

FIGHT ON BROADWAY
DITCH COMPROMISE

Business Men Will Meet Again To-Day and Perfect Organization.

PETITIONS TO BE CIRCULATED

Statement That It Was Never Intended to Tear Up the Street Will Not Deter Committee.

Declaring that no compromise will be accepted which will mean that Broadway is to be made difficult for traffic, the committee of fifty Broadway real estate owners and business men will meet to-day and perfect an organization.

Satisfied that without exception every person interested in business in that thoroughfare is with them, they will draw up plans to fight where their blows will count.
At the meeting to-day it is likely that a permanent chairman will be chosen and the committee increased materially in membership.
They will circulate petitions, and when all have been signed the committee will present them to Mayor Low and the Rapid Transit Commission.

The statement by August Belmont and W. B. Parsons, chief engineer of the Rapid Transit Commission, that it was never intended to tear up Broadway, will not deter the committee from going ahead, it was stated yesterday.

What is to be obtained is a definite and understanding. It will not end with the Mayor or the petitioners, it is asserted, but will be a fight through every possible court in the State.

COMMISSIONER GREENE HERE.

Returns to Work After an Extensive Trip Through the West.

Police Commissioner Greene arrived in this city last night after a trip through the West. He was in New York in East Thirtieth street, soon after he arrived in New York.

At his home it was said last night that he had retired early and had seen few visitors. It was said that he would be at his office this morning.

HARMONIE CLUB FIRE SCARE.

Worn Insulation Causes a Sheet of Flame to Shoot from Automatic Signal Apparatus.

Insulating material worn off the wires of the automatic fire signal of the Harmonie Club, No. 45 West Forty-second street, last night, in front of the club, where the wires run under ground, caused a flash and then a sheet of flames to shoot out into the street. A large crowd gathered, and Grandson to her home, at Sound Beach.

WEDS DEAD WIFE'S
YOUNGER SISTER

Romance in Marriage of Benjamin
F. Hunt at Sound
Beach.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] SOUND BEACH, Conn., Sunday.—The marriage of Benjamin Farrington Hunt and Mrs. Mert Carpenter Frances, which took place here last evening, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Carpenter, has a tinge of romance.

Mr. Hunt is forty-five years old and his bride is twenty years younger. Twenty years ago Mr. Hunt married his present wife's sister, and Mert Carpenter, then a little girl, often sat on his knee and listened to his stories. Mrs. Hunt died in a New York hospital and Hunt lived for several years with the deceased wife's family. He was very attentive to his sister-in-law, escorting her to many public places and it was generally thought they were engaged.

During Mr. Hunt's absence once, on a business trip, the young woman was introduced to a young Episcopalian clergyman, named James Frances, whom she subsequently married. The marriage was a happy one, and on the birth of her son she prayed for her instead of summoning a physician.

Mrs. Carpenter was notified by neighbors, and she went to the Western New York hospital, obtained a physician and nurse, and afterward brought her daughter and Grandson to her home, at Sound Beach.

Once Mr. Frances came after his son, but was thrown out of her house by Mr.
Carpenter. Mr. Hunt resumed his attentions to Mrs. Frances, and a few months ago she obtained a divorce on the ground of cruelty.

It is said another suitor recently appeared, and Mr. Hunt and Mrs. Frances were together always, people had become accustomed to seeing it, and the wedding was somewhat of a surprise in consequence.

AIDS DE HIRSCH FUND.

Baltimore House Sends a Contribution for Monument to Be Erected Here.

That the interest in the De Hirsch monument, which is to be erected in Central Park West, is not confined entirely to this locality is shown by the following letter, enclosing a check for $5, from J. Huch-berger & Co., of Baltimore, Md.:

"It is true that the institutions endowed by Baron and Baroness de Hirsch are mainly in themselves, but we approve of the idea of erecting a memorial, as suggested, for them, and enclose herewith our check as a contribution."

The fund now amounts to $8,666.33. Contributions may be sent to the HERALD.
Checks should be made payable to AUGUST BELMONT, treasurer.

Antrel Confession Leads to Digging Up of Graveyard

members often changed, he remained at the head, and the only saved prosecution, but until a year ago never felt under suspicion.

When last he was known to be identified with systematic grave robbing the revelations that followed through confessions of himself and members of his band simply appalled the police, and for a time rendered them powerless to make a move that would bring the entire band to justice.

