

THE FAMOUS PARAVANE,
Mysterious Device Invented by Lieutenant Dennis Burnley, British Navy, Which Rendered German Mine Fields Harmless, Is Now Disclosed.
(Times Photo Service.)

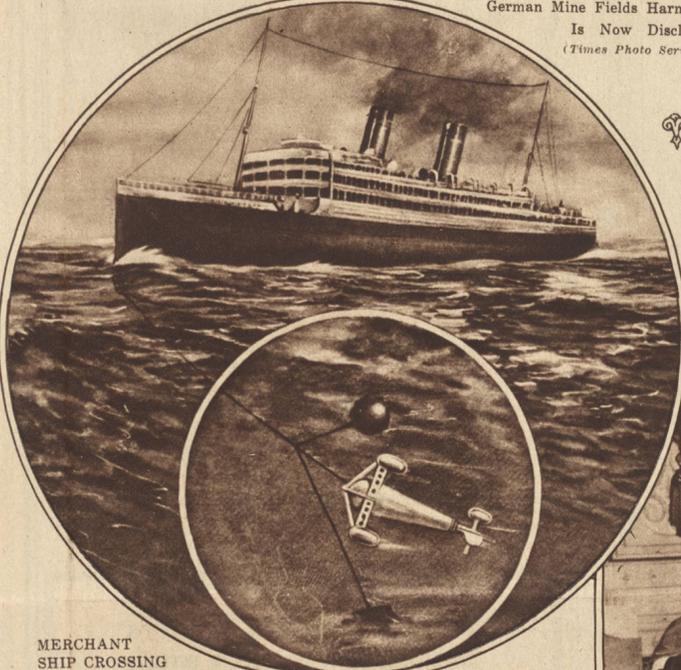

GEORGE W. VANDERBILT,
Younger Son of the Late Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Raymond T. Baker.
From a Recent Portrait by Lydia Field Emmet.
(Mary Hopson.)

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON.

From a Recent Camera Study
by Arnold Genthe.
(© Arnold Genthe.)

MERCHANT SHIP CROSSING
THE GERMAN MINE
FIELDS. Sketched to Illustrate How the Paravane, Cutting the Moorings of the Submerged Mines, Saved Countless Allied Ships During the War.
(© Illustrated London News.)

THE INTER-ALLIED POLISH COMMISSION,
Appointed by the World Peace Conference to Settle the Differences Between the Poles and the Czechs.

In the Group, Left to Right, Are: Mr. Lord and General Kernan, United States; M. Noulens and General Niessel, France; General Botha and Sir Esme Howard, Great Britain.
(Central News Service.)

GENERAL
FRANCHET D'ESPEREY.

After the Formal Surrender of the Dardanelles by the Turks, Examining a
Great German "240"
Fieldpiece Guarding the Bosporus Entrance to the Black Sea.
(French Pictorial Service.)

MME. MAURICE MAETERLINCK,
Formerly Mlle. Renee Dahon, Now Bride of the Belgian Playwright.
From an Informal Photograph of Mme. Maeterlinck at Her Home in Nice, Where the Marriage Took Place.

TESSA COSTA
in "The Royal Vagabond," at the Cohan & Harris Theatre.
(Campbell Studio.)

MAURICE MAETERLINCK,
Belgian Author of "The Bluebird" and Other Plays, Recently Re-Wed.
From His Latest Photograph Received in This Country.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS, ON REST LEAVE IN THE FRENCH ALPS, STARTING OUT ON THE ASCENT OF MOUNT RENARD.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)