

CONCEALED BATTERY, MANNED BY BRITISH MARINES, IN ACTION BEFORE ANTWERP

(Photo (C) by Underwood & Underwood.)

WOUNDED BELGIAN OFFICER, in Charge of an English Red Cross Nurse, Reaches Folkstone, England.

CROWDS CHEERING BRITISH TROOPS IN BELGIUM. (Photo from Underwood & Underwood)

"DINKS," MASCOT OF THE BRITISH ROYAL ENGINEERS, Embarrassed by the Cigar Stumps and Other Unacceptable Gifts Showed on Him. (Photo (C) by American Press Assn.)

TOWN OF LIERRE, NEAR ANTWERP, IN FLAMES FROM THE CROSSFIRE OF THE DEFENDERS AND BESIEGERS.