

BRITISH TROOPS AND CAVALRY AND TRANSPORT HORSES MOBILIZED ON THE SHORES OF SUVLA BAY, DARDANELLES. From a British official photograph taken just before the allied forces were entirely withdrawn from this position.
(Photos from American Press Assn.)

Dr. Alexis Carrel (Third from Left), of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Who Offered His Services to the French Government at the Beginning of the War, Conducting a Swiss Official Commission on an Inspection Tour Over the French Lines in the Vosges.
(Photo © by Madem Photo Service.)

MISS ANNETTE TILFORD, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Tilford, Skating on the Lake at Tuxedo Park, N. Y.
(Photo by Edwin Levick.)

LORD KITCHENER, THE BRITISH MINISTER OF WAR, GOING THROUGH THE TRENCHES IN THE DARDANELLES, AT TIMES PASSING WITHIN A FEW YARDS OF THE TURKISH LINES.

PRINCE HUMBERT, HEIR TO THE ITALIAN Throne, visits the Villa Borghese to distribute personally to the nearest relatives of Italian soldiers killed in action medals awarded for special gallantry.