

NEW YORK SAYS GOOD-BYE TO THE SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT, ON ITS FAREWELL MARCH DOWN FIFTH AVENUE TO BOARD TRAINS IN JERSEY CITY FOR CAMP WADSWORTH, SPARTANBURG, S. C.
(Times Photo Service.)

ERNEST VAN R. STIRES,
Of the American Field Ambulance Service,
"Somewhere in France."
Mr. Stires, Son of the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, Rector of St. Thomas's Church, and Mrs. Stires, Volunteered in the American Ambulance Service When Eighteen Years Old, and Was Slightly Wounded in the Battle of the Aisne.
(Atman & Company.)

COLONEL WILLIAM G. BATES,
Commander of the Seventy-first Regiment, at the Head of His Men on Their Farewell March Down Fifth Avenue.
(© International Film Service.)

ALEXANDER KERENSKY, RUSSIAN PRIME MINISTER, VISITING THE RUSSIAN FRONT TO ENCOURAGE AND STIMULATE HIS MEN. He Is Shown Seated Among Them, and, with Finger Raised, Joking with One of Them.
(Central News Photo Service.)

(Press Illustrating Service.)

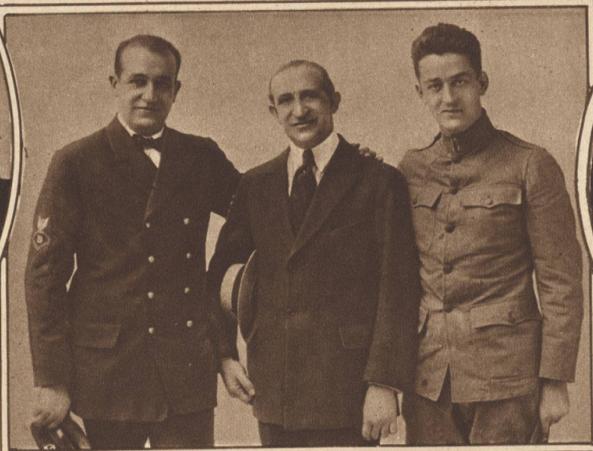

MRS. CHARLES P. TAFT,
Formerly Miss Eleanor Kellogg Chase, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Chase, Who Was Married Yesterday to the Younger Son of Former President and Mrs. Wm. Howard Taft.

ROOKIES, MANY NOT YET IN UNIFORM, AT THE HEAD OF THE TWENTY-THIRD REGIMENT ON ITS FINAL PARADE DOWN FIFTH AVENUE BEFORE ENTRAINING FOR CAMP WADSWORTH, SPARTANBURG, S. C.

BRITISH SOLDIER ON AN ARMORED CAR, ONE OF A BRITISH SQUADRON WHICH HAS SEEN SERVICE FOR MONTHS ON THE RUSSIAN FRONT, FEEDING NEESTA, THE SQUADRON'S MASCOT.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

LEW FIELDS, THE COMEDIAN, AND HIS TWO SOLDIER SONS. On the Left Is Joseph Fields, of the U. S. Naval Reserves, and, on the Right, His Foster-son, Herbert Harris, of the "Rainbow Division," in Training at Camp Mills.
(White Studio.)

MRS. JAMES F. CURTIS,
In the Women's Liberty Bond Drive, Attaching One of the Posters to a Passing Automobile.
(Times Photo Service.)