

New York
Pays Final
Tribute to
Major Mitchel,
Four Years
Her Mayor

THE BODY OF MAJOR JOHN PURROY MITCHEL BORNE INTO THE CITY HALL. Where, in Its Classic Rotunda, It Lay in State All Through Last Wednesday Night and Until the Funeral, Thousands Passing the Bier in Deep Respect. (Times Photo Service.)

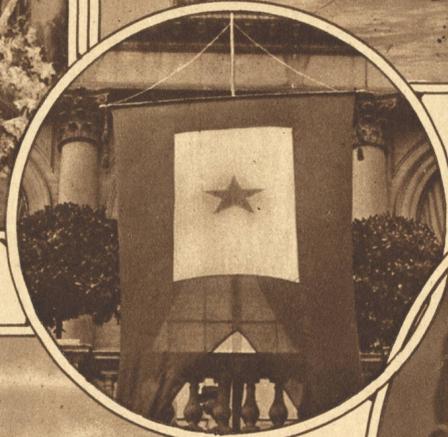

MAJOR MITCHEL, U. S. R.
From a Photograph Taken in February, in the Last Week of His Life in New York. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

THE BODY OF MAJOR MITCHEL LYING IN STATE IN THE ROTUNDA OF THE CITY HALL. (Times Photo Service.)

THE BODY OF THE FORMER MAYOR OF NEW YORK REMOVED FROM THE HOME OF HIS MOTHER, MRS. JAMES MITCHEL, 447 WEST 162D STREET, TO BE CONVEYED TO THE CITY HALL. (Times Photo Service.)

THE CITY'S SERVICE FLAG, WITH ITS LONE STAR OF GOLD, FLYING ABOVE THE CITY HALL DOORWAY. (Times Photo Service.)

FLIGHT SERGEANT GINO GIANFELICE, Instructor of the Late Captain Resnati, and Ranking with the Best and Most Daring of Italian Birdmen, Who Was Killed in a "Nose Spin" on Last Monday at Mineola, L. I. Sergeant Gianfelice is Standing in His Machine, the Julius Caesar, with His Hand Resting on One of the Supports of the Car. (Underwood & Underwood.)

LIEUTENANTS RALPH A. O'NEILL AND TYLER COOK BRONSON, Respectively of Nogales, Ariz., and New York, Who, with Four Other American Aviators, Brought Down at One Time Six German Battleplanes of the Famous Richthofen Squadron. Lieutenant Bronson is a Son of Mrs. Melvin A. Bronson, Secretary of the National Aeronautic Committee. (Orren Jack Turner.)

(Ira Hill Studio.)