MEMBERHOODS TRAPSHOOTING BY A SOCIETY WOMAN

Baroness de Selliere and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs Plan to Entertain the Same Evening.

MANY INVITED TO BOTH Society Watching with Deep Interest Outcome of Affair Which Promises a Social Concoctment.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE HERALD.] NEW YORK, R. L. Friday.—The Baroness de Selliere and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, unobtrusively or otherwise, are rivals for the patronage of many society people on the evening of Friday, September 4. It all began innocently enough, but the matter is sure to prove the most engaging social concoctment of the season.

The Baroness de Selliere, wishing to give a dinner dance for her daughter, Miss Constance Livermore, decided upon the evening of September 4, and sent out one hundred cards for the occasion. About that time Mrs. Oelrichs selected the same evening for her large entertainment and sent out two hundred cards.

Which invitations were first mailed is just now a much mooted question. The Baroness de Selliere thinks hers were first, but Mrs. Oelrichs is apparently not discussing the point, as nothing is heard from her upon it. She is, though, preparing to give a dinner cocktail which she thinks should be a happy reply to her friends for visiting her home in the evening in question.

The Baroness de Selliere, who is said to be somewhat annoyed at the situation, states that she will have a brilliant party of young people and will make a feature of the presence of the hostesses, and that they will be bridesmaids of the Brooks-Thayer wedding at the dinner.

She says, though, that in the way of an after dinner entertainment she must offer some strong attraction, and this led her to the consideration of the women's affairs. Nothing, though, has been done yet in regard to this matter, and it is probable that the two parties will meet at Newport for anything less than a small fortune.

Meanwhile those who have received invitations for both entertainments are in a dilemma. They must make a choice between two friends, and don't like the situation at all. Some have been asked to only one place to dine, and they are planning to make a hearty one house to the other in automobiles.

If there are men enough to go around both hostesses are likely to have a successful and jolly entertainment, but if the supply of men at Newport continues short, or the other of the hostesses may find it advantageous to turn her party into a sewing bee. Meanwhile everybody is wishing both entertainments to be a success.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE HERALD.] NEW YORK, R. L. Friday.—By a score of 18 to 16 goals the Bryn Mawr Prebooters beat the Bryn Mawr second team here this afternoon in a match for the Newport cups. It was another dash against time, the question being whether the Prebooters could overcome a handicap of thirteen goals allowed their opponents.

The Prebooters succeeded in doing, though the field was heavy as a result of a light rain that prevailed during the entire match. The Prebooters, having scored six goals, had nearly half their handicap at the end of the first period, and at the end of the second period they had a lead.

Bryn Mawr second scored only three goals in the match by the good playing of Messrs. Harrison and Strunz. In view of the difference of the playing strength of the two teams and the storm that prevailed it did not attract much attention.

Record Entries for Golf Title

One Hundred and Forty-Five Names Received by the Amateur Championship by the U.S.G.A.

FEW PROMINENT ABSENTEES Visiting British Players Under the Rules Will Be Ineligible to Try to "Lift the Cup."

Although golf has become fairly well established in this country entries for this year's amateur championship, which begins at Nassau on Tuesday, total 145, which is four more than last year's record.

Such an unwieldy field is a staggerer to the United States Golf Association, as it had been hoped that by this time followers of the royal and ancient pastime know more of the game than to lumber up the field, cut the course to pieces and raise the dickens with the sand bunkers.

In making the announcement Matturin Ballou, the secretary, bore a particularly suffering air, which suggested, "When will you fellows know that they are duffers?"

Under the constitution and bylaws, which, it is said, will be changed next season, none of the British players were eligible—a grand thing for our home heroes, but a questionable act of courtesy on the part of the leading body.

As for our own home talent it is concerned among the absentees Robert C. Watson, Jr., is on the Tarantula with "Willie" K. Vanderbilt, Jr.; Louis Livingston, second, is out of practice, and Harry Hollis, Jr., avers such an ordeal is "too much like hard work."

The remainder of the prominent players have sent in their names. The number of entries under the English system require thirty-seven in a preliminary round on Tuesday morning, while the other 111 can cool their heels until the afternoon. The entries are:
