

FIFTH AVENUE, NOW THE "AVENUE OF THE ALLIES," A-FLUTTER WITH THOUSANDS OF FLAGS OF THE NATIONS ARRAYED AGAINST THE TEUTONS.

While the Sixty-ninth Regiment and the United States Naval Reserves from the Pelham Bay Park Training Station Parade on the Opening Day of the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign.

(Times Photo Service.)

GERALDINE FARRAR,

Operatic Soprano, Selling the First Liberty Bond of the Washington City Campaign to William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury on the Portico of the United States Treasury Building.

(© Harris & Ewing, from Paul Thompson.)

GOVERNOR

WHITMAN

Signing a Check for $1,000 for the First Bond of the Fourth Liberty Loan in Liberty Hall at the North End of the Times Building, one Minute After Midnight on the Opening Day of the Campaign.

(Times Photo Service.)

MEMBERS OF THE BELGIUM MILITARY MISSION TO THE UNITED STATES MARCHING DOWN THE "AVENUE OF THE ALLIES" ON BELGIUM'S DAY OF THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN.

(Press Illustrating Service.)

VICE-PRESIDENT THOMAS R. MARSHALL SPEAKING FOR THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN FROM THE "ALTAR OF LIBERTY" IN MADISON SQUARE.

(Times Photo Service.)

MAJOR OSTERRICH, Of the Belgian Military Mission, Raising the Belgian Flag Before the "Altar of Liberty" on Belgium's Day. Standing at the Right With Heads Bared Are: Vice President Marshall of the United States and E. de Cartier de Marchienne, Belgian Minister to the United States.

(© Press Illustrating Service.)

(© Press Illustrating Service.)