According to his story, he was induced to enter the grave robbing business by Dr.
J. C. Alexander, demonstrator of anatomy at the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons, and it was to him that he sold most of the cadavers. Some, however, were sold to the Indiana Medical College and the Physio-Medical, and some of the officers of these institutions were arrested and are now under indictment by the grand jury for receiving stolen bodies for dissection.

So far the trials of the physicians have miscarried, because of prejudice against the negroes, who were the only witnesses against them, and the State has practically abandoned the hope of convicting them of complicity with Antrel and his band. The men who belonged to the Cantrell gang when the chief of the gang was arrested were Samuel Martin, Garfield Buckner, Walter Daniels, William Jones, Solomon Grady and John Cantrell, all negroes, and William Moffett, Hampton West and John McAndrew, white, but the latter had no recollection of the Cantrill gang months, owing to a difference over money matters and a division of the territory followed.

Early in October Miss Stella Middleton, of this city, died and was buried in a community cemetery. Two nights after her burial a man in a cloak and hat crept up to the Middleton home, and, calling a brother of the dead girl to the curb, informed him that the body of his sister was at the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons. The Middletons paid an out-rigger to the matter, believing that somebody was trying to play a practical joke upon them. The next night the incident was repeated, and the family caused the grave to be opened the next day.

The body was not in the grave, and was subsequently found at the college. It developed later that the Middleton girl was a friend of Rufus Cantrell, who was out of the city when she died. Learning that a woman had been buried in the cemetery during his absence, he "lifted" the body and sold it to the college for $30. It happened that the lights were turned on after the body was delivered and Cantrell recognized the corpse as that of his friend and went at once to notify her parents.

Caused His Own Downfall.

This act was the undoing both of Cantrell and his band. The next day, stung by rumors, the Middletons went to the grave robbing business, and he took some guns which had been purchased on credit from a dealer and pawned them.

The dealer for the property and Cantrell was arrested for pawning property to which he had no title. Investigation showed that the guns had been used for guarding men who were engaged in robbing graves, and Cantrell made a complete confession, giving the names of other members of the band, the physicians who had bought the bodies and the cemeteries in which the robberies had occurred.

Cantrell not only told the police whose graves he had robbed, but went with them to the cemeteries and pointed out the graves. In the meantime the bodies were found in the cellar of the Central College and grave after grave was opened under Cantrell's direction and was proved to have been robbed. Those whose graves were robbed and their bodies sold for dissecting were as follows, though the list is not complete—

Stella Middleton, Miss Glendora Gates, Mrs. Benjamin Tolliver, Wallace Johnson,

DETECTIVE
ADOLPH ASCH
DETECTIVE WHO FIRST BROUGHT CANTRILL TO JUSTICE.

Mrs. Isom Donnell, Mrs. Johanna Stitz, Mrs. Ebenezzer Perry, Samuel Wood, Dora Snowden, Richard Johnson, Mrs. Kate Doehring, Newton Bracken, Mrs. George Lowe, George Weaver, Charles Manship, James Pearson, William McGinn, John Pearson, John Sargent, Caroline Green, Belle Bergin, Flora Kinker and Elizabeth Gray.

This was the list that Cantrell carried in his mind and he said that there were many others whose names he could not recall. Cantrell related many incidents in connection with his business and boasted of many exploits.

Stole Body of Friend's Wife.

One of these was the stealing of the body of the wife of one of the members of the gang. Mrs. Isom Donnell died and the undertaker was ordered to bury the body and Cantrell was asked to drive the hearse to the cemetery. Before leaving the undertaker he removed the body of Mrs. Donnell from the coffin and placed a hundred pound cake of ice in it and carried it out to the cemetery. The ice was duly buried and Mrs. Donnell's body was sold to the college for $30. Donnell did not find out until the trick that had been played upon him till he and Cantrell had been arrested, though the list is not complete.

While Cantrell was in jail an old woman asked to see him. She was the mother of Edward Johnson, and she asked Cantrell if the grave of her son had been disturbed.
Cantrell told the mother that the body of her son had been stolen and a certain negro in Indiana avenue was then wearing his clothes, which had been sold to a second hand dealer.

Cantrell boasted of the manner in which he brought bodies to the colleges and escaped police detection. He always set the corpse on the seat by himself and either supported it with his arm or tied it to his body. One night he was stopped by a policeman as he was coming into the city with a corpse. Asked where he was going, he replied that he and his friend, meaning the corpse by his side, had been in a party in the country that his friend had invited to freely and he was taking him home. The policeman accepted the explanation and Cantrell proceeded with the body to the medical college.

