Manila, Feb. 25.—The condition of affairs is quiet, and everything is progressing favorably.

LURID STORY BY THE LONDON FILIPINO JUNTA.

We Have Been Soundly Thrashed, According to This Report, and Manila is to Come Down.

Special Cable to the Journal.

(Copyright, 1899, by the New York Journal and Advertiser.)

London, Feb. 25.—The Filipino Junta in London has issued its version of the recent fighting in Manila.

It says that the Americans purchased the principal houses, cafes and warehouses along Escolta street, and the insurgents set them on fire.

The Junta further declares that the Americans were cursed and execrated by the whole population.

Against Police Bills.

Despite the adoption by the Republican County Committee of a resolution "requesting" Republican members of the Legislature to support the Roosevelt Police Bills, seven of the eight Manhattan members of the Assembly from Manhattan either publicly or privately announced their intention yesterday to oppose them.

They have received offers of help from Kings and other counties and say they have enough votes to defeat them, or at least to force such amendments as shall make them acceptable to the machine.

It looked last night as though the revolt in the Assembly against the Police Bills was a foregone conclusion.

Might Have Been Defeated.

The action of the County Committee last night," said Mr. Bulkeley earnestly, "was a piece of business which I do not take seriously.

It was a mistake to have fought the resolution had I regarded it seriously.

FOUR PERISHED ON THIS BARK.

Nine Survivors of the Barbara Luigi Here on the Ward Liner Seneca.

Nine survivors—including Captain Scott—of the wrecked Italian bark Barbara Luigi, limped painfully ashore yesterday from the Ward liner Seneca, which had brought them here from Nassau.

The Barbara Luigi, a vessel of 1,064 tons and twenty years old, was bound from Pensacola, Fla., for Genoa, with a general cargo.

She was passing a light off the Little Bahama Banks on the afternoon of February 12 when a gale from the north-east suddenly struck her and drove her rapidly toward the shore.

The ship was so far off the mark that she was unable to get out to sea, and she was ordered to shorten and the anchors down.

The anchor chains parted even as the sails came down, and the bark drifted ashore, bruised and bleeding from contact with the sharp rocks.

The two lifeboats were launched, but they were smashed, and one of them with four men in it was broken in two days after the wreck.

The survivors were cared for by fishermen and sent to Nassau, where the Italian bark was towed to the pier.

They will be returned to their homes in Genoa.

GIRL SUICIDE'S COMPANION CAUGHT.

He Is Lewis H. Johnson and Says He Left Her at the Regent in Pique.

THEY HAD QUARRELLED.

The Girl Was Annie Gordan Gratzette, and They Were to Have Been Married.

The man who took the young woman to the Hotel Regent in Fulton street, Brooklyn, last Tuesday night and disappeared shortly before she was found dead in the room to which, as "Mrs. P. McDermott," she had been assigned, was arrested yesterday and held as a witness pending a further investigation.

His name is Lewis H. Johnson, and he lives at No. 244 West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, this city.

He was found by Detective Bernard Conkling at a drug store at Thirty-fifth street and Eighth avenue, where he is employed.

The detective, who had been unravelling the mystery surrounding the case, told Johnson that the young woman who had been found dead in the Brooklyn hotel was Miss Annie Gordan Gratzette, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Johnson, of No. 101 State street, Brooklyn, and asked the druggist to state what he knew about the circumstances of the tragedy.

Johnson admitted that he knew the Johnson family and had been a friend of Miss Gratzette, but denied emphatically that he had accompanied her to the Hotel Regent on the night of her death.

He was confronted by the clerk of the hotel, who positively identified him.

Then the druggist weakened and confessed that he had taken the young woman to the hotel, where they registered as husband and wife under an assumed name.

"I was jealous of her," said Johnson, "and we got into a quarrel. I was angry, and telling her I was going to leave her for good, put on my hat and walked out. It was between 8 and 10 o'clock when I went away."

He did not return. He refuses to say why he was so quiet about the case. All those connected with the case are natives of Barbadoes. Miss Gratzette was born there twenty-one years ago.

Her father was an officer in the British garrison at Bridgeton, Barbadoes. Her parents died when she was a child and she was adopted into the Johnson family. When they came to New York, about eighteen months ago, Lewis Johnson, who was infatuated with the young woman, followed them.

Even since his arrival he has been engaged at the Thirty-fifth street drug store.
