

AMERICAN SOLDIERS AND CIVILIANS AMONG THE GRAVES OF THE AMERICAN MARINE DEAD Who Fell in the Defense of Belleau Wood, Now Officially Named in Their Honor "Bois de la Brigade de Marine." The Famous Wood of the Marines, Now Covered with the First Snowfall of Winter, Appears in the Background. This Photograph Was Made on the Day of President Wilson's Visit There. (© Underwood & Underwood.)

OFFICERS OF THE FIRST BATTALION, TENTH FIELD ARTILLERY, THIRD DIVISION, AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, AT KAUFF, GERMANY.

In the Group, Seated, Left to Right, Are: Lieut. Col. Anderson, Commanding; Major Cook, Captains Sheppard and Crouley, and Lieutenant Foote; Standing, Left to Right: Lieutenants Hoverson, Wilson, Blakiston, Hayes, Logan, Kenyon, Ruhl, Maraist, Derrick, Anderson, Talcott, Leonard, Fitten, Durkan, Gilpin, Neuberger, Strickler, Green, and Captain Hamilton.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS STATIONED AT VALVOIE, NEAR BELFORT, FRANCE, ADOPT THE WOODEN SHOES OF THE NATIVES. Private Craite, of the Headquarters Troop, Having Dropped a Shoe in the Mud, the Story of Cinderella Is Promptly Retold, with the Characters Reversed.

(U. S. Signal Corps.)

LILY CAHILL, in "The Marquis de Priola," at the Liberty Theatre. (Abb.)

ESTHER WALKER,

in "Monte Cristo, Jr.," at the Winter Garden. (Campbell Studio.)

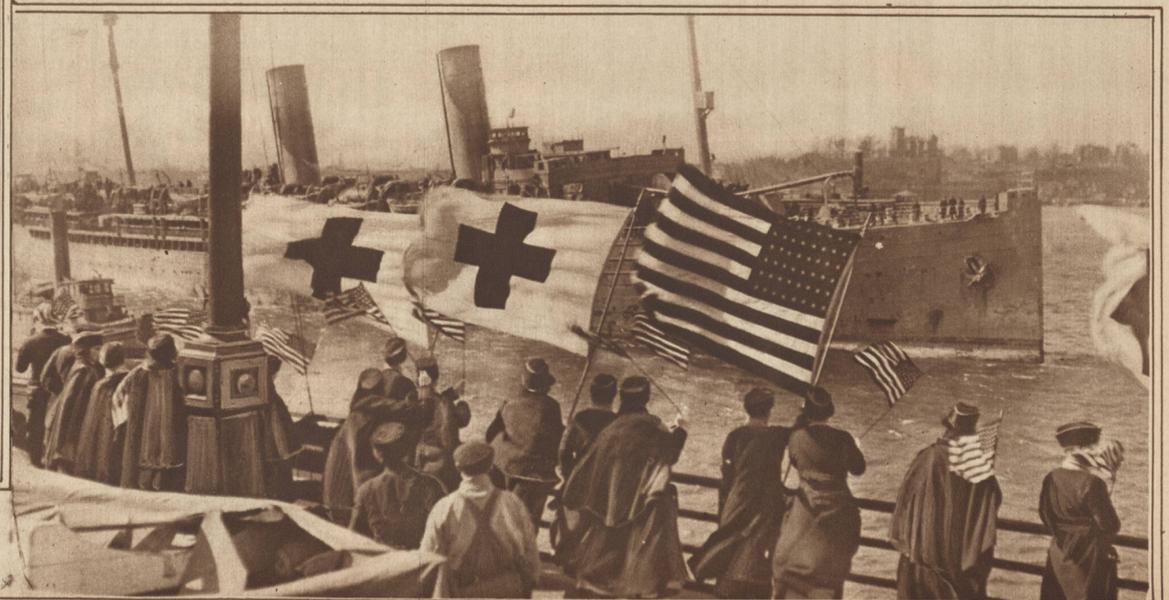

T. H. WOOD, CLASS OF 1919, MAKING A RECORD JUMP, Showing Perfect Form, in Dartmouth's Annual Winter Carnival, Just Held. (K. D. Smith.)

CATHELENE MacDONELL, in "The Net," at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre.

JEAN GLAEDHILL, Daughter of J. C. Glaedhill of New York, as a Rose in the Children's Valentine Party at Palm Beach. (© International Film Service.)

THE AMERICAN TRANSPORT LOUISVILLE, ARRIVING FROM FRANCE WITH THIRTEEN BRIDES, TWO ENGLISH GIRL STOWAWAYS, AND NEARLY 1,800 TROOPS, Composed Largely of the 351st Field Artillery, Made Up of Colored Men from Pennsylvania and Virginia, Is Greeted at Her Manhattan Pier by the Red Cross and Other Patriotic Organizations. (© Western Newspaper Union.)