

BATTERY AFTER BATTERY OF FRENCH "HEAVIES" PLACED IN SYSTEMATIC FORMATION UNDER THE PROTECTION OF SPLENDID TREES WHICH BORDER A HIGHWAY IN THE OISE SECTOR.

(French Pictorial Service.)

(Underwood & Underwood.)

CANADIAN MACHINE GUNNERS PLACING GERMAN WOUNDED, ABANDONED BY THEIR OWN COMRADES, IN A CANADIAN TRANSPORT WAGON WITHIN 500 YARDS OF THE ENEMY LINES.

BRITISH ROYAL AIR PILOTS

of a Night Bombing Squadron Furbishing Their Machine Guns and Pistols in the Squadron Armory Said to Be One of the Finest on the Western Front.

(International Film Service.)

KING ALPHONSO XIII OF SPAIN

Indulging in One of His Favorite Sports of "Pass" Shooting, Queen Victoria Eugenia Closely Observing the Effects of the Royal Marksmanship.

MEN OF A CANADIAN TRAMWAY CORPS, FOLLOWING UP THE GERMAN RETREAT, REPAIRING A RAILWAY DESTROYED BY THE FLEEING TEUTONS.

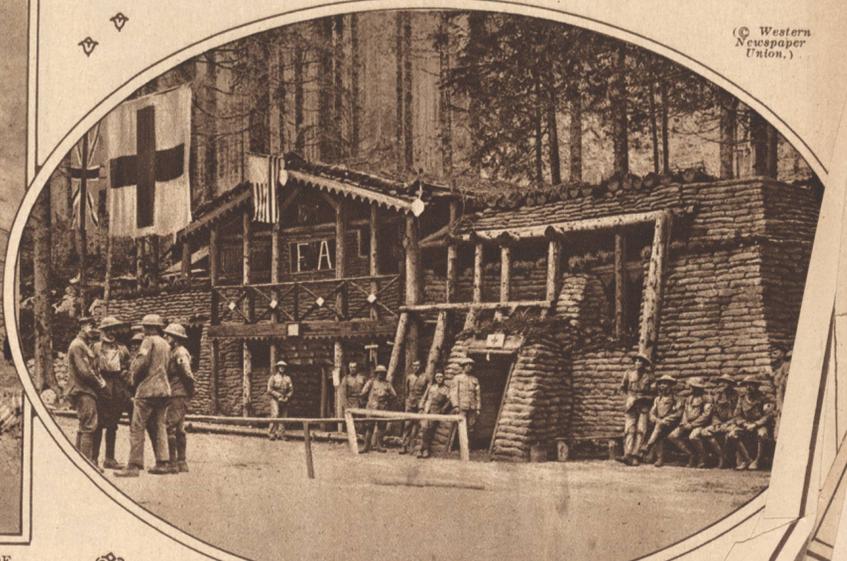

KING ALPHONSO XIII AND MEMBERS OF THE SPANISH COURT VIEWING THE KING'S BAG OF GROUSE AND OTHER GAME SHOT IN AN AFTERNOON ON A RECENT HUNTING TRIP.

(Photos Underwood & Underwood.)

CANADIAN SIGNALERS IN THE WAKE OF RETREATING GERMANS ADVANCING THEIR TELEPHONE WIRE SYSTEM, HERE USING A HEAVY GERMAN RIFLE AS A SUPPORTING POLE.

(© Western Newspaper Union.)

(© Western Newspaper Union.)

HOSPITAL NEAR THE FRONT LINES OF THE BRITISH FORCES ON THE IT.

(© Underwood & Underwood.)