ASSEMBLY APPROVES LIMITED FRANCHISES

Passes Senate's Bill After Discovering Trick in Amendment and Signature Is Awaited.

BERG AND SCOTT DISPUTE

Representatives of Hudson County Come Nearly to Blows About Jersey City's Fee Measure.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] TRENTON, N. J., Thursday.—The end of unlimited franchises in this State is in sight. The House of Assembly, the only branch of the Legislature in session to-day, passed the Senate's limited franchise bill last night, and the bill in its original form will go to the Governor for his signature.

This measure provides that grants of franchises to utility companies shall be limited to twenty years, with an extension to forty years if a popular vote declares for it. Efforts to amend the measure so as to extend the time limit to sixty years failed in the Senate, and the House to-day barely caught an objectionable amendment before the time of final passage. This amendment was a provision that the limitation of franchises should not apply to railroads crossing highways. Its real meaning was not discovered until after it had received the vote of the House. Then Assemblyman Perkins, the republican leader, and Assemblyman Martin, the Colby reform leader, discovered what had been done and immediately set about to remedy the mistake. Mr. Martin moved to reconsider the matter and Mr. Perkins seconded the motion and when the vote was retaken the amendment was lost.

Assemblyman of Atlantic county, acted as peacemaker to-day between Mr. Berg and Mr. Scott, of Hudson county. They had a dispute over the Jersey City fee bill, and nearly came to blows. Mr. Berg accused Mr. Scott of putting in an amendment that would practically destroy the efficiency of the bill, and Mr. Scott charged Mr. Berg with trying to make political sinecures in Jersey City.

There was a lively debate on a bill to permit employers to deduct from the wages of employees a certain amount each week when complaint is made of non-support of family. The measure was finally passed, with only one dissenting vote. Assemblyman Morgan's bill to permit municipalities to impose license fees as high as desired was defeated on third reading. Mr. Wise, of Passaic, obtained the advancement of his bill to prohibit the sale of game in this State, to protect the sportsmen from poachers and pot hunters. Mr. Gibbs, of Camden, chairman of the Fish and Game Committee, had reported the bill adversely, saying it would prevent men who did not shoot from eating game.

DOGS STILL WORRY BAYONNE.

Discovery of an Old Ordinance Causes Revival of Crusade. Recorder Hyman Lazarus, of Bayonne, who recently advised that residents carry axes and clubs to exterminate the hundreds of homeless dogs and thus lessen cases of hydrophobia, yesterday unearthed an old ordinance which gives policemen and constables the right to dispose of all dogs, whether licensed or not.

DEATH OF GEORGE W. ROGERS.

Was Oldest Resident of New London—Built Whaleboats for Arctic Exploring. [SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] NEW LONDON, Conn., Thursday.—George W. Rogers, ninety years old, died suddenly of acute indigestion, in his residence, in Blinnam street, this morning.

Mr. Rogers was the oldest living resident of New London, and several years ago retired from his trade as a boat builder. He was born in New London on October 21, 1815.

When Dr. Kane was fitting out his Arctic expedition he ordered several whaleboats from Mr. Rogers' workshop, and the excellent stability of the craft turned out by Mr. Rogers is shown in the Smithsonian Institution, where one of the whaleboats is still well preserved after 1,400 miles' travel through the northern ice.

Mr. Rogers was the sole living survivor of the steamship Atlantic, which was wrecked on the shore of Fisher's Island, on Thanksgiving Day, 1846. He is survived by one son, George W. Rogers, an employe of an insurance company in New York. John R. Hegeman, of New York, is a nephew.

DUNKIN W. HEMMING DEAD.

Was Chief Engineer for Jerome Park Reservoir Contractors. Dunkin Wirgman Hemming, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, died yesterday in his home, No. 50 West 14th street, of cancer of the stomach. He was in his forty-fifth year.

Mr. Hemming was born in Drummondville, Quebec, and began life as a law clerk, but abandoned law for civil engineering. For the last few years he was chief engineer for William Bradley & Sons, contractors, on the Jerome Park reservoir work and on subway work. He married in 1836 Miss Florence Krete, of Baltimore, who survives him.

OFFER BIG PRICES TO SEE HANGING

New Jersey Town Will Be Thronged to See Johnson and Small Pay for Murder.

WIFE BIDS LATTER GOODBYE

Implores Husband to Seek Forgiveness of God and Leaves Without a Kiss or Tear.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Thursday.—The Sheriff of Burlington county, John J. Norcross, is not at all pleased with the disagreeable task of hanging two negroes, Rufus Johnson and George Small, on Saturday for the murder of Miss Florence W. Allinson, which event will bring hundreds of people to town.

Unusually great is the desire for admission tickets, a matter that has given the sheriff no little concern. Morbidly inclined persons are offering high prices for them, and, although they are not transferable, the purchasers are willing to take the chance of getting in through the guards who will be posted at the door of the prison to scrutinize the invitations. Because of his having been deprived the death warrant as prepared by Governor Edward C. Stokes in the case of Rufus Johnson was delivered to Sheriff Norcross this afternoon. Mrs. Small called at the jail this evening and bade her husband good-bye. It was a cold and indifferent parting. She neither shook hands nor kissed him, and neither wept. She implored Small to seek the forgiveness of God. Mrs. Small told Sheriff Norcross that she could not stand the expense of burying her husband and she would make no claim for the body.

CONFESSES CRIME AND DIES.

Giuseppe Marino Hanged in Newark, N. J., for the Murder of His Brother-in-Law.

