

NEW AUSTRALIAN TROOPS,

Destined for Service in Europe, Trained from the First to Become Used to Mine Explosions Near Them.

Men Are Shown Acting with

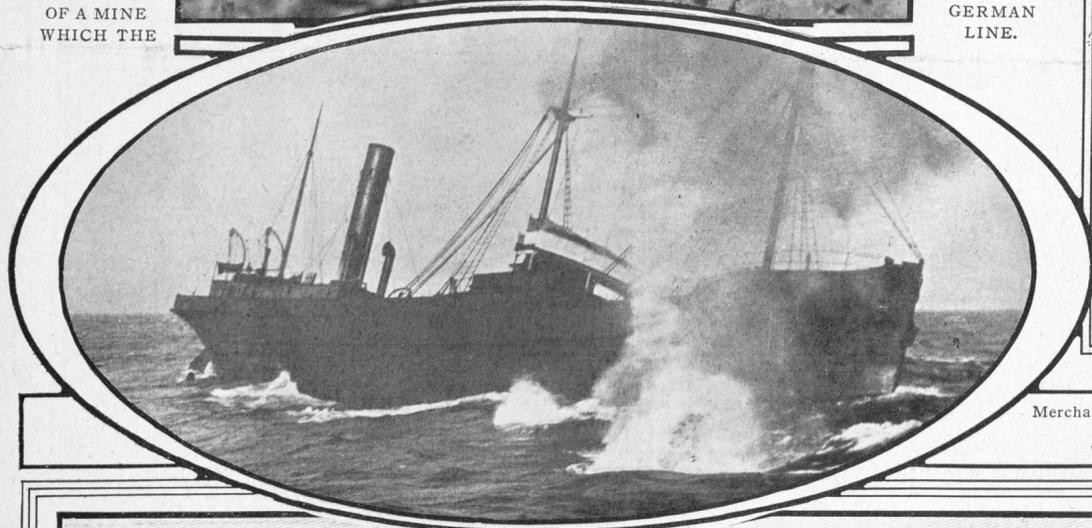

Little Concern When a Mine Is Suddenly Detonated Behind Them.

(Photo from Underwood & Underwood.)

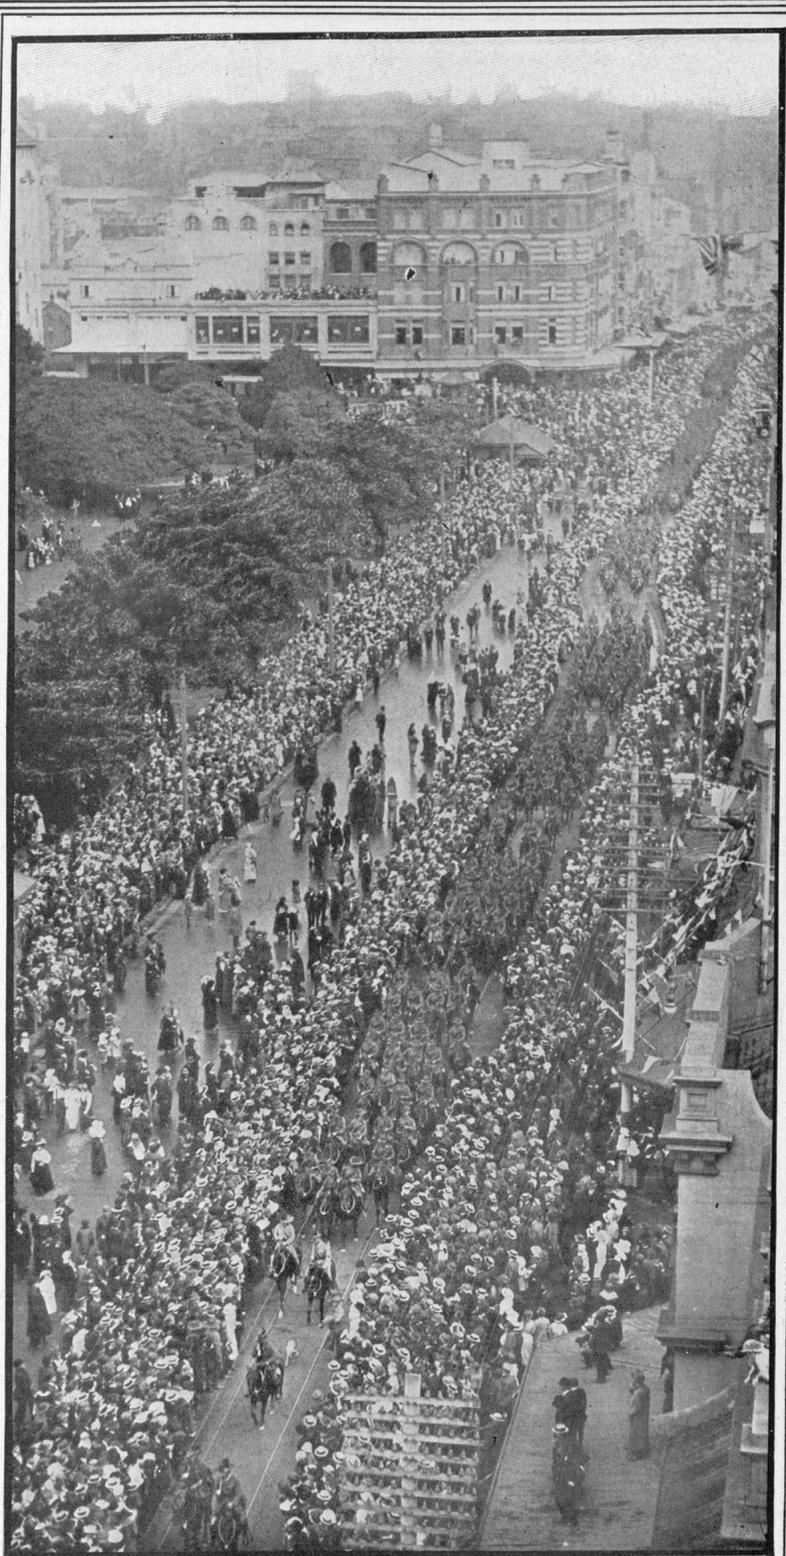

VIEW OF A GERMAN TRENCH IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE EXPLOSION OF A MINE WHICH THE

FRENCH HAD CONVEYED BY TUNNEL TO A POINT UNDER THE GERMAN LINE.

Merchant Vessel in the North Sea Struck by Shells Fired by a German Submarine. (Photo by Berliner Illustrations-Gesellschaft.)

AUSTRALIAN MOUNTED INFANTRY ON THEIR FINAL PARADE THROUGH THE STREETS OF SYDNEY, N. S. W., BEFORE THEIR RECENT DEPARTURE FOR THE WAR IN EUROPE.

FRENCH TROOPS, RELIEVED FOR REST AFTER MANY DAYS OF SERVICE IN DEFENSE OF VERDUN, GREETED WITH MUSIC AND CHEERS, THEIR COMMANDER IN CHIEF, GEN. JOFFRE, AND STAFF LOOKING ON. (Photos from Underwood & Underwood.)