Mr. Morgan Gives Superb Gems to Partner's Bride

Necklace and Pendant Diamond of Wonderful Size for Mrs. Cromwell, Who Will Become Mrs. Stotesbury.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Tuesday.—A necklace of diamonds, with a pendant diamond as large as a robin's egg, is the present Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan has given to Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, of Washington, who will become the bride, Thursday, of Mr. Edward T. Stotesbury, head of the banking firm of Drexel & Co. Each of the stones in the necklace is said to be of rare color and purity, while the diamond pendant is reported to be one of the most costly gems ever brought to this country. Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Stotesbury have been closely associated in business many years. It was learned to-day that the ceremony is not to be so restricted in the number of guests as at first was reported. In addition to the members of the immediate families a number of prominent persons have been invited, and it was said to-day that President Taft and Mrs. Taft probably would be present. The wedding presents that Mrs. Cromwell thus far has received consist largely of jewels. They constitute one of the most remarkable collections sent to a bride in recent years. While Mrs. Cromwell was abroad during the early winter she selected her trousseau. It was made in Paris by Paquin, Worth, Doucet and others, principally from designs made by Mrs. Cromwell herself. Following the ceremony Mr. Stotesbury and his bride will go to Palm Beach on their honeymoon. They will return to this city for the opening of the opera season, February 11.

Tableaux to Show Life in East Side

"Little Mothers" and "Little Citizens" to Pose in the Berkeley Lyceum.

Tableaux and motion pictures are included in the plan adopted by the committee which is arranging a performance to be given in the Berkeley Lyceum on February 1 in aid of the work of the Orthopaedic Hospital. The living pictures will be those of real life in the crowded east side and they will be shown to illustrate to persons who seldom visit that part of the city how the less fortunate half of the city's population lives. The "little mothers" and "little citizens," who will appear in the tableaux are children of families that are reached in the dispensary work of the hospital. They will show how they have to use the streets for playground and how they live in the tenement houses. Other phases of life will be illustrated by motion pictures. On the committee in charge of the performance are Mrs. Bayard C. Hoppin, Mrs. Lewis R. Morris, Miss Ella Boyland and Misses Iselin, Fowler and Canfield. Among the patronesses will be Meses. R. Fulton Cutting, Lloyd C. Griscom, John R. Drexel, William Douglas Sloane, William Pollock, Ernest Iselin, Oliver Gould Jennings and Charles D. Dickey.

WOULD IMPROVE BANKRUPTCY COURT

Judge Hough Says Interests of Insolvent's Creditors Are Not Well Conserved.

Before one hundred and fifty members of the National Jewellers' Board of Trade at a luncheon given yesterday at Kall's Restaurant, Judge Charles M. Hough, of the United States District Court, in an address on "Bankruptcy," said that the present system of administering the debts of a bankrupt so as to serve the best interests of all concerned is imperfect and capable of great improvement. "Nothing is more common," said Judge Hough, "than to hear from lawyers and laymen alike complaints that bankruptcy does not produce in any reasonable measure the results for which it was theoretically designed. If that means that the system of bankruptcy as at present established by law in the United States is imperfect and capable of great improvement, both by Congressional action and betterment of practice, no one will more heartily agree with the complainant than I. But if the complaint against bankruptcy is not in respect to the imperfections of the present statute, but against the system itself, I take issue with the complainants." The luncheon, which was the third of its kind, was presided over by Mr. M. D. Rothschild. Others who were present were Frank Sloan, Louis Cohn, Irving G. Day, Arthur Hentius, Ludwig Nissen, William S. Rosenfeld, T. Edgar Wilson and E. N. Stone.

POLICEMAN EMPTIES SALOON. Accused of Intoxication and of "Shooting Up" Tenth Avenue Place.

Policeman George M. Gibney, of the West Thirty-seventh street station, although on the force but a few months, is in a peck of trouble, and probably he can attribute it to the fact that he did not go straight home to No. 2,210 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday morning. Instead the policeman visited the saloon of John J. Carney, at No. 468 Tenth avenue, and it was from that place yesterday afternoon that he was taken on charges of intoxication and "shooting up" the place. The shooting sent the persons in the saloon hustling for the doors. Two plates on the lunch counter were shattered and a hole was made in the metal ceiling. Sergeant Ragan arrested the policeman, who was placed in a cell. Fourth Deputy Commissioner Dillon and Chief Inspector Max Schmittberger were notified of the alleged doings.

John A. Singer's Will Probated. Surrogate Cochran yesterday admitted to probate the will of the late John A. Singer, son of the organizer of the sewing machine company which bears his name. The contestants, Jean Etta Singer and Merrit A. Singer, Jean Etta's second wife, withdrew their objections. It was said that the two children are each to receive fifty shares of the stock of the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

USHERS FOR WEDDING WEAR BLACK EYES AFTER A DINNER

Bridegroom's Friends, Entertained in Fifth Avenue, Visit the Tenderloin and Have an Encounter with Waiters.

