding the child aloft, she struggled free and called upon the others to follow.

The women had gathered at different windows. When they heard Mrs. Winter's shout that she was safe they jumped. Some were injured by the fall, but Mrs. Abbott is dangerously ill from exposure. She is at the home of Mrs. Mary Lockwood.

The Larchmont Volunteer Fire Company turned out, but the storm prevented them from getting to the scene. The fire was under control by the fire department.

The fire, it is thought, started from an overheated furnace in the kitchen. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

FIVE DROP WHILE FIGHTING THE FLAMES.

Public School No. 29, in Danforth avenue, between Ocean avenue and the Old Bergen road, Greenville, Jersey City, and nearby residences and factories were burned yesterday. The following firemen succumbed to the cold and smoke:

- ALMARE, CHARLES, foreman Engine Company No. 32.
BISCHOFF, FRED, stoker.
EICK, GEORGE, foreman Truck Company No. 1.
HOGAN, JOHN, battalion chief of No. 10.
VOIGT, CHARLES, driver.

NO CHINESE INVASION OF HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Senate Prodded Upon That Point by Its Committee on Immigration.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The Senate Committee on Immigration to-day reported back to the Senate the bill extending the anti-contract labor laws of the United States to Hawaii, with amendments making the bill cover all immigration questions, and especially including the Chinese exclusion acts.

KILLED A CHILD WHILE CLEANING A REVOLVER.

Philip Fink's Seven-Year-Old Daughter Escaped Death by Drowning Only to Be Shot.

Albany, Feb. 13.—Christopher Pitzer, who lives just outside the village of Ravena, a suburb of Albany, was standing in front of his home this morning cleaning a revolver. In some way it was discharged, and the bullet struck the seven-year-old daughter of Philip Fink, who was sitting on the ground near the door.

TWO WOMEN RESCUED FROM A RESTAURANT.

Two women had a narrow escape from being burned to death early yesterday morning in their apartment in the rear of Nos. 404 and 406 West Fourteenth street, during a fire which started in the adjoining building. One of the women was found unconscious in the building by police.

are separated only by wooden partitions. Every doorway was blocked by the smell of smoke, forced in the door of Mrs. Lawson's apartments and aroused her and Mrs. Pinky. He attempted to persuade the women of their danger, but they would not pay any attention to his warning, and he ran to the street to give the alarm. When he tried to re-enter the restaurant, he was prevented by smoke and flames, which had already burst with great fury through the doorway.

MANY MADE HOMELESS IN LONG ISLAND CITY.

While the blizzard raged early yesterday Long Island City was visited by a disaster fire. It started at 2:30 o'clock in the morning and blazed until 6. The total loss is estimated at $200,000.

The fire started in a two-story frame building, No. 36 Hancock avenue, occupied as a cooperage by Michael Coleman, from an unknown cause. The flames spread until ten buildings were on fire. Three horses and two mules belonging to John Murphy were burned to death.

SCANNELL AT HIS POST NIGHT AND DAY.

Fire Commissioner Scannell remained at his night quarters, corner of Forty-seventh street and Broadway, during the blizzard. He was in communication with every part of the Fire Department, received all the alarms and gave directions for the protection of the city in case of large fires, and also looked after the comfort of the firemen who were thoroughly exhausted.

BABY FELL AGAINST OVERHEATED STOVE.

Donata Baldono, three years old, daughter of Salvatore Baldono, of No. 210 Thompson street, was burned about the face and body yesterday at her home. Her mother had made a fire which heated the stove to redness. The child ran to the stove, fell against it and she fell on the floor screaming. Her father threw a rug around her body and succeeded in putting out the flames, but not before the child was fully burned.

HORSES WERE SAVED BUT THE BARN BURNED.

Firemen had a hard time yesterday afternoon fighting a two-arm fire in a wooden office building and big frame stable, at One Hudson and Thirty-seventh street, and Madison avenue, owned by Barr & Kohn, ironmen. Forty horses were kept in the stable. The horses were got out safely, but the building was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

FIREMEN KEPT BACK BY THE SNOW.

Three cottages, on the New York Post road, owned by William Helia, Edward Roberts and Mrs. John Schaefer, of Tarrytown, were totally destroyed by fire early yesterday. The flames broke out at 2:30 o'clock morning and, having made the contractor flame utterly unable to cope with the flames, the loss is about $9,000.

THIS HOUSE HAS A FIRE RECORD.

A fire started yesterday morning on the first floor of the five-story brick store, dwelling at No. 51 West Fifty-fifth street, occupied by William N. Albert.

NEW YORK INSURANCE COMPANIES SUFFERED.

Governor of Nebraska Asks for Investigation of the State Auditor.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 13.—The Governor will present a message to the Legislature to-morrow asking for an investigation of the State Auditor's department. It is rumored that he has already asked that official to resign.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES HAVE BEEN FILED BY INSURANCE COMMISSIONER LICHTY.

The charge is also made that the Auditor has refused to enforce the "reciprocal feature" of the insurance law, and that there is in the State an Eastern company occupying nearly half a million dollars, which he refuses to collect.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS PARTY.

"I have striven to keep every promise I made before election. My one aim has been to hold together the members of the Republican party. I have had them bound together by the ties of friendship and loyalty. I have maintained for months that we must not take the political game seriously."

THE MENTION OF WAR HEROES' NAMES GREETED WITH OUTBURSTS OF APPLAUSE.

Senator-elect Chauncey M. Depew produced a sensation at the Lincoln Day dinner at the Republican Club last night by entering with Major General Nelson A. Miles, Admiral Winfield Scott Schley and Governor Theodore Roosevelt, introducing them as three strong possibilities for the Presidency in 1900.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB.

"You are probably aware that there are more Presidential candidates within these walls than have ever been gathered here before, or that will ever be gathered here again, at least for many years to come. And yet every one of them has a fair chance of success. That, together with the fact of the progress of the New Woman and the fact that the nation is in a state of transition, can hope to win without the support of the New Woman, has determined us all to come and see you."

CHEERS FOR DEWEY AT THE REPUBLICAN CLUB.

The ladies had almost finished their feast in a room just off the big banquet hall when the Senator-elect led in Governor Theodore Roosevelt, General Nelson A. Miles and Admiral Winfield S. Schley. His coming out was greeted with a waving of handkerchiefs and clapping of hands, but when the ladies ascended to the gallery and heard Depew mention the name of Admiral George Dewey, there was such a demonstration as made Depew, Miles, Roosevelt and Schley look embarrassed.
