

BELGIAN ARMORED CARS WHICH, DURING THE SIEGE OF ANTWERP, MADE FLYING ATTACKS ON THE GERMANS DAILY, WERE OBJECTS OF NEVER CEASING INTEREST TO THE POPULATION ON THEIR RETURN EACH AFTERNOON.

PORTABLE SOUP KITCHEN A RALLYING POINT FOR THE DEFENDERS OF ANTWERP AT ALL HOURS OF THE DAY. (Photos (C) by American Press Assn.)

ON THE ROAD TO ANTWERP. (Photos by Underwood & Underwood.)

THE CITY OF ALOST, BELGIUM IN FLAMES AFTER THE POPULATION HAD FLED. (Photo (C) by Weigle.)