At least three of six well-known young men who will act as ushers at a fashionable wedding in this city the latter part of this week will make their appearance in the church in a more or less dilapidated physical condition as the result of a fracas in an all-night Tenderloin restaurant, following the bridegroom's bachelor party Sunday morning. Expert medical attention has erased the traces of rough handling from three of the men and the fourth is now almost presentable, but he still has a bad cut over his right eye, which is hidden by adhesive plaster. The remaining two were unfortunate enough to receive black eyes, for the immediate effacement of which there is no known treatment. As the bridegroom's friends refused to release the youths from their obligation to attend him, they have decided to brave criticism and comment and go through their parts. There were just eight young men in the party which attended a theatre Saturday night and later went to a Fifth avenue restaurant for the bachelor dinner. Besides the bridegroom to be and his best man there were six ushers, all young men connected with well-known families in the city. Then it became necessary for the defenders of the food fortress to use more vigorous methods. One of the young men was beaten into unconsciousness and then carried out and left on the sidewalk. One who is furnished in white and gold and opens of the main hall. There were three hundred guests. The artists were Miss Ada Sassoli, harpist, and Mme. Alma Gluck, of the Metropolitan Opera Company. A supper followed the music.

All Ready for Excitement.

There was much toasting of the host, of the bride to be and of one another, so that when the party dispersed at two o'clock in a hilarious mood and prepared for any kind of excitement. As they happened to be in a neighborhood where excitement may be obtained at any time of the night without undue effort action was not slow. The young men entered a restaurant on the north side of a street in the Forties, between Broadway and Sixth avenue, and ordered a dinner. They were served. After draining their glasses they smashed them on the floor and ordered more. Again the glasses were smashed. The third time this happened the manager of the restaurant became peevish and ordered his hissing visitors to go away. They refused to depart. At this juncture the house "entertainment committee," consisting of half a dozen burly waiters, entered. They looked horns with the belligerents and in a moment there was a fine fight in progress. In single file the young men were hurled into the street, but as fast as they were thrown out they ran in again, fairly aching for fight.

Miss Carlisle Becomes a Bride

Daughter of Mrs. Calderon Carlisle Married to Mr. Walter B. Howe in Washington.

HERALD BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., Tuesday.—Miss Mary Carlisle, daughter of Mrs. Calderon Carlisle, was married to-day in St. John's Episcopal Church to Mr. Walter Bruce Howe, of New York. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith, was followed by a reception in the home of Mrs. Carlisle. The bride, who was escorted by her brother, Mr. Mandeville Carlisle, wore a gown of white satin with touches of point lace on the bodice. She also wore her mother's wedding veil, which was held in place by a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids. Miss Marjorie Pearson, a cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. Mr. George Peters Crittenden, of New York, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Elliott Lee, Gerald Morgan, Alexander Keogh and Morris Parker, of New York; Messrs. William Pitt and Reginald Hudekoper, of Washington. Mrs. Howe has been conspicuous in the younger set in society and has gained a reputation as a housewife. She made a journey of several hundred miles last year through the West with a party. Mr. Howe and his bride will live here. Miss Helen Taft and her cousin, Miss Harriet Anderson, were among the guests at the wedding.

MRS. HAMMERSTEIN'S WILL. Left All to Daughters and a Granddaughter.

The will of Mrs. Malvina Hammerstein, divorced wife of Oscar Hammerstein, which was filed for probate in the Surrogate's office yesterday, leaves the $5,000 estate to Mrs. Hammerstein's daughter, Mrs. Rose Testevin, with the exception of a diamond sunburst valued at $300, which goes to Stella Hammerstein, and a $150 bracelet to Muriel Hammerstein, a granddaughter. The will of Mrs. Sethella Matilda Clark, who died in East Orange, N. J., left an estate of more than $10,000 to be divided among the boards of foreign and domestic missions of the Reformed Church of America, the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of New York, the poor of its Sunday school, its industrial school and the Women's Missionary Society.

CHURCHES DOWN TOWN. Their Welfare Considered by Baptist Union.

The first convention of the Metropolitan Baptist Union was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Madison Avenue Baptist Church. It considered downtown churches and foreign populations. Frank Dickerson presided. Delegates representing two hundred and thirty churches with sixty thousand members were present from Long Island, Westchester county and New Jersey. Among the officers are the Rev. Drs. Robert S. MacArthur, Charles A. Eaton, Frank M. Goodchild, W. C. P. Rhoads, John Humpstone, Edward Judson and Charles H. Sears. The principal address was given by the Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Welcomed Again at a Musicale

Ambassador to Great Britain and His Wife Are Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander.

