HEAVY STORM ON THE SOUND "NO TIME FOR DEAD ISSUES"

Stamford Excursionists on Iron Steamboat Kept Out All Night and Made Ill. First County Convention Instructs Its Delegates to Support John L. Zimmerman for Governorship.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Wednesday.—The steamer Erastus Corning, of the Star Line, came into port sixteen hours overdue. She spent the greater part of the day at anchor in Cow Bay. Shortly after midnight, when the boat was tied up to her pier, Captain Bishop said that rough water had compelled him to run into Cow Bay for safety, but that his boat was all right. The Corning carried only twenty passengers but much freight. She left New York last night, and was due here at five o'clock this morning. Throughout the day Long Island Sound has been a tumbling mass of waves, thrown up by the heavy, northeasterly gale. Many small craft have been driven ashore. The John H. Starin, sister ship of the Corning, which was bound for New York, was forced to put back each time. It was not until tonight that she found it safe to proceed.

HEAVY GALE STRIKES FAIR BUILDING

Six Workmen Blown from a Scaffold and One Man Killed by Flying Plank.

ST. LOUIS, Wednesday.—One of the heaviest storms of the year, but of brief duration, swept over St. Louis today. The furious wind tore through the World's Fair grounds, killing one man probably fatally, injuring another and seriously injuring seven others, besides causing damage to the World's Fair buildings and other property generally throughout the city to the extent of $10,000. Theodore Richter, of Kirkwood, a florist, was the man killed. The injured are A. R. Clark, a carpenter, who is dying, and seven others unknown. The day had been extremely warm, the temperature registering 84 degrees. At the World's Fair grounds, the Agricultural Building was struck by the gale, and six laborers, working on scaffolding, were hurled to the ground. Richter was running to shelter when a flying plank struck him.

SCHOONER STRIKES ON PENFIELD REEF

Unknown Two Masted Vessel in Serious Peril Off Bridgeport.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Wednesday.—During the northeasterly gale and high seas today an unknown two masted schooner struck on Penfield Reef and remained for several hours. Efforts to reach her from this harbor have been unsuccessful. Observers of the schooner think now that she has slipped off the reef and is lying at anchor. It is thought she may be able to resume her voyage. The schooner is lumber laden. At the harbor master's office it is conjectured that she may be the British vessel Fraulin, or her sister ship, the Fraulin, which was reported from Vineyard Haven yesterday morning. At South Norwalk the storm has been driven ashore and sunk. Mead Brothers of Norwalk had a sloop damaged, and a launch lost. Commodore A. B. Keeler, of New Canaan, lost a launch and several small boats and skiffs were ashore in the vicinity of Belle Island and Roton Point. At New Haven the storm interfered with the plans for the dedication of the monument in Bay View Park in memory of the Ninth regiment, Connecticut volunteers of the civil war, and it is necessary to hold the exercises indoors. Governor Chamberlain was present, with his staff. The parade of military companies which it was proposed to have was abandoned.

FOUR HUNDRED TOSSED IN SOUND ALL NIGHT HORSEWHIPS A BURGLAR

Woman Alone in Her Home Attacks Intruder and Puts Him to Flight.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
STAMFORD, Conn., Wednesday.—Four hundred excursionists, many weary, many ill, and those not ill very angry, landed from the iron steamboat Cepheus here at half-past six o'clock this morning. They were the last arrivals of a returning party of thirteen hundred who started yesterday morning for Coney Island. The excursion was run by the Iron Steamboat Company from Stamford, Norwalk and nearby towns. The boat reached Coney Island at two P. M. Some were seasick, but two or three all afternoon. There was a misunderstanding about the time of leaving for home. Three hundred were left on the island, and these were lucky. They came back by train. The boat passed Stamford light at half-past nine o'clock last night. When Captain W. H. Van Schaick said he could not enter Stamford Harbor riot was threatened by the men. A few went to hotels. With high wind and rough sea the Cepheus was torn from her moorings at the dock at two o'clock. The captain steered out into the Sound and down to Execution Light. The boat was wrecked for Stamford. Scores of people are ill to-night.

