

GENERAL COUSIN DECORATING WOUNDED FRENCH SOLDIERS AT THE INVALIDES, PARIS, AND, ACCORDING TO FRENCH CUSTOM, KISSING EACH HONORED MAN ON BOTH CHEEKS.
(Photo by Medem Photo Service.)

ITALIAN PATROL ALONG A RAILWAY SEARCHING AN AUSTRIAN CIVILIAN SUSPECT.

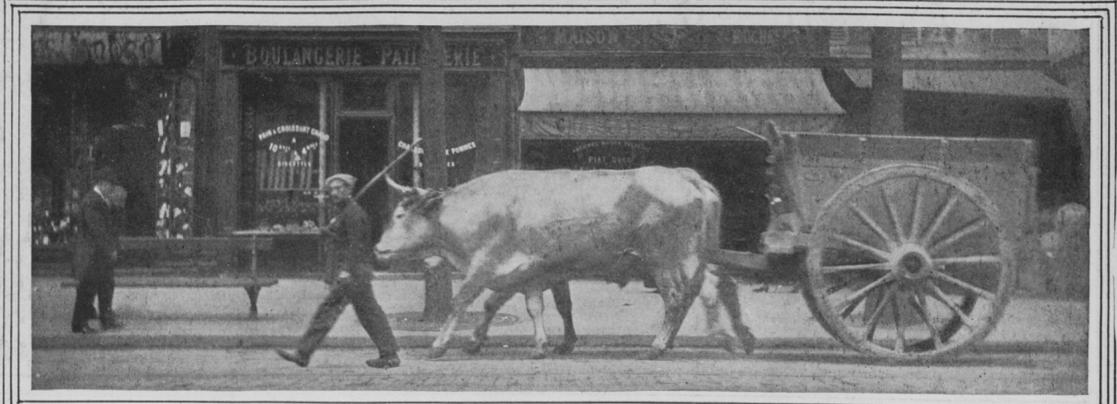

Belgian Refugees in Paris Live and Seek Diversion in Little Communities, According to the Belgian Towns From Which They Came. This Little Eddy Is Collected from Near Brussels.

Signor Guglielmo Marconi (Right), Now Head of the Wireless Department of the Italian Army, Leaving Army Headquarters for a Tour of Inspection.
(Photo © Underwood & Underwood.)

Sir Thomas Lipton Eside the Grave of Dr. James Donnelly of New York City, Who Gave His Life Nursing the Typhus-Stricken People of Serbia. With Sir Thomas Is One of Dr. Donnelly's Former Associates.
(Photo © International News Service.)

EVERYWHERE IN THE STREETS OF PARIS OXEN HAVE REPLACED HORSES, REQUISITIONED FOR THE FRENCH ARMIES.