

SIGNOR G. CAPRONI OF THE CAPRONI BROTHERS, AIRPLANE INVENTORS, WITH AMERICAN, FRENCH AND ENGLISH AVIATION CHIEFS, AT AN INSPECTION OF CAPRONI MACHINES IN FRANCE. In the Group, Left to Right, Are: Lieut. Belloni, Italian Army; General Chesterfield, British Army; Signor Caproni, Capt. Laureati, Italian Army, and Lieut. McDonald, U. S. Naval Aviation Inspector in Europe.

(Publishers' Photo Service.)

AMERICAN SOLDIERS ON THE BRITISH FRONT

Studying a Map of the British Offensive Under the Instruction of a British Soldier Who Has Just Returned from the Fighting. In the Background is a Village of Niesen Bomb-Proof Huts in Which the Americans Live.

(International Film Service.)

BRIG. GEN. CRAWFORD, U. S. A., Commander of the Sixth Brigade, Third Division, U. S. Infantry, at His Headquarters in France.

(International Film Service.)

AMERICAN OFFICERS IN PARIS

BUYING SOUVENIR METAL RINGS FOR HOME CONSUMPTION.

(International Film Service.)

FRENCH REFUGEES IN THE PLACE DE LA CONCORDE, PARIS, ABOUT TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES ALONG THE SOMME, JUST RECAPTURED FROM THE GERMANS.

(International Film Service.)

GENERAL HUMBERT, Commander of the Third French Army, and Captor of Lassigny.

(International Film Service.)

GRAVE OF SERGT. JOYCE KILMER, Poet, and Former Member of The New York Times Sunday Staff, Near the Ourcq, Where He Fell, and Beside It, on the Left, the Grave of Lieut. Oliver Ames.