Giuseppe Marino was hanged yesterday morning in the jail in Newark, N. J., for the murder of his brother-in-law, Nunzio Marinano, on August 24, 1894. After having been four times sentenced to die he went calmly to his fate. He had slept Wednesday afternoon and evening and spent the night pacing his cell. He refused to eat. Before going to the gallows he confessed to the Rev. Joseph Perotti, the killing of his brother-in-law and the shooting of his sister and found fault only with the manner in which he had fired more shots than was actually the case.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE ON WEST

Man Believed To Be J. F. Folkesson, of Passaic, Who Disappeared Two Months Ago. Information was received in Passaic yesterday that a man supposed to be J. F. Folkesson, of Passaic, had attempted suicide with carbolic acid at a hotel in Chicago. John F. Folkesson, of Passaic, who disappeared on January 15, was manager for Van Riper & Co. druggists. Three days after Folkesson disappeared Dr. Van Riper received a telegram from New York from Folkesson stating that he had been married. A letter was received ten days ago from Folkesson from Chicago asking for a loan of $200, which was not sent.

FACTORY ON ROBINSON TRACT

Bayonne Sells Property It Acquired When Former City Treasurer Was Accused. Mayor Pierre Garvan, of Bayonne, and the Common Council have agreed to sell for $17,500 to J. Edward Ogden, of New York, the property in First street, facing the Kill von Kull, once owned by former Collector Cyrilus L. Robinson. The latter transferred the property to City Treasurer Joseph Brady in trust for the city when he was charged with having misappropriated funds of the city. Mr. Robinson's bondsmen approved of the sale. Mr. Ogden will erect on the site a hardware factory, which will employ one thousand men.

DRY GOODS, & C. DRY GOODS, & C. You can search all New York, and we doubt very much if you'll find anything as stylish for less than $25. No reason why any one should sell their equal under $25, for these suits were made to sell for that figure and it was only a fortunate trade chance that secured them for us at less. THIRD FLOOR. Materials are mannish mixtures and fancy tweeds—cut after very handsome high-class models—some are in short hip coat effect—others in Eton style—white mink collar and cuffs with fancy braid and buttons form trimmings and secure those delightful contrasts which are so much sought after in the new spring styles—several new models in skirts with these suits—regular $25 suit, at $19.75. Broadcloth and chiffon Panama suits, $24.75. High colored broadcloth or chiffon Panama suits and all wool mixtures—an endless variety of models and dainties of braids and trimmings—coats lined with taffeta—new skirts. Three-quarter length coats at $10. Full and boxy, in light or medium colorings of fancy shadow check suitings—velvet collar—patch pockets—strictly tailored—at $10. Sale of separate skirts, $5. This is a sale that every woman who can possibly come here to-day should investigate, for we make a special leader of materials that are ordinarily only used in skirts at double the money—fancy, light, all wool mixtures—novelty weaves and plain Panamas—newest cut—full circular trimmed model. Worth while to buy several at the price.

FEVER DISCOVERED IN ORPHAN ASYLUM

Two Cases in the Girls' Division of Roman Catholic Institution on Fordham Heights.

1,030 ARE UNDER QUARANTINE

Measles Breaks Out in the Protectors in Van Nest and Its 2,000 Children Are Under Observance.

One thousand children and thirty nuns in the girls' division of the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum, on Fordham Heights, have been placed under quarantine for ten days, as the result of the discovery of two cases of scarlet fever in the asylum. The two patients have been taken to the Riverside Hospital, on North Brother Island. No quarantine restrictions have as yet been placed on the boys' department, in a neighboring building. Unless the fever makes greater inroads, furthermore, no such precautions will be necessary. In the girls' department of the Catholic Protectors, in Van Nest, with its two thousand children, two light cases of measles have broken out and a like number of wards placed under strict quarantine. No general quarantine will be enforced, however, unless the first two weeks in March, the number of cases of measles in New York city is growing smaller, the Health Department declares. From now on the disease is expected to become less prevalent. Scarlet fever, too, is on the decline, according to the Health Department reports. There were 375 fewer cases of measles reported during the week ending March 17 than during the previous week. There were twenty-eight fewer cases of scarlet fever in the same comparative period. Dr. Darlington, Health Commissioner, asked yesterday that an ornate impression received by some persons that he had bought for personal purposes the farm of Hiram W. Bell, at Otisville, N. Y., be corrected. The farm in question makes the eighth farm purchased by the city as a site for a tuberculosis sanitarium.

These resolutions are the outcome of the appointment of Brander Mattheus, professor of English in Columbia, as head of a board formed by Andrew Carnegie for the purpose of simplifying the present cumbersome orthography of the English language. Professor Mattheus was yesterday elected an honorary member of the "Klub" which will have on hand quite a variety of "spelling." M. C. Ansoorge, 1906, Law School, was unanimously elected president. The other officers were H. C. Murphy, 1905, Science vice president; E. G. Hastings, 1906, School of Pharmacy, treasurer, and W. D. Ashton, 1906, School of Pharmacy, secretary.

Students interested in this movement met in University Hall and formed a regularly organized body, the purpose of which is to advance as far as possible the new system of spelling. Some of the students are in Professor Mattheus' classes, and when he receives some of the theses and examination papers of the students who are members of the "Klub" he will have on hand quite a variety of "spelling." M. C. Ansoorge, 1906, Law School, was unanimously elected president. The other officers were H. C. Murphy, 1905, Science vice president; E. G. Hastings, 1906, School of Pharmacy, treasurer, and W. D.
