

GERMAN RIFLEMEN, AS FAR AS THE EYE CAN SEE, ARE SHOWN ADVANCING THROUGH THE MUD ON THE GALICIAN FRONTIER.

(Photos from Paul Thompson.)

GERMAN SHARPSHOOTERS AT THEIR WORK BY MOONLIGHT.

BRITISH TROOPS LEAVING THE S. S. NILE FOR THE ALLIES' LANDING BEACH ON THE DARDANELLES.

(Photo © American Press Assn.)

(Photo by Photothek.)

BRITISH GIRL "GUIDE" ON THE LOOKOUT FOR HOSTILE AIRCRAFT. She and scores of her comrades all over England have volunteered to be the eyes of Britain since the Zeppelin raids became so frequent.

BELGIANS IN NORTHERN FRANCE CHARGING FROM A THICKET ON GERMAN TROOPS WHO HAD BEEN KEEPING THEM UNDER FIRE.

(Photo © Underwood & Underwood.)