

RUINS OF THE FRENCH TOWN OF ALBERT, Which Has Been Between the Almost Unceasing Crossfire of French and German Artillery for More Than a Year, as Seen from an Aeroplane. A Metal Rod of the Air Craft Can be Seen in the Foreground.
(Photos © by Underwood & Underwood.)

"THE NORTH SEA REVUE."
Mary and the Captain of "H. M. S. Myth," Impersonated by Two of Admiral Jellicoe's Sailors, in a Scene From the Fleet's Own "Follies of 1916."

Wounded Italian Soldier Begs A Light From His Red Cross Friend.

ITALIAN SOLDIERS TRYING OUT A HUGE NEW MACHINE GUN FOR BOMBS INSTEAD OF BULLETS, WHICH FIRES TWELVE LARGE SHELLS SIMULTANEOUSLY.
(Photo from Medem Photo Service.)

ITALIAN SHARPSHOOTERS ASCENDING A MOUNTAIN ON THE AUSTRIAN FRONTIER.
(Photos © American Press Assn.)