

"THE BLIND LEADING THE BLIND."
British Soldiers, Blinded in Battle, Gropping Their Way Through the London Mansion Lent by an American Banker for Their Welfare During Convalescence.
(Photo © by International News Service.)

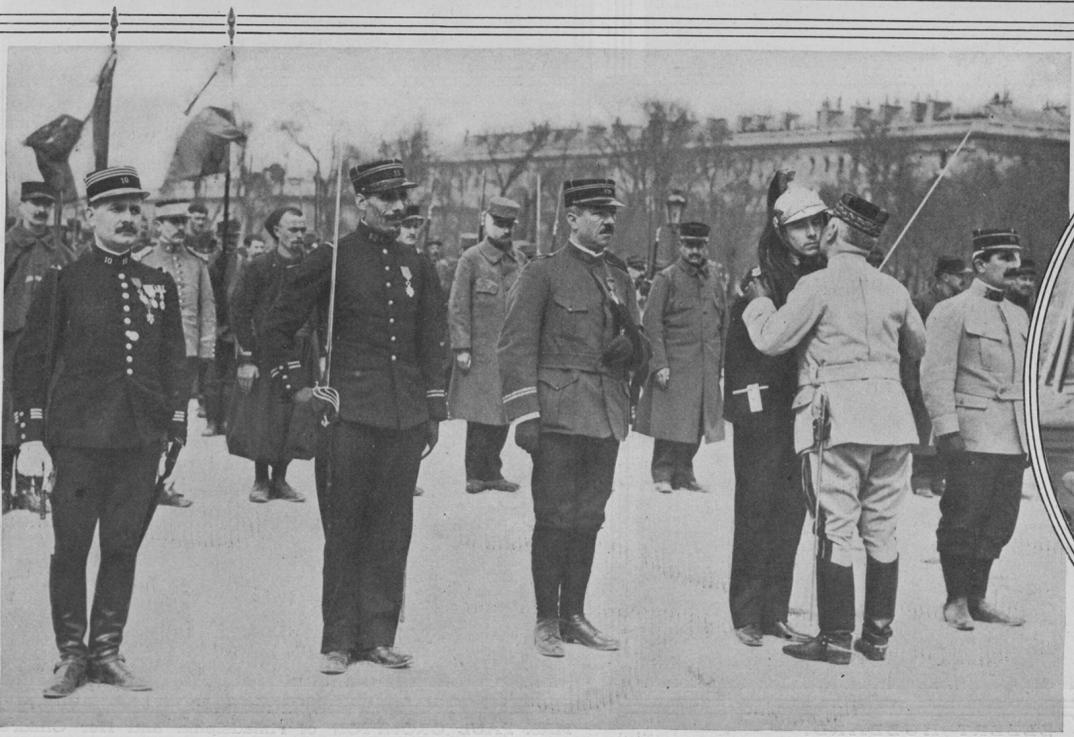

MR. ASQUITH, THE BRITISH PRIME MINISTER, PLEADING WITH THE TYNESIDE WORKERS AT NEWCASTLE FOR AN INCREASED OUTPUT OF WAR MUNITIONS.
(Photo © by American Press Assn.)

French Soldiers, Three of Whom Have Lost a Leg Each, Attending a Concert in the Palace at Versailles.
(Photos from Press Illustrating Co.)

WHEELS OF A HEAVY AUSTRIAN SIEGE GUN, USED IN THE CARPATHIANS, BEAR EVIDENCE OF THE NATURE OF THE ROADS OVER WHICH THEY HAVE PASSED

GEN. GALLOPIN, NEW MILITARY GOVERNOR OF PARIS, DECORATING WOUNDED OFFICERS BEFORE THE HOTEL DES INVALIDES. He Is Shown Kissing the Cheek of an Officer Who Has Lost an Arm.

GERMAN SOLDIERS USING THEIR SPARE MOMENTS IN QUARTERS TO REPAIR THEIR KITS.
(Photo from Photothek, Berlin.)