3,200 Mile Race to Dying Child

Father Hastens from New York to Reach Los Angeles Before Daughter Passes Away and Pays $4,000 for Special Train.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
CHICAGO, Ill., Wednesday.—To reach the bedside of his young daughter, who is reported to be dying in Los Angeles, Cal., Henry E. Lowe, of New York, chief engineer of the United States Steel Trust, is rushing across the Western prairies on a four thousand dollar special train that promises to beat all transcontinental speed records. The distance from New York to Los Angeles to be covered by Mr. Lowe has been computed by him to be about 3,200 miles. Mr. Lowe left New York Tuesday afternoon at seven-thirty minutes to two o'clock and is due in Los Angeles at eleven o'clock Friday evening, making his total time for the trip from sea to sea three days and nine hours. He was reported on time at Topeka, Kan., at half-past eleven to-night.

Secretary Barnes, in Oyster Bay, Soothes Their Chagrin After Their Encounter with a Stern Guard. District Attorney Jerome Escapes Across Ohio River. At Point of Pistol She Takes Loved One from Husband's House-keeper.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
OYSTER BAY, L. I., Wednesday.—The President was kept indoors by a heavy rain and had few callers today. Those who did call were appointed were W. L. Ward, of Portchester, N. Y., the Rev. Reginald John Campbell, of London, and the Rev. Alexander Russell, of Oyster Bay. When the band of the Jenkins negro orphanage of Charleston, S. C., reached Oyster Bay today, the band leader, as a salute to the President, he was given in the Town Hall to-night the President should an answer to the band to-night. Without any notification to the President the band got as guides small boys, marched out through the band to raise the band around the hill. When the band, after its three-mile tramp, reached the edge of the hill, the band leader, Tyree, who was on duty, pulled himself together and hurried down to intercept the band. "You have not notified the President," he said. "We'll notify him now," said the head of the band. "No you won't," insisted Mr. Tyree. "Please go away." The band protested from the lawn, but being advised by the villagers, who wanted to see the fun, made a detour through the trees and climbed the fence when Mr. Tyree actually climbed the fence when Mr. Tyree learned of the band's presence. "This time he really convinced the musicians that he was not to be trifled with. He promised to go away and stay away if he would keep his 'gun' in his pocket. Then the band went on their way. Learning the location of the office of Assistant Secretary Barnes, he went there and knocked at his door. He was admitted. Then a concert was given in the town. The assistant secretary treated the boys to lemonade.

WOULD WED HIM FOURTH TIME Mrs. Grace Snell Coffin Layman Seeks Fifth Divorce in Varied Marital Career.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Wednesday.—Mrs. P. A. Layman, who was Grace Snell Coffin, daughter of the murdered Chicago millionaire, A. J. Snell, has taken steps toward a fourth marriage. Under the laws of California she will not be able to free herself from Layman for a year. She has been married three times and three times divorced from Frank Coffin, her first husband, and once married and divorced from another man. This is her fifth time of seeking legal separation, and it is hinted that she will again marry. Mrs. Coffin has been married to Layman for several months. Layman left his wife, saying he could not live with her. He says he has obtained a position as clerk in a New York hotel and will soon go to that city.

Missing Baby Returned Home. Angelina Lapuma, Who Disappeared on July 21, Is Found in Yard of Her Father's Home Late at Night.

Returned to her home as mysteriously as she was spirited away, Angelina Lapuma, the two-year-old daughter of James Lapuma, of No. 420 West Forty-sixth street, who has been missing since July 21, was found at home late last night. The child's father went into the yard during the night and when returning saw a white bundle at the head of the stairway leading from the hall to the cellar. Touching it with his foot it moved, and when he picked it up it proved to be his missing child. The baby was taken up stairs, where there was great rejoicing, the neighbors being called in to participate in the celebration of the little one's return. Angelina was in the best of health and had evidently been well cared for. A white dress had been substituted for the red one she wore when she disappeared. The aunt had consulted a clairvoyant, who told her that the child would be returned safely at night, but the family was unable to explain how the child was brought back. Boys playing in the neighborhood, who said they had not gone beyond sight of the premises, declared that they saw no one other than members of the family come or go during the night.

