

RESIDENTS OF MORGAN, N. J., IN FLIGHT ALONG THE ROAD TO PERTH AMBOY AND SAFETY FROM THE SERIES OF GREAT EXPLOSIONS Which Destroyed the $18,000,000 Shell-loading Plant of T. A. Gillespie & Company, with Ninety-four Persons Killed and Scores Injured. This and Accompanying Pictures Strongly Suggest the Flight of the People of Belgium and Northern France Before the On-rushing German Tide in the Early Days of the War
(Central News Service.)

A HOMELESS MOTHER AND HER FAMILY RECEIVING THEIR FIRST MEAL AFTER THEIR FLIGHT FROM MORGAN AT THE HANDS OF A SAILOR ON GUARD. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

BABY, Separated from its Parents in the Mad Rush for Safety in the First Hours of the Gillespie Plant Explosion, Undisturbed by Detonations of Tons of Explosives and by Skies Filled with Bursting Shells. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

CONVEYING SHELL-SHOCK VICTIMS TO AUTOMOBILES OF A NEW JERSEY UNIT OF THE WOMEN'S MOTOR CORPS TO BE CONVEYED TO HOSPITALS. (© International Film Service.)

BAYVIEW MANOR, ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL MANSIONS NEAR MORGAN, COMPLETELY WRECKED BY THE EXPLOSION. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

LARGE TREES, MILES FROM THE PLANT, THROWN DOWN BY THE EXPLOSION. (International Film Service.)

REFUGEES IN FLIGHT FROM THE VICINITY OF THE EXPLOSIONS AWAITING TRAINS AT PERTH AMBOY. (© International Film Service.)

GIRL OF A WOMEN'S MOTOR CORPS UNIT TAKING THE HOME ADDRESS OF A SHELL-SHOCK VICTIM OF THE MORGAN PLANT. (© Kadel & Herbert.)