

THE BRITISH SUPER-ZEPPELIN, Equaling in Size and Capacity the Largest German Airship and of a Similar Rigid Type, in Course of Construction in a British Aerodrome, with Other Ships of This Character to be Employed in Regular Passenger and Freight Service Between London and European Capitals, and for the Transatlantic Flight to be Undertaken This Summer.

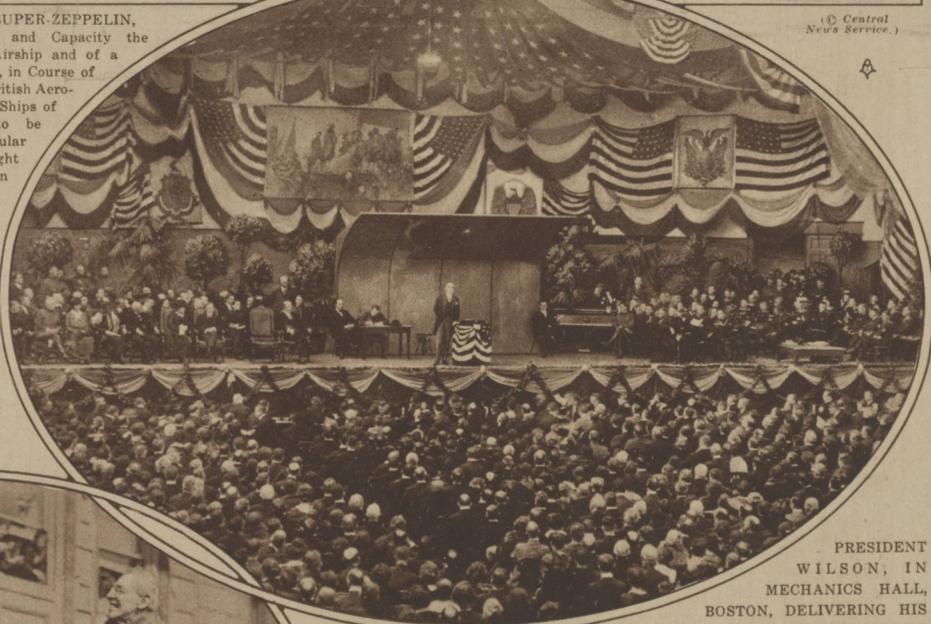

Photographs of These Developments Are Now Released by the British Government for the First Time for Publication.

(© Central News Service.)

THE AFTER ENGINE HOUSE OF GREAT BRITAIN'S SUPER-ZEPPELIN, SHOWING THE REVERSIBLE PROPELLERS WHICH CAN BE USED FOR EITHER LIFTING OR LOWERING.

(© Central News Service.)

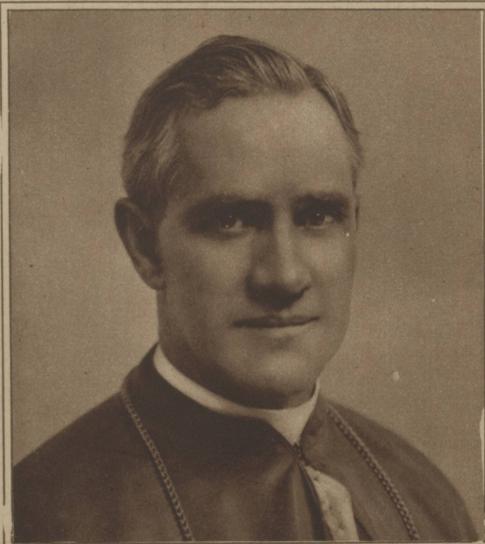

PRESIDENT WILSON, IN MECHANICS HALL, BOSTON, DELIVERING HIS FIRST ADDRESS IN THE UNITED STATES IN BEHALF OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

(© International Film Service.)

PRESIDENT WILSON, on His Arrival in Boston from the Peace Conference in Paris, Standing in his Automobile to Acknowledge the Cheers of the Thongs Which Lined the Streets.

(© International Film Service.)

THE RIGHT REV. PATRICK JOSEPH HAYES, Appointed by the Pope Archbishop of New York, Wealthiest Catholic Diocese of the World, in Succession to the Late Cardinal Farley.

(© Anna Frances Levis.)

GOVERNOR COOLIDGE OF MASSACHUSETTS, THE PRESIDENT AND MRS WILSON, AND MAYOR PETERS of Boston, on Whose Invitation the President Landed at Boston, Leaving Mechanics Hall After the Address. Mrs. Wilson Is Wearing the Turban Hat Which, Dispatches Say, Caused a Great Stir Among Boston Milliners Seeking to Match Its Peculiar Shade.

(Photos Central News Service.)

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE, British Prime Minister, and His Daughters, Mrs. Carey Evans and Miss Megan Lloyd George, Returning to England from the Peace Conference on the British Destroyer Termagant.

(Times Photo Service.)