

COMMANDER ALEXANDER R. M. RAMSAY, BRITISH NAVY, AND HIS BRIDE, FORMERLY THE PRINCESS PATRICIA OF CONNAUGHT, LEAVING LONDON AFTER THEIR MARRIAGE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY. (Paul Thompson.)

MAJOR GEN. C. A. F. FLAGLER AND THE ENTIRE HEADQUARTERS STAFF OF THE 42D, OR RAINBOW DIVISION, IN FRONT OF THE DIVISIONAL HEADQUARTERS OF THE AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION ON THE RHINE.

First Row, Left to Right, Are: Major James J. Crossley, Major James E. Thomas, Major Robert J. Gill, Lieut. Col. Ruby D. Garrett, Lieut. Col. Charles A. Dravo, Colonel John M. Johnson, Colonel William N. Hughes, Jr., Major Gen. C. A. F. Flagler, Colonel L. J. Fleming, Colonel David S. Fairchild, Lieut. Col. George F. Graham, Lieut. Col. Stanley M. Rumbough, Major E. H. Bertram, Major Albert D. Fetterman, Major John A. Wheeler.

COM-MANDER RAMSAY AND LADY PATRICIA, on Their Honeymoon in the Country, Starting Out for the Daily Golf Game. (© International Film Service.)

LADY PATRICIA, "CARRYING THROUGH" IN GOOD STYLE. (© International Film Service.)

MAJOR CHARLES WHITESLEY AND THE FAMOUS "LOST BATTALION" OF THE 77TH DIVISION, COMPOSED ALTOGETHER OF NEW YORK CITY MEN, TRAINED AT CAMP UPTON.

From a Photograph Taken Near Apremont, in the Argonne Forest. (U. S. Signal Corps, from Paul Thompson.)

JO DAVIDSON, AMERICAN SCULPTOR.

Putting the Finishing Touches on the Official War Bust of General John J. Pershing, for Which He Posed in Paris. (U. S. Signal Corps, from Paul Thompson.)

SCOTCH AND ENGLISH WAR BRIDES OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS AND SAILORS, Who Were Stationed in and Around the British Isles, Arriving on the American Auxiliary Cruiser Louisville to Join Their Husbands Here. (Times Photo Service.)

PRIVATE JOHN N. LATHAM, 135TH INFANTRY, Who Returns Home with Three Bullet Wounds and a Pretty French Bride Who Nursed Him Back to Health in Her Father's Home in the Vosges Mountains. (Times Photo Service.)