Crop Reports the Best of the Week Weakness of French Exchange an Overlooked Feature.

Wall Street, Saturday, June 12. The market was quiet to-day, speculators not desiring to make new ventures over Sunday.

The market was quiet to-day, speculators not desiring to make new ventures over Sunday. The usual evening of accounts customary on Saturday was responsible for slight fractional losses in a number of stocks, notably the Grangers.

The close was at a net loss of 1/4 per cent. Jersey Central closed a shade under the best price. There was no news except the feeling that closer relations would be established between all of the coal companies.

The crop reports were the best received this week, but attracted little attention, as traders were taking profits in the Granger stocks.

An important feature which was overlooked was the weakness of French exchange, which is due to an advance of sterling in Paris.

The increase of $1,500,000 in loans was regarded as favorable, but the long 2 per cent note was otherwise without interest. Following are the sales of stocks and the range of prices:

AUCTION SALES OF LOTS TO COME

Several Attractive Offerings of Unimproved Realty Billed for This Week at the Two Salesrooms.

If anything were needed to prove, in the face of the generally dull times, that real estate stands high and dry, the facts of the last week's market would furnish that proof.

June's first fortnight has made a far better showing than had been expected of it, and, what is more, there seems an indication that the latter fortnight will also bring forth unusual results.

While it must be admitted that trades figured conspicuously in the deals of the past week, they were not what is known as equity trades, but cut a figure in an actual cash market.