Mr. Whitehall Reid, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and Mrs. Reid having returned from Washington, D. C., the first of several entertainments planned for them was given last night. It was a musicale in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, No. 4 West Fifty-eighth street. It was the first large entertainment that Mr. and Mrs. Alexander have given this winter. Preceding the music there was a reception of an hour, beginning at ten o'clock, at which many of the acquaintances of the Ambassador and Mrs. Reid met them for the first time since their return from England more than a week ago, as they went directly to Washington upon their arrival. Mrs. Alexander wore a gown of white velvet combined with white lace. The musicale was given in the ballroom which is furnished in white and gold and opens of the main hall. There were three hundred guests. The artists were Miss Ada Sassoli, harpist, and Mme. Alma Gluck, of the Metropolitan Opera Company. A supper followed the music.

SUSPECTED POISON IN DEATH OF NURSE

Young Woman from Wilmington, Del., Dies in Agony, and Autopsy Is Ordered.

After suffering physical agony for several hours Mary L. Barry, thirty-three years old, a graduate nurse, died yesterday afternoon in her room in No. 146 West 104th street. Dr. Charles E. Lambert, who attended the woman for two hours, asserted that two nurses, asserted he believed death was due to poisoning. He notified Coroner Winterbottom, who ordered the body removed to an undertaking establishment in West 123rd street. There an autopsy will be performed to-day. In the house in West 104th street is the office of Miss Fred's Nurses' Registry. Miss Barry, whose home is in Wilmington, Del., had patient from the registry last Saturday night. Dr. Lambert was called to attend Miss Barry on January 1. She then was treated by the physician for alcoholic poisoning. When the physician, whose office is in No. 125 West 104th street, across the street, was called to attend Miss Barry, two nurses were doing their best to aid the suffering woman. Miss Barry had been in this city about eighteen months. She was graduated from a Wilmington hospital. Several of the nurses declared the woman had been dependent at times, and that she had said she was tired of living. This was said to be due to the little work there has been this winter for nurses.

IRISH PLAYERS AGAIN HOOTED. Police Quell Disorder in Philadelphia and Arrest Ten of the Disturbers.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Tuesday.—Disturbances again marked the performance by the Irish Players at the Adelphi Theatre to-night. The police arrested ten of the more turbulent. Bad feeling developed at Monday night's performance, when a score of men were ejected. To-day George and Harry Smyth, brothers, were held in ball as ring leaders. This added to the ire of those opposed to the plays, and to-night there were interruptions, catcalls and yells from the parquet. [SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Tuesday.—Eugene Furman and his brother, Joseph Furman, who have been in the city jail here since Thursday, in connection with the death of their brother, Theodore Furman, were arraigned before Recorder Thompson this morning. Eugene was charged with manslaughter and was held for the Grand Jury. Joseph, who was charged with being an accessory, will be examined further to-morrow. A warrant was served on their mother, Mrs. Ellen E. Furman, charging her with forgery in obtaining her son Theodore's pay after he was dead. The two sons and their mother were taken to the Goshen jail.

FOUR WEDDED AT POLYGLOT CEREMONIES. Chicago, Ill., Tuesday.—Municipal Judge Sabath used four of the foreign languages which he speaks yesterday in marrying two couples. In the first wedding a Slav married a Lithuanian girl, and in the second a Bohemian and a Pole figured. No fees were charged, the brides admitting that they had proposed.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. Something New in New York. It is difficult to tell of anything new in this great city, because it is the embodiment of the finest and best in everything. But there is something new in the very heart of the city's activities that the people should know about. It is a great modern restaurant in a railroad station. It is true that the Pennsylvania Station is the greatest railroad station in the world, and by the same token the restaurant is the best of its kind. It is completely appointed from kitchen to table. The supplies are collected by men experienced in catering, the food is prepared by skilled cooks and served on distinctive table ware by trained waiters. The main restaurant is not conducted on the catch-as-catch-can principle usually associated with railroad restaurant service, but it is a quiet, dignified dining-room, where one may dine in leisure and content. The trains move noiselessly and smokelessly below, and there is nothing to jar upon the enjoyment of good food. A separate and distinct luncheon room, fifty feet across the Arcade, supplies the needs of the eager hungry or the one whose time is more precious than the leisurely satisfaction of appetite. The Pennsylvania Station is only a block from Broadway at Thirty-second Street, and the restaurant is on the street level, off the Arcade. It may sound paradoxical to say that a railroad station is the place to get a good quiet meal, but it is nevertheless true in this case.
