

BRITISH TROOPS LANDING IN VLADIVOSTOK TO JOIN THE CZECHOSLOVAKS AND ALLIED FORCES IN THE SIBERIAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE BOLSHEVIKI. (International Film Service.)

THE BRITISH SHIP QUEEN ADELAIDE, 7,500 Tons, Torpedoed in the Atlantic Eighty-five Miles West of the Hebrides, Off the Coast of Scotland, with the Loss of Three Lives, Awash from Stem to Stern, Just Before the Waves Closed in Over Her.

THE FINAL PLUNGE OF THE QUEEN ADELAIDE, THE LAST LIFEBOAT TO LEAVE THE SHIP NARROWLY ESCAPING.

ALLIED TROOPS, INCLUDING AMERICAN REGULARS, BRITISH MARINES, JAPANESE SAILORS AND SOLDIERS, AND CZECHOSLOVAKS, in Grand Review Before the Czechoslovak Headquarters in Vladivostok. (International Film Service.)

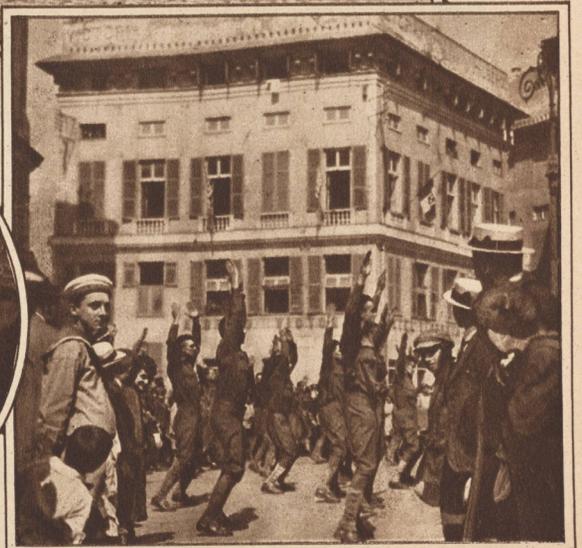

REMARKABLE PHOTOGRAPH OF A FLEET OF AMERICAN TROOPSHIPS, in Which Fourteen Transports Are Distinctly Visible, Passing Near the Coast of Brittany, France, on Their Way to a French Port, the Bathers Pausing to View the Long Line of Ships. (International Film Service.)

ARRIVAL OF THE FIRST AMERICAN TROOPS IN ITALY TO PARTICIPATE WITH THEIR ALLIES IN DRIVING THE AUSTRIANS FROM ITALIAN SOIL. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

FIRST AMERICANS IN ITALY "LIONIZING" ONE OF THE MANY LITTLE ITALIAN GIRLS WHO BROUGHT THEIR TRIBUTES OF FLOWERS.

AN AMERICAN REGIMENT IN FRONT OF THEIR HEADQUARTERS IN AN ITALIAN CITY TAKING THEIR MORNING SETTING-UP EXERCISES. (Photos Western Newspaper Union.)