DASH MAY COME AT ANY TIME AN ANGLO-FRENCH ENTENTE

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
BAR HARBOR, Me., Wednesday.—The big naval war game is now on in dead earnest. Out on the Atlantic somewhere along the New England coast the two squadrons of United States war ships are playing the big game. Admiral Bands steamed out of this port with his fleet, consisting of the battle ships Texas, Indiana and Massachusetts and two destroyers, on Monday at sunrise, and this morning in the early hours of the day, under Rear Admiral Barker, put out to sea. Just where either fleet is hard to tell, but indications are that Admiral Barker is not a great way off. It is thought probable that Admiral Bands will make this his point of attack. The small entrance to the harbor up at East Lamoine, where the government has its coaling station, has been guarded by the two sailing vessels, the Chesapeake and Alliance. This morning the government tug Nina came in about ten o'clock with the mail orderlies from the fleet, and it is expected that the tug will be in again tomorrow morning. It was reported here to-night that the fighting part of the fleet would apply to the British fleet. This places the British ships in a good position to protect a good part of the coast. An Admiral Barker's squadron are the battle ships Kearsage, Illinois, Alabama, the protected cruisers Olympia, Baltimore, and the torpedo cruisers Yankoe, Panther, Prairie, Vixen, Newport, Hartford, Alliance and Chesapeake, and the destroyers Baring, Bainbridge, Decatur, and the tug boats, Stuart and Worden, and the tug boats, Nina and Scorpion. Several defending ships have been reported. At Rockland the destroyer Bainbridge anchored just inside the breakers water this afternoon, but she remained only an hour. The Bainbridge is patrolling between Bar Harbor and Monhegan, with Rockland as a central port. A large cruise of the fleet applied to Portland this morning, about six miles inside of Halfway Rock, evidently scouting. Three battle ships were sighted off Machias, Maine, at half-past five o'clock P. M., moving west, and two torpedo boat destroyers were manoeuvring among the islands. The vessels are supposed to be a part of the defending fleet.

MOONSHINERS' REVENGE They Slay a Man and His Wife, Who Had Betrayed Them to Revenue Men.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
WINCHESTER, Ky., Wednesday.—Simon Booker and wife, who resided in a small cabin on a mountain in Franklin county, were murdered last night. The tragedy is attributed to the raiding of a wildcat distillery located near their place during the month of June. Booker and his wife were accused by the moonshiners of betraying them to the revenue officials. The Turners separated last April, after an exciting episode, in which the husband fired several shots at his wife's admirer. The next day Mrs. Turner tried to kill herself by taking poison and cutting her wrist. Mr. Turner retained her two-year-old boy, and Mrs. Turner went to live with old boy, who has a hotel at Asbury Park, N. J. Mrs. Turner returned to the city yesterday, and with her mother, went to Newport in a huckster's wagon. Both women were armed. They forced their way into Turner's house, and standing off Mrs. Clark, the housekeeper, with the weapons, seized the child and hurried to the wagon. The alarm was given, but the women evaded the pursuing police and reached this side of the Ohio river, going to the home of Mrs. Turner's mother. Mrs. Turner said: "I stole my boy. I'm sorry I did not do it long ago. I made up my mind to steal the child last week at Asbury Park. I could not live without my boy, and I decided to run any risk to get him. My mother and I laid our plans Tuesday night, and Mrs. Turner and her mother will be arrested on the charge of kidnaping."

POSSES AS HARRY LEHR. Man Astonishes Natives in Colorado with His Fine Clothes and Furnishings.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Wednesday.—A man, resembling and registering as Harry Lehr, of New York and Newport, was at the Barker House last evening. Lehr, if it be he, had plenty of trunks, smart clothes, low shoes and open work hosiery gaiters, and appeared to be well supplied with the "long green." He said he was travelling for a New York champagne house, and this morning left for Little Creek. He expects to return to Manitou in a day or two and then go to Denver.

DIED READING A LETTER. Father of Assemblyman Eugene McCarthy Passes Away Suddenly.

Thomas G. McCarthy, fifty-six years old, of No. 33 West 125th street, died of heart failure yesterday afternoon, while standing in front of his home, reading a letter from his son, Assemblyman Eugene McCarthy, of the twenty-third district. Assemblyman McCarthy was married a few weeks ago, and is spending his honeymoon at the Thousand Islands.

Declare War in British Manoeuvres

Sixty-Nine Vessels Engage in Contest to Effect and Prevent Junction of Forces at Sea—To Thoroughly Test England's Defence. commanded by Admiral Wilson, and the other by Admiral Balfour. The problem set to the home fleet is to effect a junction of forces at sea, while on the geographical location of the fleet, concentrated at Lagos, Portugal, is imposed the task of finding either Admiral Wilson's or Lord Charles Balfour's squadron in the best of circumstances, and defeat whichever is discovered first before the other comes to its rendezvous. The operations cease at noon, August 11. Independent of these manoeuvres, operations by torpedo craft are proceeding on the Irish coast. Sixty-one destroyers, thirty-seven torpedo boats and nineteen other seagoing craft are engaged.
