The Curtis Portable Lamp

This wonderful lamp is accepted by the critical as the most attractive and successful illuminating device ever created.

Reception Room, Library or Boudoir. Ideal Lighting for Living Room.

It has bulbs for lighting the shade, as they are employed in the ordinary art lamp, and can, by the simple pulling of a switch, be converted into a powerful indirect light which is reflected from the ceiling, flooding the entire room with a mellow glow.

A powerful X-Ray Reflector, concealed by the decorative shade, causes the full light, when it is turned on, to be thrown upward, so that the effect of sunlight, without glare or shadows, is secured. The effect is marvelously pleasing and comforting to the eyes.

A visit to our studio will prove most interesting. We have an attractive exhibit of fixtures suitable for scientific indirect lighting with X-Ray Reflectors.

—Where discriminating taste is a dominating factor—due regard will always be given to the value of decoration and ornamentation as applied to lighting fixtures. The fixture here shown, a true example of the art of the Brothers Adams, will harmonize delightfully with the decorative scheme of any tastefully appointed living room or library.

Finished in Etruscan Gold, with a spread of 20 inches, length 30 inches, fully wired all ready for hanging. Its price of twenty-five dollars will appeal to those who know real value.

FRANKLIN STEAM RADIATORS USING GAS FOR FUEL

NEEDS NO CARE or attention—the automatic control valve takes care of this important feature.

WHILE IN OPERATION it generates a steam pressure of five pounds, equal to 228 degrees F., within the radiator—this pressure cuts down the gas supply and allows only sufficient gas to flow into the burner to keep above pressure constant.

THINK OF THE SAVING in your gas bills—this warrants your investigation.

BY INSTALLING the FRANKLIN in homes, apartments, offices, stores, schools, garages, they will pay for themselves—you readily understand the possibility.

AS AN auxiliary they are unsurpassed. For an entire system there is no comparison.

MADE BY THE FRANKLIN COMPANY, Canton, Ohio. Distributed in all large cities.
