Bossert Houses Aid in Solving the Labor Problem

Bossert Houses have solved the labor-housing problem for some of the largest and most successful business organizations of the country. These companies availed themselves of the many important advantages offered by the Bossert method of construction—the economies it makes possible, the better quality of material and workmanship it insures, the time and trouble in erecting that it saves. The for workmen were built at our gigantic plant and sent to them in sections, so that unskilled workmen were able to assemble the parts quickly and easily.

The Bossert method turns the labor-housing problem into a simple matter. You are relieved of all bother and expense of plans, the engaging of contractors, and the hundred and one other things that demand attention when buildings are erected in the costly hand-labor way.
And Bossert Houses for workmen save money. You could not possibly duplicate them yourself for the price we charge. This is because we specialize in building Bossert Houses for workmen—because we not only buy material in tremendous quantities, but have standardized the parts, thus minimizing the cost of production.
Bossert Houses can be had in barrack types for single men or in individual home types for workmen and their families.
Why not investigate the Bossert method—and learn for yourself its important advantages? Write us today for complete information.
