

BRITISH TROOP TRANSPORT, TORPEDOED IN THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN, IS SHOWN BREAKING UP AND SINKING ON A ROCKY SHORE ON WHICH HER COMMANDER HAD RUN HER.

Scores of Soldiers and Members of the Ship's Crew Can Be Seen Struggling in the Water or Else Clambering Down on Lines to the Rocks. An Overturned Lifeboat Is Suspended Between Ship and Water.

(From London Daily Mirror, © International Film Service.)

FRENCH SOLDIERS PLAYING A RUBBER A SHORT DISTANCE BEHIND THE FRONT, HAVING FIRST DONNED GAS MASKS AS A PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)

CORNER IN A LONDON HOSPITAL SHOWING TWO LITTLE VICTIMS OF A RECENT GERMAN AIR RAID ON THE ENGLISH METROPOLIS.

(American Press Assn.)

MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM L. SIBERT, A Native of Alabama, Who Is in Command of the First American Army Camp Behind the French Front.

(© Chlednat, from Underwood & Underwood.)

AMERICAN AND FRENCH FLIERS ON THE FRENCH FRONT ASSEMBLED TO RECEIVE GOLD MEDALS.

In the Group, First Row, Left to Right, Are: Lieutenant Albert Deullin, Alfred Heurtaux, Captain Georges Guynemer, Sub. Lieut. Carascon, Captain Andre Wateau, Lieutenant William Thaw; Second Row, Sergeant Walter Lovelle, Adjutant Lufberry, Sergeant Johnson, Sergeant Willis Hadelow, Captain Georges Chenault, Sergeant Harold Willis, Lieutenant Henri Languedoc, Lieutenant M. Courtay, and Lieutenant Hector Varenin.

REAR ADMIRAL ALBERT GLEAVES, U.S.N., Who Commanded the Naval Convoys Which Successfully Guarded on the High Seas the First American Army Sent to France.

From a Recent Photograph, Regarded by His Family as Excellent.

ALEXANDER KERENSKY, RUSSIAN MINISTER OF WAR, WHO LED THE RECENT VICTORIOUS RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE IN GALICIA.

From a New Photograph, Just Received in This Country, Which Shows M. Kerensky's Right Arm in a Sling. As Far as Known, No Dispatches Announcing That He Had Been Wounded Have Reached This Country. (© U. & U.)

MAJOR GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING, AMERICAN COMMANDER IN FRANCE, AND STAFF, AS GUESTS OF MARSHAL AND MME. JOFFRE IN PARIS. Behind Mme. Joffre Is General Pelletier, Representing the French Army on General Pershing's Staff, and on Marshal Joffre's Left Are General Dubail and Little Son.

(Kendel & Herbert.)