No Respector of Associates.

One of the incidents in the grave robbing career of the band that is referred to by Cantrell with much gusto is the stealing of the body of Samuel Wood, who was also a member of the band. Cantrell, Wood and one or two others were robbing a grave at Mount Jackson Cemetery, when they were fired upon by the watchman.
The whole party scampered away and as they ran Wood fell and struck his head against a tombstone, fracturing his skull. He was taken to the city hospital, where he died three days later without having recovered consciousness. He was buried in Mount Jackson, and that night Cantrell and his band stole the body.

Hampton West, the leader of the white gangs who divided the grave robbing territory with Cantrell, was convicted recently of stealing a body in Hamilton county and was sentenced to the penitentiary. Cantrell was the chief witness against him, and in testifying against him paid off an old score for the trial, a fight between the two bands that one of Cantrell's men was badly injured and a white man was nearly killed by a blow from Cantrell's hands. West ran away with the body while the light was in progress and Cantrell swore revenge.

SELVAGE CASE
CONVINCES POLICE

Young Woman Was First Kidnapped on Account of Physician's Professional Jealousy.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sunday.—By far the most convincing portion of the Cantrell confession, in the eyes of the police, is that relating to the kidnaping, maltreatment and murder of Miss Carrie Selvage three years ago.

The police have already been able to collect a startling array of evidence in the case, going far to corroborate Cantrell.

The woman was a member of one of the city's best known families. She was an inmate of a private sanitarium. From this institution she was kidnaped in broad daylight on a Sunday by Garfield Buckner, Cantrell and William McHenry, all negroes, lodged for a time in a physician's barn and later taken to the abandoned basement of an old medical college and there held a prisoner. The revolting details of her treatment there are withheld by the police.

The woman was not of sound mind. She escaped on one occasion from her captors, but enjoyed only a short respite of freedom, when she was recaptured and drugged to the basement laboratory.

She was observed on this occasion of her escape by an eye witness, who, suspicious of Cantrell, acted as detective. This witness had already been a witness to a brutal murder. When Miss Selvage's body was next seen by this witness it was deposited in a sack in the cellar of a North street house where Cantrell made his rendezvous. The throat was cut from ear to ear. This witness and several others saw Cantrell and his associates frequently casting disfiguring fluids about the cellar. Not only was Cantrell a witness to the murder of Patrolman Watterson seven years ago, but he was also a party in the crime. This was his first murder.

The detectives have found that the kidnaping of Miss Selvage, apparently without motive, was proposed to the ghoul murderers by a physician.

Professional jealousy aroused by the success of the Union State Hospital and the decline of a rival institution is said to have been the motive. The police are investigating the abduction was connected with the rival hospital. He did not contemplate Miss Selvage's murder, but merely desired to have her escape from custody in the hope that the sensation that would follow would result in the decline of the Union State and the subsequent success of his own hospital.

The murder of Miss Selvage came weeks later, when, after being held a prisoner and forced to submit to terrible treatment, her abductors feared discovery and made away with her. Her body was sold to a medical college.

Particular Mention Number Four:

Furniture for Connoisseurs
A Special Offering of $30,000 Worth of the Finest Bedroom and Dining-Room Furniture on Our Floors.

The Dining-room and Bedroom Furniture included in this offering comprises many of the most beautiful suites and single pieces in our stock to-day.

The largest part of it comes from the foremost maker of fine furniture in America, and bears new prices that are ONE-QUARTER BELOW ORIGINAL MARKINGS. The rest shows reductions ranging from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. Every piece has been taken from our regular stock for this occasion.

The furniture is what is called "Period" furniture—reproductions of the various Louis styles, Empire, Colonial, Sheraton and the like. The woods, workmanship, carving, inlays are of the richest possible description. A Louis XV. Bedroom Suite, for instance, is in the tawny, tiger-like Cirassian walnut—the most beautiful specimen of its kind in America.

Another Louis XV. suite is of the superb glowing golden mahogany—the natural, unstained color of the wood. In some of the bedroom suites, fine crotch mahogany veneers are used in the large panels; and the carvings are done by workmen who have, in many cases, made a life-study of their work.

Furniture of this artistic character is difficult to bring properly to the attention of customers; and we therefore give this opportunity to lovers of fine furniture to buy superb pieces that in after generations will be as much-prized heirlooms as the antique and Colonial furniture of our fathers' time.
