

WARFARE AMONG THE CLOUDS IN MONTENEGRO.
 A supply train of the Austro-German army of invasion pressing forward on a narrow mountain pass while a file of Montenegrin prisoners moves to the rear.

(Photo from Int. F. S.)

King Peter of Serbia, Assisted by Two of His Officers and Accompanied in His Flight by His Daughter, Princess Helen, and Members of His Court, Crossing the Ancient Dizir Bridge Over the Drina River on Foot, the Party Fearing to Ride Their Horses Over the Slippery, Snow-Covered Roadway.

General Joffre, Accompanied by His Staff, Making an Inspection Trip Through a Recently Reconquered Section of Alsace.

FIELD MARSHAL PUTNIK, THE AGED SERBIAN COMMANDER, No Longer Able to Walk, in Flight from His Country, Borne by His Soldiers Over the Albanian Mountains Toward Montenegro in a Sedan-like Box.

BRANCHES OF SPRUCE AND CEDAR LAID ALONG A MUDDY ROAD FOR ARCHDUKE FREDERICK OF AUSTRIA AND STAFF TO WALK UPON WHILE INSPECTING THE BUDAPEST HONVED REGIMENT IN EAST GALICIA. (Photo from Press Illustrating Co.)