THEIR FOOTBALL TEAMS MUST BE LITTLE LEAGUES.

Unless They Are Up in Their Studies They Cannot Engage in Athletics.

FOOTBALL GAMES TO-DAY.

- Harvard vs. Wesleyan, at Cambridge
Columbia vs. Union, at Albany
Cornell vs. Williams, at Ithaca
Yale vs. Bates, at New Haven
Princeton vs. Annapolis, at Annapolis
Pennsylvania vs. Brown, at Philadelphia
West Point vs. Penn. State College, at West Point
Orange A. C. vs. Easton College, at Orange
Knickerbocker A. C. vs. Dreadnaught A. C., at Bergen Point.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 6.—The faculty spring a startling surprise on theVarsity football team late last night when Captain Edwards received word from Professor Henry Fine, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Athletics and the athletic director of the Princeton sports, that no man would be allowed to take the Southern trip, which was commencing this morning at a single hour of notice. In any study was received against the player. As a result of this bombshell in the Tiger last night Captain Edwards went half the night in locating substitutes and informing them to be in readiness to take the train for Baltimore this morning. When the train rolled out the Tigers were minus the services of four of their star men and a considerable amount of their strength on all faces.

REVISED SCHEDULE OF YALE FOOTBALL GAMES.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 6.—Yale's football boarder dashed through half an hour's study practice in the gymnasium. Although theVarsity played up as usual for a rehearsal of signals, when the time for the scrimmage came only O'Neil was at his regular place in the line. Lacey began playing right guard, but received a hot cut under the eye and was forced to remain a spectator. He will not play until next week. Smith, substitute full back, wrenched his ankle severely while practicing the practice. The practice developed a great deal of fun, but owing to the wet ball, Yale appears a hard game to play. On Bates College heavy weights tomorrow.

800 HARVARD ATHLETES COMPETE FOR CLASS PLACES.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 6.—Never before in the history of Harvard athletics have there been so many men in training for the different teams. All all, there are nearly 800 men trying for the various sports, and the whole college seems to have been in a fever of preparation. From all the captains there come reports of increased numbers of men. TheVarsity football team is expected to have 100 men, and theVarsity basketball team is expected to have 150 men. TheVarsity tennis team is expected to have 100 men, and theVarsity rowing team is expected to have 100 men. TheVarsity baseball team is expected to have 100 men, and theVarsity track team is expected to have 100 men.

TWELFTH REGIMENT NOT TO ASK N. C. A. SANCTION.

James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, says there is little danger of trouble ensuing between the N. C. A. and the A. A. U. over the report that the Twelfth Regiment has applied for a sanction to hold its bicycle events at its coming games under the auspices of the N. C. A. Mr. Sullivan said that if the Twelfth Regiment did so, it would have prevented the regiment from benefiting competing with any of the teams affiliated with the Military Athletic Union of the Amateur Athletic Union or the League of American Wheelmen. He also said that the A. A. U. sanction would be granted if the Twelfth Regiment would apply for the sanction to the games to the A. A. U. and not to the N. C. A. and the Military League, and he promised that this had been done.

GOLF NEWS TOLD BY EXPERTS.

WOMEN WHO ASPIRE TO BE GOLF CHAMPION.

MISS HOYT

MISS ELSIE F. CASSATT

MISS FRANCES GRISCOM

MISS BEATRIX HOYT

THE women's golf championship to be held next week on the links of the Philadelphia Country Club, at Bala, Pa., will be one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the association. The list of entries is a record breaker. It includes more new blood than any previous championship contest. Miss Beatrix Hoyt, of the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, who has won the championship three years in succession, is naturally the most prominent entry. Miss Hoyt made a record of 92 in the championship of 1898. Her most formidable opponent will be Miss Mamie K. Wetmore, of the Newport Golf Club. She finished second to Miss Hoyt last year, and but for an accident by which she sprained her ankle at the fifteenth tee, the result might have been different. Up to the tenth hole Miss Wetmore was on even terms with the champion. Among the other experts entered, who made low scores at the last tournament, are Miss Frances C. Griscom, Mrs. E. A. Mantie, Miss Edith Buff, Miss K. K. Cassatt, Mrs. P. Morgan, Mrs. J. E. Greiner and Miss G. R. Keyes. Miss Griscom drives a very long ball, but this is offset by a bad habit of casting. She is said to have greatly improved, and is somewhat of a favorite.

CANADIAN GOLFERS PUT IN YESTERDAY AT PRACTICE.

The Canadian team which will meet the United States team to-day in the international team match, spent the afternoon yesterday in practice over the Morris County Golf Club links, where the big team match is to be played to-day. The women of the Morris County Golf Club competed yesterday in the match handicap for the short course cup, which is decided on the point system. Three point winners were: Mrs. A. O. Dean, Gross, Handicap, Net, 125, 10, 115; Miss Kip, 113, 0, 113; Mrs. William Shippen, 114, 0, 114.

JOCKEY MAHER IS CINCINNATI BEAT AGAIN REINSTATED LOUISVILLE EASILY.

Danny Maher, the jockey, appeared before the stewards of the Jockey Club yesterday and was given a hearing in the matter of his suspension by the stewards of the Brooklyn Jockey Club meeting. The suspension was continued until the end of the Westchester Racing Association's meeting, but was not continued indefinitely, as had been expected. The restoration of Spencer to good standing and the leniency now shown in the case of Maher make it probable that the efforts to carry the purging of the turf to a finish are futile. No reason for the suspension of Maher has ever been given. The natural inference, after such cases as those of Turner, McCle and Williams, was that fraud was discovered in connection with his riding. The question now is: What was Maher set down for? If it was for fraud, why is he to be reinstated so soon? If it was for some minor offense, such as fouling, why was his punishment made so severe? And what is the influence that has had so mild a sentence imposed on him if he be guilty in the major degree? August Belmont, the chairman of the Jockey Club, called yesterday's meeting. There was a quorum, consisting of James Galway, Andrew Miller, P. R. Hitchcock and P. K. Sturges, but Mr. Belmont was not present. The stewards who put in an appearance waited more than an hour for him, and then proceeded to business.

CYCLISTS WILL FIGHT FOR PATH.

Organize to Compel Building of a Way Across the Bridge.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Mass Meeting Is to Be Called to Arouse Public Sentiment.

A permanent committee was organized for the purpose of carrying on the agitation for the building of a cycle path over the Brooklyn Bridge last night. The meeting was held at the office of Frederick B. House, in the Pultizer building. Representatives were present from the L. A. W., Associated Cycling Clubs of New York, Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island and the Good Roads Association. James O'Neill, of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New York, was elected temporary chairman.

The delegates present made earnest speeches. It was decided to elect permanent officers, an executive committee and a general committee of one hundred. The Executive Committee will take charge of a series of mass meetings in favor of the proposed path. The men elected to the offices and executive committee are known to be earnest advocates of a path over the bridge and men willing to give their time for the accomplishment of this purpose.

The election resulted as follows: James O'Neill, chairman; Frederick B. House, vice-chairman; Frank P. Shaw, president of the Long Island Wheelmen, treasurer; D. N. Prime, recording secretary; R. W. Dye, corresponding secretary; Executive Committee, F. B. House, Joseph Outman, J. H. Goodwin, W. R. McDonnell, Associated Cycling Clubs of New York; Dr. L. C. Le Roy, H. B. Fullerton, J. C. Howard, G. McCarthy, W. R. Angel, F. H. Vall and H. M. Valentine, Good Roads Association. There will also be four members elected to represent the Brooklyn clubs.
