

MILITARY SEARCHLIGHT PLAYING ON A ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP OVER HENDON, LONDON, DURING THE GREAT NIGHT RAID IN OCTOBER ON THE BRITISH METROPOLIS. SHELLS FROM THE LONDON ZEPPELIN DEFENSE BATTERIES CAN BE SEEN BURSTING BENEATH THE GREAT RAIDER, FALLING FAR SHORT OF THEIR MARK. In the left foreground a light can be seen shining through a window in the keeper's lodge at the entrance of the Golder's Green Cemetery of Hendon. This remarkable photograph, just received, is believed to be the only one which has been allowed to reach this country showing the ineffectual fire from the London defenses on these terrifying dragon flies of war.
