THIS is the flower, the pale blue bloom of the plant that man has cultivated for centuries because it gives us linen. In the inscriptions on the famous Rosetta stone (about 250 B. C.) it is recorded that Ptolemy Epiphanes had special regard for the fine linen cloths manufactured in the Temple for the king's palace. Linen was as valuable a commodity then as it is now, but the ancients could not afford to use it on their floors as Klearflax Rugs permit you to do with economy.

Before replacing your old rugs this fall, be sure that you have seen

Klearflax LINEN RUGS

THEY are new—and they let you have linen on your floors, but of course in a distinctly new form. Years were consumed before strands of the flax plant were successfully woven into a thick, staunch, heavy rug with many times the durability of most linen fabrics and with an artistic virtue all their own. They are reversible, moth-proof, won't wrinkle and are easily cleaned. Ask tomorrow at the rug department of any of the leading stores to see how beautifully their wide range of solid colors sets off your draperies, furniture, and wall coverings.

VAN RAALTE

Veils

Made in U. S. A. At All Good Shops
 The "Crest"

WE introduce Van Raalte's latest veil creation—the "Crest"—a veil that beautifies the hat as well as the face. The hat part of the "Crest" carries a beautiful design done in gold, silver, or colors which lend a becoming attractiveness to the hat. The part that comes over the face carries a variety of stylish designs, which in no way interferes with the vision.

Write for style book, "Veils," showing latest Van Raalte creations. Address Dept. J.

Look for the little white ticket on every yard.
